

ABORTION EASY TO CONTROL IN CATTLE, CLAIM

Radication Can Be Accomplished Cheaply, Farmers Advised

BY W. F. WINSEY

Seymour—Contagious abortion in cattle is the easiest and least expensive method of control and eradication from a herd, Dr. V. S. Larson declared at a meeting of dairy farmers here in Dean's hall Thursday evening. Ten thousand dairy herds in Wisconsin already have been leached up and the work is progressing rapidly. No law probably ever has passed by the state legislature compelling farmers to eliminate contagious abortion from their herds, Dr. Larson predicted. Economic dairying and the inability of Wisconsin farmers to sell cattle for use in other states will be sufficient incentive for all farmers to clean up the herds. Over 80 per cent of the cows sold to out-of-state dairymen the past year were required to be blood tested before being accepted and shipped. Within two years it will be impossible to ship any cow for dairy purposes that has not been tested.

"There is absolutely no cure for contagious abortion and money spent on cures of any kind are wasted," said Dr. Larson, carbolic acid, brown sugar and creosote, minerals and tonics, are among the popular methods that are costing farmers large amounts of money but are useless. Blood tests after the administering of these so-called cures have invariably shown the animals to be still loaded with the germ. The reason that farmers have been deceived by these treatments is that a cow may abort once, develop a resistance in her body to the germs and never abort again, although she is a carrier of the disease.

No Reliable Symptoms
"There are no reliable symptoms of contagious abortion. A cow carrying the germs may abort once and never abort again. Cows may abort as result of eating ergot and very often from injury. Some of the more reliable symptoms of the disease are: terrib, garget and udder trouble stained afterbirths calf scours and enlarged knees and hock joints. When experienced buyers notice any of these latter named symptoms they pass up an animal. Eighty per cent of the cows infected with the germs of abortion abort once but never again. The blood test is the only reliable source of the information that a dairyman wants. This test is 99 per cent perfect.

"Through having your veterinarian apply the blood test and your adoption of a plan of sanitation, you may clean up an infected herd at very little expense and trouble. But the blood test is useless unless you make use of the sanitary methods proposed by your veterinarian.

Dr. Larson proposed three methods of controlling the disease. The first was the elimination of the animals reacting to the blood test; the second, segregation of the reactors of a herd in the stables, yards and pastures and the third, keeping the infected and recommended animals together and using maternity pens three weeks for the confinement of cows at the time of calving and afterwards.

As the germs of abortion do not gain a foothold in young animals until the animals reach the age of reproduction, it is possible for a farmer to raise a clean herd from an infected herd by taking good care of his heifers, according to Dr. Larson. The Corlun Farms, Fond du Lac, and Charles Hill's Farm, Rosendale have done just that without any expense at all, declared Dr. Larson.

Would Separate Herds

The doctor condemned the use of community pastures and manure piles for heifers as sources of infection, and recommended yards and pastures separated by woven wire fences to prevent contact of clean and infected animals and dogs from running about and carrying germs.

Since County Agent G. A. Sell and Dr. Larson began giving the farmers of Outagamie County information on the local and state contagious abortion situation, a large number of herds in the county have been blood tested and plans have been adopted for the control of the disease. The owners of hundreds of other herds are considering the matter of forming township groups to expedite the testing of their cattle and to minimize the cost of the tests. It is agreed that if all the farmers of a community have the testing done at the same time the danger of spreading the infection will be very much reduced.

Testing demonstrations are in progress from time to time throughout the county and in the future the time and place of the demonstrations will be announced so that all interested farmers may attend.

The last of these demonstrations was held a short time ago in the herd of the Outagamie County Asylum in which only one reacting cow was discovered. This cow has been removed and every precaution will be taken to keep the asylum herd in the clean condition it is in at the present time.

Mr. Sell will assist farmers in the forming of community groups for the control of abortion, and the groups may select the veterinarian to do the testing, according to the present plans. The initiative must be taken by the herd owners themselves however.

WRISTON TO SPEAK AT GREEN BAY MEET

Annual Convention of Guidance Association Planned for April 25

Dr. H. M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, will be one of the principal speakers at the annual convention of the Wisconsin Vocational Guidance association at Green Bay, on April 25. It was announced Thursday by W. W. Held, president of the state organization at Green Bay. Dr. Wriston will speak at the college sectional conference. The other speaker at this section will be Edgar G. Doudna, secretary to the regents of state teachers' colleges.

Registration will be conducted at West high school at 9 o'clock in the morning, after which delegates will visit schools and industries of Green Bay. At 9:30 a tour of the city will be made under the supervision of Theodore H. Brown, superintendent of the Neville public museum, featuring points of historical and industrial interest.

Sessions will get underway at 11 o'clock in halls of various schools. Miss Anna Schwager of Franklin Junior high school, will lead a discussion in the class of occupations, with special class demonstrations by Green Bay school children. Guidance through the home room will be under the direction of Miss Marie Roman, counselor of girls at East high school.

Industry's Interest in Personal Adjustment will be the topic of an address to be given by W. J. Pencock, personnel director of Northern Paper mills at the vocational school section.

Delection of officers will take place during the business session at West high school at the opening of the afternoon meeting.

Speakers at the high school section in the afternoon will be George Kluk, biology teacher at East high school and Miss Erna Jacob, also of East high. The vocational school section will hear H. O. Eiken, director of the Green Bay vocational school. The topic of his address will be The Place of Guidance in the Vocational School.

FARMERS START SPRING PAINTING OF BUILDINGS

The mild weather of the last few days has caused farmers throughout the county to begin their annual improvement tasks on their farms. Fred Krieger, town of Center, has started painting his barn. William Kohl, town of Grand Chute, has started painting the new barn which he erected to replace the structure destroyed by fire last fall.

FIRE THREATENS CITY ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Fire, which started from sparks from the chimney threatened the City Isolation hospital, 1524 W. Spencer-st. about 7:45 this morning. The fire department promptly put out the small blaze with water and chemicals and only slight damage resulted. When the fire started there was one patient in the home with diphtheria, but it was not necessary to move the patient.

POSTAL RECEIPTS LESS FOR QUARTER

Drop of $1,125 Is Shown Over Same Period in 1930 at Local Post Office

Postal receipts at the Appleton post office for the first quarter of 1931 showed a decrease of $1,125.18 over receipts for the same quarter in 1930, according to a report from W. H. Zuehlke, acting postmaster. Receipts for the first quarter of this year were $41,854.06, while in the first quarter last year they were $43,009.24.

January and February of 1931 showed slight increases over the same months in 1930, but March of this year, showed a drop of about $1,400 under March of 1930, and offsets the first two months' slight increases.

Receipts for the quarter were made up as follows: stamp sales, $35,293.12; excess of sale of stamps, $9.85; second class matter, $933.57; permit matter, $2,103.57; miscellaneous, $7.72; and box rents, $418.60.

ELECTRICAL PERMITS

Sixty-one electrical permits and 15 service connections were granted by Louis Luebke, electrical inspector, during March. Mr. Luebke made 75 electrical inspections.

EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Faribault, Minn. — "During expectancy I could scarcely drag around, was up and down all the time, my nerves were bad, my back ached and I had other severe pains. I had taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription on previous occasions when I was nervous and run-down and it was so beneficial that I decided to take it again to see if it would help relieve me of my miserable condition. I am glad to say the 'Prescription' soon did build me up and restored my strength so that I was able to be up and around at my housework right up to the last."—Mrs. Albert Pirkel, 407-14th St. All druggists, fluid or tablets.

Cub Movement, New Program, Released By Boy Scout Council

ACTIVITY OPEN TO BOYS 9, 10, 11 YEARS OF AGE

Plan Organization of Two "Packs" in Valley This Year

A new program, the Cub movement, for boys of 9, 10 and 11 years of age, has been released by the National council, Boy Scouts of America. Experimental Cub packs now are being organized by the valley council and scouts to determine the most satisfactory methods of procedure.

For the past two months the Cub committee of the council, composed of Donald C. Shepard and Harrison Smith of Neenah, and George Santa, Jr., Menasha, has been studying the program and developing leadership for it.

The first Cub pack in the valley is being sponsored by the Henry J. Lenz post, American Legion of Menasha, according to the committee. The Legion pack committee is composed of Dr. George N. Pratt, Charles Anderson and Waldo Fiedland, Menasha. This committee has secured the services of Louis Hafemeister, Menasha, as Cub master, and Anthony Theban, an Eagle scout of the Menasha Woodmenware Co. troop, as his assistant.

The first Cub pack in Appleton will be sponsored by the Onyx Johnston post, American Legion. A committee to take over the work is to be appointed within the next week.

Only these two packs will be organized this year. The two packs will care for 25 boys each, or six Cub dens, and their careful supervision will tend to lay a solid foundation for this movement which is destined to be equally as large and popular with boys and adults as scouting has been, according to committee men.

The Cub program has been organized along scientific lines, by the Boy Scouts of America in response to a call and demand from parents and churches and schools in various parts of the United States.

The National council of the Boy Scouts declined to undertake the work a decade ago following the first training conference of scout executives, because they felt it was not wise to undertake a new program until they had made further progress with the scout program.

Studied Boy Programs
In 1925 a research psychologist made a study of existing efforts in younger boy characteristics of this age level, recommending that a program be developed. In 1928 a fund was made available by one of the major foundations to carry on the need for research and build a program in the attempt to build a program in terms of boy nature, a series of careful studies has been made covering the nature of character and how it may be influenced; the characteristics of boys 9, 10 and 11 years of age; the activities, the hobbies, the reading and games engaged in by boys of that age; available program devices and their adaptation to the natural home and neighborhood situations; and the relation of the present local and national experience and organization of the Boy Scouts of America.

The "Cubs" is a leisure-time, character influencing movement for boys of pre-scout age, according to the committee. It provides activities suited to the nature of the boy—which activities also afford opportunity for the development of habits and attitudes essential to good citizenship.

It does not aim to draw a boy away from his home for his good times, but seeks to multiply the ways in which a boy may find joy in his own neighborhood and backyard, it was pointed out.

It offers to parents activities which their boys may do. It helps a parent answer the question of "what can we boys do?" by adding the young men to answer that question for themselves. The program answers the question definitely, it was stated.

Like scouting, it is used alike by all religious, economic and racial groups. Similar movements alike in spirit and world friendliness, though differing in program details, are found in some 26 different countries.

The program consists of an advancement plan through which the boys are stimulated to "learn by doing" things for which they receive advancement recognition in the form of badges and ranks. The activities in this plan are graded. They involve many activities so as to be elastic enough to meet the needs of individual boys and differing neighborhood or community conditions.

The plan involves an opportunity for the relatively free exercise of personal preference and interest.

Various activities of the Cub program will be put into practice in backyard and neighborhood settings, thus making it unnecessary for immature youngsters to leave their homes in the evening to attend meetings, it was stated.

Cub dens will be organized in these backyard groups with older members of the family acting as leaders.

CHAMBER RECEIVES REFERENDUM BALLOT
The chamber of commerce has received a copy of the state chamber referendum ballot on Conservation of State Land Policy. The ballot will be submitted to the chamber legislative committee for study, after which a report will be made to the board of directors. Branches of the Wisconsin state chamber are expected to vote on the referendum before May 4.

CLUB WILL MEET
The Appleton Advertising club will meet at the Conway hotel Thursday afternoon. General business matters will be discussed.

SCOUTS DISTRIBUTE "CLOSING" POSTERS

Approximately 250 cards bearing the statement "This store will be closed from 12 until 3 o'clock Good Friday" were distributed by 14 boy scouts of Troops 1, 6 and 16 Thursday morning. It was found that a large number of merchants agreed to place them in their windows and close their places of business during the designated hours.

TWO FELONS IN OHIO FIRE CASE ASK FOR DEATH

Tell Prosecutor They Have No Choice—Don't Want Life Sentences

Columbus, Ohio — (AP)—A promise of immediate death in the electric chair will bring a guilty plea Monday from two Ohio penitentiary convicts who confessed they fired the prison, resulting in the snuffing out of the lives of 320 convicts.

The prisoners, Clinton Grate and Hugh Gibson, indicted for first degree murder on six counts, told Prosecutor Donald Hoskins and newspapermen today they would plead guilty when arraigned Monday, if the prosecutor could guarantee they would be sentenced and electrocuted. "Under the circumstances what else can we do?" asked the convicts.

Gibson said "we don't want to go back to the penitentiary. We've been there for nine years and know what it's like." Asked if he feared other prisoners would turn on them if they were placed in the penitentiary he said "No, it's not the prisoners, but the officials we're afraid of. Anyway, we would never get out if we got life sentences. It would never be forgotten and we'd have to live there the rest of our lives."

Grate said there was no premeditated murder when they set the fire. He added "we started one in December, but the wind blew the wrong direction" and the candle didn't light the wooden concrete block forms. The lumber was nowhere near the cell blocks. We only wanted to destroy the forms to prevent the construction of L block, in which they were building 48 solitary confinement cells."

Immediately after the interview with the prosecutor and the reporters, both prisoners asked that they be permitted to talk with the trial judge. They said they wanted to put their proposition up to the judge, for they wanted it definitely understood that if they pleaded guilty they will be electrocuted as soon as possible, and not given life terms.

If electrocuted, they will die in the chair in the little red brick death house behind the penitentiary walls, only 100 feet from the spot where the bodies of the 320 victims of the Easter Monday fire of a year ago were placed as they were carried from the ill-fated cell blocks.

WINTER WEATHER ON MENU FOR SATURDAY

Winter weather is on the menu for Appleton and vicinity for the next 24 hours, according to the weatherman.

Snow is due to fall in this part of the state within the next 12 hours and the mercury is due for a drop Friday night, he says. Similar predictions have been meted out throughout the midwest.

Winds are shifting from the south to the east and northeast, a good indication that rough weather is in the offing.

HOLD LAST 2 LENTEN SHOP MEETINGS TODAY

The last of the Lenten shop meetings sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. and Appleton clergymen was held at noon today at the Valley Iron Works and the car barns of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The speaker at the Valley Iron Works services was the Rev. J. W. Wilson, while the Rev. J. A. Holmes spoke to the power company employees. Short musical programs preceded both talks.

JOINT MEETING OF RESERVES POSTPONED

A joint meeting of Appleton, Green Bay and Manitowish reserve army officers planned for Green Bay Saturday evening has been postponed indefinitely. Gen. Ralph Immel, adjutant general of the Wisconsin National Guard, was to have been the speaker but will be unable to attend.

DENTISTS HEAR TALK ON DENTAL OCCLUSIONS

Henry Boos, head of the Boos Dental Laboratories at Minneapolis, Minn., addressed the Outagamie County Dental society at a meeting at Conway hotel Thursday evening. His subject was Dental Occlusions. A 6:30 dinner was served to 25 members before the meeting.

LIONS CLUB KEGGLERS ROLL IN TOURNAMENT
The Appleton Lions club team went to New London Thursday evening to roll in the district club tournament. Members of the team are M. G. Clark, Robert M. Connelly, J. R. Ruel, John Hollenbeck and George E. Johnson.

Al Smith, Miner for a Day

It looks as though Alfred E. Smith might be introducing a new Democratic mascot and the latest style in brown derbies for pedestrians. As a matter of fact, however, the former New York governor is pictured here just before he went on an inspection trip through a mine near Scranton, Pa. He was clad in helmet and overalls, and was made a member in good standing of the miners' local union.

Announcers Ready To Put Sporting Events On Air

New York—Garrulous Graham McNamee, "Believe You Me" Ted Husing and "Georgia Bill" Munday can be seen most any day now announcing their tenses and tongues in preparation for the busiest in radio.

With the robins flocking back north and the ball players and fighters down south, the sports announcers for radio stations all over the country are feeling the urge of spring and are looking forward to April 14, when the baseball season emerges from the moth balls.

In New York the two national networks will celebrate the birth of the opener between the Yankees and the Boston Red Sox. That ends the season for the networks, with the exception of daily reports of the results, until the grand finale in October, the world series.

During the last of April and into May, the outdoor track and field events get into full swing, along with important golf matches.

Six Big Track Meets
Track meets which will probably go on the air, and which might feature sports announcers other than those in New York, are the Penn relays at Philadelphia, Drake relays at Des Moines and the Ohio relays at Columbus. Then there are the Big Ten, I. C. 4 A., and N. C. A. A. meets which will, no doubt, merit time on the air.

The only golf meet of major importance during May is the British Amateur, and NBC has already announced it will broadcast daily summaries of the matches. It is likely that CBS will, also.

Clem McCarthy will probably broadcast the Kentucky Derby for NBC when that annual classic gets underway at Churchill Downs in May. He reported the event last year. Ted Husing will repeat for CBS this year, it is reported.

At the Indianapolis Speedway event, Memorial Day, Graham McNamee will repeat his performance of reporting the 500-mile grind for NBC, it is expected, but CBS has not yet made any announcement whether it will cover the event.

June brings a wide variety of sports to the air. The British Open golf meet is scheduled for June 1, and both chains will report the progress of this event via short-wave pickups. The Ryder Cup matches this year will be staged at Columbus, O., June 26, and this event is important enough to warrant time on any man's radio station.

The Poughkeepsie regatta, during the latter part of the month, and the Schmiedel-Stirling bout, tentatively scheduled for the 19th, will furnish other diversion for radio sports fans.

July will feature the National Open golf matches to be held in Toledo, O., July 2 to 4, and with the exception of baseball contests around major and minor circuits, this month will not be so fruitful to sports fans who get their sports over the air.

August brings the National Amateur, one of the biggest, if not the biggest golf event of the year. This contest will run from Aug. 31 to Sept. 6, and will be held in Chicago. Possibly some of the star sports announcers of the Chicago studios of the networks will get a chance at these events. Notably among these are Sen Kaney of NBC, Pat Flanagan of WBBM and CBS and Quin Ryan of WGN and NBC.

A riding contest of a different kind, the National A. Races, to be held in Cleveland during the last week in October and the first week in September, will be put on the air. Tom Manning of WTAM will probably get a chance at this event for NBC.

Then the world series, in October, and it is reported that the red-haired Manning will get a shot at that, too, for NBC Ted Husing, or course will do it for CBS with Les Quayle, his right-hand man, helping him.

On the Pacific coast a sports announcer who has made quite a name for himself during the past seasons and who has been heard often over national hookups, will entertain coast fans with vivid accounts of athletic events in that section. He is Jack Keogh of KPO and NBC. Eastern fans will hear a lot from games and next year when the Olympics are held in Los Angeles.

START TRIAL OF MAN ON STATUTORY CHARGE
Trial of Harvey Burmeister, town of Cicero, on a charge of lewd and lascivious conduct, opened in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg this morning. A jury was drawn and testimony started early in the morning. The case was expected to reach the jury this afternoon. Burmeister was arrested on Feb. 27 by J. N. Decker, chief of police at Seymour.

PERSONALS
Mrs. I. R. Scheurle, Chicago, who has been spending several months with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Maahs, 937 E. North-st, has returned to her home.

Mrs. E. M. Tobin, Chicago, who spent the past week with her mother, Mrs. F. Arnold, N. Division-st, has returned to Chicago.

Miss Mary Kelly, who attends St. Joseph Academy, Green Bay, is spending the Easter vacation with Mrs. John Yoman, 330 E. South-st.

Mrs. Harvey Neuman and son, Florian, have returned from Marshfield where the latter underwent an operation for the removal of a peccant from his lung.

BUILDING PERMITS
Two building permits were issued Thursday by John Welland. They were granted to Mrs. R. Kibbie, 131 W. Elsie-st, one car garage, cost $250; and Mrs. E. St. Clair, 702 S. State-st, two car garage, cost $200.

MILWAUKEE—(AP)—Two holdup men robbed two drug stores here last night of a total of $275 and three and one half cases of whisky.

NEW CHARGES MADE AGAINST BANK OFFICER

Rogers Caldwell Indicted for Making False Representations in Deal

Louisville, Ky.—(AP)—Rogers Caldwell, president of Caldwell and company, Nashville, Tenn., was indicted by the Jefferson-co grand jury here today, charged with making false representations in negotiating for the merger of his company with Banco-Kentucky.

New indictments charging embezzlement and conspiracy against James E. Brown, former president, and Charles E. Jones, former vice president of Banco-Kentucky, also were returned in the grand jury's final report.

The embezzlement indictments, based on a $2,000,000 note, executed by Mr. Brown and sold to Banco-Kentucky by Wakefield and Company, local brokers, were returned as substitutes for the previous indictments against Brown and Jones.

In its indictment against Caldwell the grand jury charged his concern was "hopelessly insolvent last summer when Caldwell placed a value of $9,000,000 on half its assets. The charge was making false representations to obtain credit."

Firms in Receivership
Caldwell and Company, Banco-Kentucky and all of Brown's other concerns, including the National bank of Kentucky and the Louisville Trust company, are in receivership as a result of the crash of last November.

The National Bank of Kentucky's latest report showed total resources of $14,000,000 and $14,000,000 in assets. The Louisville Trust approximately $3,000,000.

Caldwell already is under federal and state indictments in Tennessee, and Brown and Jones are under federal indictments here. All three are free on bonds in the previous indictments.

George J. Mayer, assistant commonwealth's attorney, indicated he would issue a bench warrant for Caldwell's arrest and if necessary seek extradition papers to bring him here for trial in Jefferson Circuit court.

While stating its members were not financial or banking experts, the jury expressed the opinion that the National Bank of Kentucky and the Louisville Trust company were not insolvent prior to their close last November. It blamed the crash on the Caldwell deal, with Banco-Kentucky, Brown's holding company; certain loans made, the general business depression and undermining of public confidence due to publicity given the Caldwell deal, after the closing of that concern.

The jury stated that whether the state banking department was delinquent in its supervision of Brown's state banks was something over which the grand jury at Frankfort, the state capital, has jurisdiction.

GUARD COMPANY TO BE INSPECTED APRIL 27

Annual federal inspection for Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, will be held Monday evening, April 27, according to word received here by officers of the company. A regular army officer on duty in Wisconsin will make the inspection.

A. A. L. OFFICES ARE CLOSED GOOD FRIDAY

Offices of the Aid Association for Lutherans in the Insurance building were closed Friday in observance of Good Friday. This custom has been practiced by the organization for several years.

DEATHS

MRS. ANNA MAIER
Mrs. Anna Maier, 76, 709 W. Lorain-st, died Thursday afternoon after a short illness. Survivors are one daughter, Mrs. Michael Eagan, Appleton; one son, Richard Loesel, Milwaukee; one brother, Charles Goessel, Sheboygan; eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild. She was a member of the Christian Mothers society and third Order of St. Francis of St. Joseph church. The body was taken to the Wichmann Funeral home, where it can be viewed until the time of the funeral. The funeral will be at 2 o'clock at the funeral home at 830 Monday morning, with services at St. Joseph church at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery. Prayer services will be held at 7:30 Saturday and Sunday evenings at the funeral home.

MRS. LYDIA GORGES
Mrs. Lydia Gorges, 71, died Friday morning at her home, 900 N. Superior-st, followed a paralytic stroke. Her brother, William Sauerlich, died just a week ago. Born in Greenville, Mrs. Gorges had lived in Appleton for 27 years, and on a farm in the town of Center for 15 years prior to her coming to Appleton. She was a member of Emanuel Evangelical church. One son, Harvey of Milwaukee, survives. The body will be taken from the Wichmann Funeral home to the residence late Saturday afternoon. The funeral will be held from the residence at 2 o'clock at Emanuel Evangelical church. The Rev. J. F. Nienstedt will be in charge of the services, and burial will be in Riverside cemetery.

CARL BELLING
The funeral of Carl Belling was held at 1:30 Thursday afternoon from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas J. Murphy, 1427 W. College-ave, with services at 3 o'clock at Zion Lutheran church. The Rev. Theodore Barth was in charge, and burial was in Riverside cemetery. Bearers were Herbert, Carl, Elmer, and Hilbert Belling, Raymond Witt and Walter Murphy.

A. A. L. HEAD HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

G. D. Ziegler Knocked to Pavement After Leaving Church Services

G. D. Ziegler, 63, 934 E. Pacific-st, president of the Aid Association for Lutherans, was injured at 11:45 Thursday evening when he was knocked to the pavement by a car driven by Walter Schneider, 18, 1618 N. Appleton-st, while crossing the road on N. Onelda-st at the Franklin-st intersection.

He is in St. Elizabeth hospital with a severe scalp laceration and body bruises. His condition was improved Friday, according to attending physicians.

Mr. Ziegler had attended services at Mount Olive Lutheran church and was crossing the street to get to his own car when Schneider, accompanied by Howard Batley, 17, 319 W. Atlantic-st, approached. Schneider told police he was blinded by the lights of a car going south on Onelda-st.

The injured man was taken to the hospital in an ambulance.

TWO ISSUES TO BE DEFENDED BY AMTORG GROUP

Russ Firm Fights for Entry of Ship, Maintains "Right" of Zivakin

New York — (AP) — Amtorg, the trading corporation for Soviet Russia which was the focal point in congressional inquiry into Communist activities in the United States, was preparing today for two more battles with the federal government.

The first concerns the freighter Anversoise which sailed from Leningrad with a cargo of lumber nearly a month ago. American dealers have protested against the entry of the cargo on the ground that it is the product of forced labor and therefore is excluded under the terms of the tariff act. Nevertheless, the Anversoise is now on the high seas bound for Providence, R. I., where it will be met by customs officers.

The second difficulty involves Fedor M. Zivakin, general manager of Amtorg, whose permission to visit in the United States, after once having been extended, was revoked by the department of labor several days ago. What is going to happen to Mr. Zivakin not even his attorneys seemed to know today.

The order revoking Mr. Zivakin's "guest card" has not yet been received in New York, and until it does arrive a policy of silence is being pursued.

Meantime, no matter what happens to Zivakin or the Anversoise, Amtorg is doing a thriving business. It occupies nearly six floors in a skyscraper which dwarfs the Little Church Around the Corner on one side and looks up Fifth-ave at the Empire State, the tallest building in Manhattan.

Employs U. S. Citizens
It employs about four hundred clerks and executives, nearly three-fourths of whom are citizens of the United States or have made application for naturalization. In its last fiscal year Amtorg purchased for the Soviet government nearly $129,000,000 of American goods, chiefly machinery and equipment which can be used in industry. Its sales to the United States amounted to $26,000,000. In the seven years since 1924, when it was organized, Amtorg statisticians have calculated that the Soviet has purchased $750,000,000 of the products of the United States with a balance of trade in favor of America of $447,000,000.

The same statisticians have figured that 50,000 American workmen were kept at work last year manufacturing products for the Soviets.

Amtorg—its name is a combination of "American" and "Torg," which means "trade" in Russian—is organized under the laws of the state of New York and has a capital stock of $3,000,000. Of its eight directors only one is an American.

At its headquarters, where Russian is spoken as often as English, it is readily acknowledged that Amtorg is a going concern, that it makes money. Its dividends are earned on the commissions it is paid on transactions between American business men and the Soviet government. The charge that it disseminates Communist doctrine is dismissed as nonsense.

Amtorg describes itself as a "buying and selling agency whose clients are composed of the state and co-operative organizations in charge of the various branches of industry, agriculture and commerce in the Soviet Union."

PICTORIAL HISTORY OF WISCONSIN IS PLANNED

Madison — (AP) — A pictorial history of Wisconsin, which promises to be of interest to future generations of the state, is to be undertaken by the University of Wisconsin extension division in cooperation with the State Historical society. Plans are to include in the history both still and motion pictures made by the bureau of visual instruction here.

Officials in charge of the project say their plans are to attempt visualization of each local community, from pioneer days down to present life. The subjects will be selected from the local history if it is of statewide interest, and will be appended to the documentary history already collected by the historical society and now lodged in the museum and library at Madison.

According to J. E. Hanson, who is chief of the visual instruction bureau one of the important uses of the pictorial history will be to instruct school children in significant phases of the life and government of the state in which they live.

Among the first projects of the persons in charge of the compilation of the history, was a photographic study of the state legislature and its methods of business.

Principal R. B. Woodworth, Fond du Lac, is in charge of the state

Bad Stomach Cause of Bad Skin

You can't expect to have a good clear fresh-looking complexion if your stomach is weak and disordered.

Undigested food sends poisons through your whole body, pimples appear in your face, skin grows sallow and muddy and loses its color. Your tongue becomes coated, breath most unpleasant. But these troubles will end quickly and skin clear up if you will start today taking that simple herbal compound known to druggists as Tanlac.

Tanlac contains nothing but herbs, barks and roots which have a cleansing, healing effect on a poor upset stomach. Just a tablespoonful before each meal stimulates the digestion naturally so that you can eat what you want without fear of distress. And when your stomach is in good shape again see how much keener your appetite is—watch how quickly skin begins to grow free of disfiguring eruptions. The cost of Tanlac is less than 2c a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Money back if it doesn't help you.

Roome, favored the plan, his mother opposed it.

TORNADO DAMAGE IN FLORIDA NOT HEAVY

Jacksonville, Fla. — (AP) — Florida counted comparatively small damage as the result of turbulent weather experienced in various sections of the state yesterday.

No lives were lost but seven persons, members of the J. E. Wittington family at Winter Haven, were slightly hurt. Considerable property was damaged at Mulberry, near Winter Haven, and other rural communities, by the small tornado.

SET AGE LIMIT FOR TEACHERS AT RACINE

Racine — (AP) — The age limit of employment of teachers in public schools of Racine today was fixed at 65 years by vote of the board of education. The board also voted not to renew contracts with four married teachers for next year. The usual graduation increase in the wage scale, except in the cases of 15 teachers employed for three years or less, was disallowed.

When You CAN'T QUIT

A headache is often the sign of fatigue. When temples throb it's time to rest. If you can't stop work, you can stop the pain. Bayer Aspirin will do it, every time. Take two or three tablets, a swallow of water, and carry-on—in comfort.

Don't work with nerves on edge or try all day to forget a nagging pain that aspirin could end in a jiffy! Genuine aspirin can't harm you; just be sure it's Bayer.

In every package of Bayer Aspirin are proven directions for headaches, colds, sore throat, neuralgia, neuritis, etc. Carry these tablets with you, and be prepared. To block a sudden cold on the street-car; quiet a grumbling tooth at the office; relieve a headache in the theatre; spare you a sleepless night when nerves are "jumping."

And no modern girl needs "time out" for the time of month! Bayer Aspirin is an absolute antidote for periodic pain.

Take Bayer Aspirin for any ache or pain, and take enough to end it. It can't depress the heart. That is medical opinion. That is why it is only sensible to insist on the genuine tablets that bear the Bayer cross. The pocket tin is a convenient size. The bottle of 100 tablets is most economical to buy.

THE MUNICIPAL JUDGESHIP

In the contest for the municipal judgeship the first question has no relation to the fitness of Mr. Lonsdorf for the position.

The first question in every judicial election has to do with the incumbent in this case, Judge Berg. That question is, has he fairly and truly fulfilled the duties of the position required of him by law?

If that question is answered in the affirmative, the inquiry is over, for the people should never permit themselves to be interested in any individual's ambition for office when it runs counter to the principle, now so firmly and fortunately embedded in our public life, that no judicial officer shall be retired except for his own failure to live up to the demands of his position.

The judge who presides over a trial court like the municipal, trying a case nearly every week day throughout the year, occupies a constant spotlight.

Unless his ability and courageous fairness measure up to the position there will come, from bar and people, an insistent demand for his replacement by another.

There has been no such demand. There is instead an opinion prevailing generally that Judge Berg has performed his work with a high pride in its quality, and the record of approval of his manner of conducting trials, rendered on so many occasions on appeal by the supreme court of the state, is a written record that more perhaps than any one thing speaks unstinted commendation of his course.

The administration of justice will always be better served by a close and faithful adherence to the mentioned principle that a judicial officer who has done well is not merely to be discarded at the instance of another, however good a man the latter may be.

Judge Berg, like Judge Heinemann deserved reelection without opposition!

OUR NEIGHBOR CANADA

The neighborly relations between Canada and the United States have for many years demonstrated to the world the possibility of friendly settlement of all questions of international dispute. In 1910 a conciliation treaty was made between Canada and this country which provided that "any questions or matters of difference arising between the high contracting parties involving the rights, obligations or interests of the United States, or of the Dominion of Canada, either in relation to each other or to their respective inhabitants, may be referred for decision to an International Joint commission created for that purpose."

Certain districts in the state of Washington have been suffering from sulphur fumes from a large smelting plant near Trail, in British Columbia. These fumes destroyed the crops, resulting in protests and claims for damages against the Canadian firm. The parties at interest, with the consent of the two governments, decided to submit the settlement of this question to the International commission.

This commission, composed of three members from each country, and working on the problem since 1928, has unanimously awarded $350,000 as compensation to residents of the affected area, and has directed that the smelter company proceed "as expeditiously as may be reasonably possible" to install improvements which will eliminate the spread of sulphur fumes into United States' territory. This plan will cost approximately $10,000,000 and will convert fumes destructive to vegetation into sulphuric acid, which can be used for the manufacture of fertilizer.

The International Joint commission has been in operation now for twenty years and has an unblemished record for efficient and practical service to the people of Canada and the United States. The round table conference has reached its highest state in the settlement of disputes between the two countries. This method is naturally made more easy by the fact that the inhabitants of both countries have the same racial characteristics and think along the same lines economically and politically. But their amicable relations are worthy of emulation by other members of the international family who are disposed to take all and concede nothing.

GOVERNOR MURRAY AND HIS PAROLES

"Alfalfa" Bill Murray, governor of Oklahoma, entered the state house as a product of the soil, the effervescent example of the old timer who kept the bad men on the move. "Git outa town or be shot on sight" was and is his motto. Now he parodies Oklahoma's criminals with instructions to get out of the state and if found again within its borders, they are to be reincarcerated pronto.

Time was when the bad men took to the "mountings", accumulated the dust of the Panhandle, or hot-footed it into Mexico at the solicitation of Oklahoma's gun-slinging marshals. Alfalfa Bill has neglected to grow up with the country. He still thinks in pioneer ways and shakes a wicked foot in the old time hoc-down. "Swing yo'r pardners" is music sublime to his ears. He is not yet cognizant of the fact that the wide open spaces have been filled with settlers and that Oklahoma has neighbors pressing close against her borders.

Oklahoma's governor may exile his state's criminals after parole in order to get them out of his country, but he is running up against the rights of his neighbors who may have something to say about it. Reprisals might be in order. Kansas and Texas could sentence their criminals to spend the rest of their days within the confines of Oklahoma, which would not increase the goodwill of Alfalfa Bill and his fellow citizens.

The parole is not to be granted except upon conclusive evidence that the recipient of the favor is henceforth to lead the life of an upright and honorable citizen of the community. Not being worthy of a parole he should be kept locked up.

Governor Murray will doubtless discover that he has started something which may have a bad finish. The vision of what is good for Oklahoma but bad for the neighbors may result in protests which will cause him to take his feet off the desk and plant them again on solid earth.

THE COLORADO BLIZZARD

Were you the driver of a motor bus full of school children of tender age, cut off in sub-zero weather by a raging blizzard of exceptional violence, marooned in the wilderness without aid or the means of attracting assistance, what would you do?

Perhaps one would have arisen to the heights of that driver in Colorado who smilingly preferred to die rather than fail in the effort to save the little lives entrusted to his care.

Contriving a little heat by the use of gasoline to stave off perishing as long as possible, then breaking up the seats for fuel and finally plunging out into the storm as he saw the fuel becoming exhausted, the driver sacrificed his life.

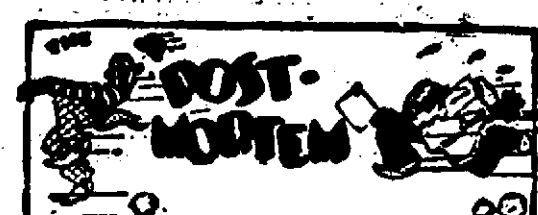

It was a splendid exhibition of heroism. No man on a sinking steamer who gave his place in a lifeboat to a woman or a child, no man in uniform in the Argonne Woods or elsewhere ever did a finer thing.

And the older boys among those children stripped off their outer garments from their already shivering shoulders to wrap them about the younger ones.

The grief the public feels, the tearing heart strings and suffering entailed by such a catastrophe, is assuaged somewhat by the proud and noble efforts of the youngsters themselves to prefer the weaker ones and to the driver who died for them all.

Opinions Of Others

EXPERT TESTIMONY
Science has had something to do with the administration of justice ever since alienists were called to testify in cases where pleas of insanity were entered by the defendants. The first use of expert testimony included alienists testifying that the defendant was insane. Countering such evidence, alienists for the prosecution swore that the defendant was sane. The jury, which included no experts, had to determine which was correct. Such conflicts led some states to have experts represent the court. The investigations on which they based their testimony were not biased, and they were concerned solely with getting at the truth. Expert testimony has also become common in trials where there is no insanity plea. Toxicologists testify to the possible effect of poison. Chemists and others submit their views. It is obvious that such testimony ought to represent an effort to get at the truth. There is a growing tendency to bring an end to the conflict between experts. If the psychiatrist, toxicologist, bio-chemist and others represented only the court, confusing evidence might be avoided. —The Indianapolis News.

A MEMBER of the family should have arrived in town last night and we're worried sick... he's never seen Appleton before and we didn't think he ever would... and after all the civic pride we've been pouring into him... how we're ever going to explain the dump is way beyond us... and he's had the idea that Appleton has paved streets... well, he'll have to stay off College avenue... how can we justify those dozens of saloons is another problem... back where he comes from you have to be known before you can get in... but as we write, he hasn't come yet and maybe he won't get through the traffic signal system...

Too much importance is being attached to animals these days. Up in Superior, they imported a life detector to find out who stole the chickens from a Superior chicken roost.

And down in Waukesha a Holstein cow brought $1,000 at a sale.

Cripes, don't they know there's a depression?

Totter night a radio program sponsored by a nationally known company was about a quarter used up by high-pressure and long-winded advertising over a chain broadcast. A little later, the same company, over another chain, broadcast a program sponsoring an allied product and proudly pointed to the fact that only twenty words of advertising would be used.

Our ten shares of Almakamated Gadgets have dropped an eighth of a point below par. We bought 'em at. We're having a private panic. Keep runs and poison away from us.

Hurley only has 3,000 people in it, but the government is about to padlock forty saloons. Which, it's said, is but a starter.

Two fellows in New York City had a duel recently and it was quite a successful affair with neither of them coming out alive. But they certainly didn't have much confidence in each other—they were standing an arm's length apart when they fired.

A colored man in Chicago—Chicago, yassuh—was sentenced to sixty days in jail for stealing a bar of soap.

Chicago Justice makes it inadvisable to keep clean at times.

At least you can't make much money politically by keeping clean down there. Or other places.

PILATE SENDS HIS REPORT

"Boy, send to Caesar a report Of this day's happenings in the court. I am too tired myself this night With clarity to think or write, But say that one of my decrees Was ordered solely to appease A public clamor and to save The Roman cause from dangers grave."

"Barabbas! Yes, they'll want to know At home why I should let him go. There was a rebel, cruel, bold, We had instructions him to hold For death, and now to set him free Will bring the wrath of Rome on me. Take care to have it plainly show The citizens would have it so."

"That soft-voiced Jesus troubles me. I told them that I couldn't see And don't see now why He should die; Yet they would have His life, and I Was powerless. Boy, make that plain. They set Barabbas free again. It was not I, but they who chose Christ as the greater of their foes."

"Tell them at Rome, that all is well And now we'll have a breathing spell. The town is calm. In this affair I find approval everywhere Of my decisions. Those who frown Are but the riff-raff of the town. Although the incident seems queer, I'm sure more of it we'll hear."

Looking Backward

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Friday, April 6, 1906

Eighteen farmers of Outagamie county were defendants in suits brought by the Wisconsin Farmers' Mutual and Cyclopedia Insurance company of Juneau, and were charged with neglecting to pay their premiums after receiving notice of their being overdue.

A marriage license was issued the previous Wednesday to Howard D. Reeve and Miss Lucy W. Buckland, both of Appleton.

Walter C. Payne, Clinton, Ia., and Miss Anna Hoffman, Appleton, were married at Menominee, Mich., March 31.

Richard Mills left the preceding night for St. Paul, where he was to spend a few days with relatives before going to Spokane, Wash., to work for a telephone company.

Mrs. J. A. Hawes left that day for Virginia where she was to visit relatives for several weeks.

Lowry Conkey was to leave that night for Washington where he was to conduct his father's newly purchased fruit ranch.

George Lausman returned that morning from Milwaukee where he had been on business.

TEN YEARS AGO

Friday, April 1, 1921

Dr. G. A. Ritchie and James A. Wood, whose terms as trustees of Memorial Presbyterian church had expired, were reelected for three years at the annual congregational meeting of the church the previous evening.

Harry Schultz, employed in C. A. Pardee's store, and Miss Julia La Conte, Menasha, were married the previous Thursday at Menominee, Mich.

Mrs. H. M. Christanson and two children, Minor-st, were visiting relatives in Green Bay. Enail Toberstein, who purchased a lot on Fifth-st a few weeks before, broke ground for a new residence that day.

Mrs. R. J. Noel and family were visiting at the home of her father at Green Bay.

Miss Bertha Schultz, county nurse, returned that day from Madison where she conducted a round table discussion on school nursing at the second state conference of the Wisconsin State Board of health on child welfare and public health nursing.

Predicament of a Modern Midas!

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

THE THREE DEADLY SINS AGAINST SANITATION

Having observed the facilities for cleanliness provided by a great many purveyors of food to be consumed on the premises, I wonder how our health department has the temerity of employ so many "inspectors" who draw salaries presumably for keeping watch on these very requirements.

In many restaurants and even pretentious hotels the public wash-room or lavatory is so filthy that the proprietors attempt to apologize to the public by using some kind of alleged "disinfectant," which has an odor strong enough to convince the ignorant patron that "sanitary precautions" are being taken in his behalf. Surely no public health department, officer, commissioner or authority dares to sanction or approve the use of the noxious "disinfectants" or germicides so much favored in such places. Perhaps a few of the politicians in the health department yet privately favors the manufacturers of alleged or real disinfectants for tacitly permitting the abuse. That's the only reason I can conceive for this malodorous racket. It is inconceivable that any old fossil health commissioner can still hold office and an actual notion that the liberation of impressive chemical odors can in any way protect anybody's health.

There are three great sins against sanitation, which ought to be frowned upon whenever an intelligent layman encounters them, for they are a menace to his own safety and health. First, the knob or other attachment on the door of such a wash-room. There is no excuse for this crude imposition on the public. If the door must have some means of fastening it, then let it be something which can be manipulated with the foot. If jocking is not actually necessary then let it be a door that swings on spring hinges at the touch of the foot. That is the only kind of door permissible in a sanitary wash-room.

Second the faucet which turns on the water. There is no excuse for such an antiquated attachment either in the lavatory that purports to be for all sanitary must have suitable provision for turning on water by means of the foot or a touch of an elbow or any convenient way which permits one to keep the hands clean once they've been washed, and uncontaminated whether they've been washed or not.

Third, no sanitary wash basin can have a stopper in it, even one worked by a pedal. A stopper in a wash basin converts the sanitary running water into a lifeless revival of the old time bucket and dipper arrangement. Even that would not be in the least unsanitary if the bucket and dipper were used by one self alone or even by one's own family or household; but it is inexcusable in a public wash-room. If the place affords running water let the patron have running water.

As long as the builders and owners and managers of places of public patronage and trade and ships harbor the funny notion that strongly odoriferous chemicals confer some vague sanitary virtue when used as directed by the manufacturers, we shall find these dangerous and disgusting relics, even where we might fairly expect courteous and cleanly service. The only effective remedy I can suggest is popular resentment, which should be expressed quite clearly to the persons responsible for the affront.

Ignorance of the law excuses nobody. Ignorance of hygiene and sanitation should excuse nobody.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
How the Subconscious Fear Is Cultivated

Let me tell you to notice I am sending the enclosed half-penny notice. It may enlighten you about a question which seems to puzzle you—namely, how the average dumb layman gets his queer notions about exposure to weather, wet feet and the like. (L. E. O.)

Answer—Thank you. It does explain a good deal. Here in huge black letters running half-way across the page we are warned that wet feet breed SORE THROAT—but no matter for all you have to do is gargle with—At that, the popular phobia is probably due in large part to just such education.

Fishskin or Sealy Skin.

I was troubled a great deal with sealy skin or fishskin for many years and never could find anything to help it until one day by chance I tried glycerin, just plain glycerin and the scales disappeared. An application of a little glycerine once a week keeps it under control, so that now for the first time in several years I can wear short sleeves and go in bathing without stockings. (C. R.)

Answer—Thank you. It is generally advisable to dilute glycerin for use on the skin, the occasional applications of the pure glycerin may be unwholesome. This sealy, harsh, dry condition of the skin is called Ichthyosis (fish skin disease), and when it is merely a moderate roughening or goose skin appearance it is called xerosis. Patches on the elbows and on the calves bring many complaints. The patches look as though the afflicted one skimped on soap and water. She (it is usually she) should bathe better soap and the less water the better for the skin; oil is better for necessary cleansing. If it were "alligator hide," send stamped envelope bearing your address, and ask for advice about it and for the directions for preparation and use of a good skin oil.

Spread of Scarlet Fever.

The man who gathers the cream (a country place in Ohio) has scarlet fever in his home. Has he a right to enter our houses to gather cream? Isn't there danger of his spreading the disease? When our daughter had it six years ago no one was allowed to enter our house and we were forbidden to leave the house or to sell our cream. (Mrs. G. D.)

Answer—You should report the matter immediately to your local health officer, or if you prefer you may tell your family physician and be guided by his advice. If there is a case of scarlet fever in the man's home he certainly should not handle milk or cream.

The Tynmites

By Hal Cochran

THE Travel Man soon grew tired out and Scout heard him loudly shout, "I cannot chase you any more. You can run too fast for me. Come back, but no more ducking, son. It fills my nose and isn't fun. I swallowed so much water I was dizzy as could be."

"All right," cried Scout. "I'll come back and you can give me one good smack for playing such a crazy trick." The Travel Man just smiled. "I will forgive you," he replied. "I've no desire to spank your hide. You are a little fellow and I've never spanked a child."

And so they went on with their swim. Wee Clowny shouted, "Watch me skim atop the water. I am good! Please clear the way. Here goes!"

And, sure enough, he skimmed along with strokes that made him seem real strong. The others laughed to see waves that were parted by his nose.

Soon Mister Travel Man cried, "Here! We've had enough, boys, for today. It isn't good for anyone to swim around too long. I must admit it is a thrill, but we don't want to get a chill. I know that you don't want to do a single thing that's wrong."

It wasn't long till all the bunch were dressed and sitting down to lunch. Right after that they took a walk and very shortly found some women at a market place. A smile spread on wee Coppy's face. Said he, "I know what that is, that is that is spread round on the ground."

"It's jute, a fiber that they get from plants. They're selling it. I'll bet it's used for making lots of things, especially lamp shades. You see I'm smart. I know a lot, and

A Bystander In Washington

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington—Two honeymooners—Prince Takamatsu, second younger brother of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, and Princess Kikuko, his bride of a year—are coming to the capital in April to spend a week or more.

Washington looks forward to their visit as a real event. For so deep has been the seclusion in which the Japanese have kept their ruling house, so many the safeguards and limitations on their movements, that it was not until 10 years ago that the first male of that family traveled outside the Land of the Gods.

With almost a year of their wedding journey behind them, they will land in New York about April 10. They come to Washington where they will be objects of much official entertaining, from the White House on down.

And rumor has it that while in America they will stop at those two lodestones of the American honeymoon—Niagara Falls and the Grand Canyon in Arizona. The original plans of their journey called for these two stops, and they still may be included.

Typical Modern Japan

The prince is 26 years old. His princess is only 19.

An Associated Press colleague, who has just returned to this country after years in Japan and China, says that this royal couple "very truthfully typify the present-day life of their people, a life of strong contrasts in which modern ideas and ways find their place, for the most part with friendly adaptiveness, next to traditions and customs of the most hoary antiquity."

"The princess," he says, "is considered one of the most beautiful women in Japan. She has the stature, the figure and the self-possessed carriage to wear the latest in Parisian costumes. I saw her when she drove with her consort through the streets of Tokyo after the wedding a year ago, pale, proud and poised."

"She wore a becoming western robe de court and a coronet on her pillowed hair. She suggested an exquisite porcelain figurine from the court of Louis XVI."

Naval Officer

The prince in appearance is typical of the Japanese imperial family. A lieutenant in the navy, he has had the usual training of a young officer.

Up to their wedding ceremony, the affairs of the Takamatsus followed the conventional lines of old another. They were chosen for one another before they had met. They first became acquainted at a formal tea party given by Takamatsu's mother, the Empress Dowager Sadako, several weeks before their betrothal had been announced.

The prince is second only to his older brother, Prince Chichibu, in the line of succession to the throne. If Empress Nagako continues to bear the Emperor only daughters—her fourth girl baby was born March 7—and if Prince Chichibu remains childless, Takamatsu has only to survive his two older brothers to become the 125th Mikado of Nippon.

E. E. HALE'S BIRTH
On April 3, 1832, Edward Everett Hale, famous American author, philanthropist and Unitarian clergyman, was born in Boston, Mass.

He graduated from Harvard at the age of 17 and then studied for the ministry. In 1855 he became pastor of the South Congregational Church of Boston and took an active interest in all the philanthropic movements of his city and time. In 1901 he became pastor emeritus of the church and two years later was appointed chaplain of the United States Senate.

Although he wrote prolifically, Hale is best remembered for that classic of patriotic fiction, "The Man Without a Country." His most influential book is "Ten Times One Is Ten." This book led to the formation of Lenda-Hand clubs, King's Daughters and many similar charitable organizations.

He died in 1909, at the age of 87, a year after he had been elected a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

Bats are animals, not birds. They suckle their young at the breast and are classed by zoologists as flying mammals.

U. S. PROVIDES COMPETITION IN NEW FINANCING

Corporation Investment Market Faces Trouble—some Three Months

BY CHARLES F. SPEARE
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Wall Street, New York—(CPA)—At

the beginning of the second quarter of 1931 the corporation investment market is faced with even greater competition from government financing than during the previous three months. Its immediate action is bound up intimately with the requirements of the treasury to cover the unexpectedly large deficit growing out of the falling off in income tax payments and in the demands for soldiers compensation.

Domestic bonds during March declined an average of over a point. They are off 13 points from the high level of January and today not much above the low average at the beginning of the year. Where gains have occurred in issues of the legal type among the railroad and public utility obligations the effect of these on average prices has been more than counterbalanced by the steady attrition among the secondary grades, which have been more affected this year by earnings than in any other period since 1921.

See Movement Relation
There has been an uncommonly close relation between the movements of juniors corporation bonds and corporation common stocks. This has applied more particularly to railroad and industrial issues than to public utilities. Ordinarily bonds are influenced in their price movements by rates of money and by technical market conditions, such as an over-supply or scarcity. At the present time, when corporation profits are off over 40 per cent from those in 1929 and there is little evidence of improvement in sight, the status of bonds as well as common stocks is changing.

It is not improbable that quite a number of railroad issues that are now legal for savings banks in New York state will lose this privilege within a year owing to the necessity for reducing dividends and failure to show earnings that meet the requirements of the savings bank law. On the other hand, it is also anticipated that additional public utility bond issues will join the legal class this year. This will permit the investment of savings bank and trust funds in them in many of the eastern states. Since the first of January the total amount of corporation and other bonds, offered exclusively of United States governments, exceeds $1,500,000,000. While a high percentage has been distributed, there remain in dealer's hands a sufficient supply to affect prices and to discourage purchases before syndicates are closed.

Many Retire Loans
A helpful feature of a number of the recent new issues has been the high proportion used to retire old loans, and therefore, not requiring new capital.

The successive issues of government paper, following the refunding of the March loans, is absorbing the funds of banks and large corporations to an extent that they have withdrawn from the market for corporation loans. The treasury recognizes that the market for its paper lies mainly with financial institutions as there is nothing in the rate of return that would attract the individual investor. Among a great many banks there is the tradition that they must subscribe to all government loans. This they do regularly regardless of the coupon rate. The government deposit which they receive is sometimes profitable but not so at present. Consequently, with the treasury now compelled to adjust its financial program to a deficit that may be as much as $500,000,000 this year, it will be in the market for funds at frequent intervals in the next two months.

The banks take this fact into account in considering their investment policies. That they have already purchased liberally of the issues floated by the government in the last sixty days is indicated in the statements being published of their condition on March 25, in which a large majority of national and state banks and trust companies show an increase in their holdings of government securities compared with those at the end of 1930.

81 SEWER FIXTURES
Eighty-one fixtures were added to the city's sewer system during March, according to the monthly report of George Gauslin, plumbing inspector. Mr. Gauslin made 192 inspections during the month, and granted 23 permits for the opening of trenches.

Who's Who On The Appleton Post-Crescent

Number 22

(This is the twenty-third of a series of articles about members of the staff of the Appleton Post-Crescent. The articles will seek to acquaint readers of this newspaper with those persons as individuals and also will discuss the nature of their work. Members of the staff are presented in the order of their length of service. The twenty-fourth article will appear tomorrow.)

—Harwood Photo.
Edward Minton

With a characteristic twinkle in his eye, Edward Minton, compositor and mechanic for the Post-Crescent, describes his life in the one word, "drifter."

From farm hand to factory worker, homesteader to publisher, street railway conductor to photographer, cabinet maker and carpenter to printer, Ed Minton has run the whole gamut of occupations, gathering a multitude of interesting experiences into his life.

When Ed was 16 years old, he set out to live his life in a series of adventures. He had already been a farm hand and factory worker when he packed his clothes and left the little farm near Manawa, Waupaca co., where he was born, to set out for the west. In North Dakota he worked on his homestead and became a ranch hand for a few seasons. At this time he was interested in amateur photography, and circumstances around this interest found him his printing career. He had taken a flashlight picture of a party in town, and wanting to sell it to participants in the party, he decided to advertise in the newspaper. Upon his arrival at the newspaper office, he found an irate and stranded owner suddenly without a printer for the small paper. Ed immediately stepped in the absent printer's place. When the owner decided to run two shops, young Ed was sent to the small North Dakota town of Arnegard to publish a weekly newspaper.

One day, while he was standing on the station platform of the town, Ed suddenly decided to take the first train out of the place, heading for British Columbia. If the train went westward and back to see his mother in New London if the first train was bound east.

The train went east. In New London, Mr. Minton worked with his photography in the Dawson studio during the day and as a printer at the New London press on a night shift. When he married he settled down to learning the carpenter and cabinet trades along with printing. It was from the New London Press that Mr. Minton came, to the Post-Crescent to work. He began as a linotype operator and worked into his position as advertising compositor.

With this colorful background of knowledge he performs two distinct types of work in the composing room. It is with the skill of an artisan that he composes advertisements and with the detailed accuracy of a mechanic that he keeps the machinery and other equipment for advertising in smooth running order.

Setting "ads" is much more than merely throwing pieces of type together; it is a craftsman's job, in which the appreciation of beauty is developed almost in the manner in which a sculptor fashions his statues. The result must be attractive, harmonious, and symmetrical. Skill and judgment must be exercised by the compositor in setting advertisements that will conform with the ideas of the advertisers as well as express a certain artistry. The compositor is called upon to solve many difficult and perplexing problems in the correct choice of type faces for headlines, the placements of "cuts" or pictures, and the value of using white space in the right places for effectiveness.

Mr. and Mrs. Minton live with their three children in their own home at 1030 W. Packard-st. The younger Minton's are Donald, Violet and Lyle. The "drifting" hobby of Mr. Minton has now turned into the more permanent pleasures of hunting, fishing, gardening and living with his family.

Rumor 'Jimmy' Walker Has Offer From Film Company

BY JESSIE HENDERSON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
Hollywood—(CPA)—While Mayor Walker prepares to return from the desert with his 23 trunks to face the music in New York, persistent rumors float around Hollywood that he intends to appear or later to take a job with the business end of the movies. Possibly sooner. Neither hizzoner nor any movie company will confirm this report, but Hollywood both officially and unofficially is buzzing with it. The fact that the mayor has so far carefully refrained from visiting Hollywood on his trip west seems to make the rumorists all the more sure that their suspicions are correct.

It is said the mayor has provisionally accepted an executive post in Hollywood at a brilliant salary. The provision is whispered to be that if the political pot boils over too much in New York he may chuck the mayoralty job for what he possibly looks upon as the tranquility of the Hollywood atmosphere. The other half of the provision is whispered to be that if the Gotham political pot simmers down Mayor Walker will take up the Hollywood offer when his term as mayor ends.

Hollywood hails this unconfirmed rumor with delight. Half the town is rooting for the mayor as a movie supervisor, because supervisors have charge of expenditures and are usually more close fisted about them than it is anticipated Mr. Walker would be. The other half is predicting no less gleefully that if hizzoner comes to Hollywood to get away from seething politics, it will be just too bad since politics as played in the movie studios make politics in New York look like a game of croquet.

The town in fact is divided between those who think a clever politician like Mayor Walker would be just the thing in Hollywood and those who think that if he comes to Hollywood Mayor Walker will begin to learn what politics are.

ARTERIAL JUMPER IS FINED $1 AND COSTS

Roman Simon, 320 Sarah-st, Kaukauna, was fined $1 and costs by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court Thursday afternoon when he pleaded guilty of jumping an arterial highway at the corner of Wisconsin-ave and Leninwah-st. He was arrested Wednesday night by Officer George Behrendt.

BUILDING PERMITS RISE LAST MONTH

43 Jobs, Estimated to Cost $224,570, Are Authorized

Building permits issued during March showed a healthy increase over the small monthly totals that characterized the winter. Forty-three permits issued by John N. Weiland, building inspector, totaled $224,570.

Of this amount $167,000 was taken up by the permit for the new post-office building. Seven residences and garages were evaluated at $34,100, two mercantile buildings, additions and alterations at $14,000, 18 residence additions and alterations, $5,835; and 13 garages, $2,535. One miscellaneous permit was valued at $450.

Mr. Weiland made 43 building, 11 heating, and two sign inspections during the month, and held one meeting of the board of building inspection and one of the board of appeals. He investigated 35 complaints and calls, seven boiler and heating plant complaints in connection with the smoke ordinance, and checked four stacks. He spent two afternoons with the state inspector on general inspections.

Besides 43 building permits, the inspector granted six heating and two sign permits.

Old Ritual Of Stars Is Exemplified

GRABBED in the style of a half-century ago, the officers of 1881 of Fidelity chapter, Order of the Star, exemplified the ritual of fifty years ago before a meeting of the Sheboygan chapter Thursday evening at Sheboygan. About 20 members of Fidelity chapter, officers, past matrons, and past patrons attended the meeting from Appleton.

A dinner preceded the ceremony and the work was put on in the new temple which was completed last year. About 13 grand officers were present from all parts of the state and many of these and other members came in costume. Other out of town guests were from Green Bay, Plymouth, Sheboygan Falls, Milwaukee, Beloit, Hartland, Lake Geneva, Oshkosh, and Fond du Lac.

Mrs. Laura Baker, Beloit, grand worthy matron, and James B. Wagg, Appleton, grand worthy patron, were among the guests of honor. It is estimated that over 400 persons witnessed the ritualistic work. A social hour and lunch followed the meeting.

The rank of Page was conferred at the meeting of Knights of Pythias Thursday evening at Castle hall. Charles Young was in charge of refreshments which were served after the business session. Thirty members were present. Plans were made to confer the rank of Esquire next week.

John F. Ross chapter, Order of De Molay, met Thursday night at Masonic temple. General business was discussed and two new members were voted into the chapter. They are Donald Bloom and Robert Ball. Two new members were present and Leifgard Fevel won the special prize.

Royal Neighbors met Thursday night at Odd Fellow hall. Routine business was discussed and balloting on candidates took place.

STATE REGENT OF D. A. R. WILL GO TO CONGRESS

Mrs. Joseph Branson, DePere, who was elected Wisconsin state regent of Daughters of the American Revolution last fall, will attend the fortieth annual Continental Congress to be held April 20 to 25 at Washington D. C., at which time she will be installed in office. National elections will take place at this congress and Mrs. James F. Trotman, Milwaukee, former state regent of Wisconsin, will run for vice president general. Seven vice presidents will be elected. Mrs. Trotman has been nominated by the Wisconsin chapter.

Reports will be given from various chapters and there will be no program each day. There will be no delegates present from Appleton chapter this year.

PAINTING BY HAROLD YOUNG IS EXHIBITED

A water color painting by Harold Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Young, 620 N. Oneida-st., was included in the Wisconsin Painters and Sculptors' eighteenth annual exhibit at Milwaukee recently. A group of 335 pictures was submitted for the exhibit but only 163 were chosen. Mr. Young's being among them. He is a second year student at the Layton School of Art at Milwaukee. Mr. Young is spending his Easter vacation with his parents.

CHURCH PLANS GREEK FAMILIES SERVICE FOR

A service for Greek orthodox families of Appleton will be conducted by the Rev. Father Pappasostas, head of the Greek Orthodox church at Sheboygan, at All Saints Episcopal church at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

About 35 Greeks of Appleton organized the first Greek congregation of this city at All Saints church last week. The Sheboygan priest will conduct services here about once a month.

HOLDS SERVICE AT GREEN BAY

The Rt. Rev. Harwood Sturtevant, bishop coadjutor of the Fond du Lac diocese of the Episcopal church, conducted the three hour Good Friday service at Christ Episcopal church at Green Bay this afternoon. It was the bishop's first official visit to the Green Bay church.

PARTIES

Mrs. John Badenock, 1334 W. Pine-st., entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon at Candle Glow tea room Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Helen Diderich, who will be married August 15 to Ward O. Wheeler, Appleton. Covers were laid for 11 guests. Following the luncheon a shower was held at Mrs. Badenock's home. Miss Diderich, who teaches at Norfolk, Neb., is spending the Easter vacation at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Diderich, 24 E. North-st.

Group No. 9 of Christian Mothers' Society of St. Theresa church will hold an open card party at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the parish hall. Cake, schafkopf, dice, and plumpuck will be played. Mrs. Jake Modest is captain of the group and she will be assisted by Mrs. Theodore.

Chippewa Falls—(P)—Mrs. W. H. Modest, 71, wife of the widely known attorney and mother of a son, died here yesterday. She was 71 years old and had three sons and a daughter.

Recent Appleton Bride

One of the most recent Appleton brides is Mrs. Albert H. Osenroth, who before her marriage yesterday was Miss Dorothy Belling. A graduate of Milwaukee State Teachers' college, Mrs. Osenroth taught in the Appleton school system for three years. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Belling, 531 N. Lawest.

Cantata To Be Offered At Service

A cantata, "From Cross to Crown," by Alfred Judson, will be sung by the choir of Trinity English Lutheran church during the church services at 7:30 Friday evening at the church. Miss Annette Post, Miss Irene Bosserman, and Mrs. D. E. Bosserman will sing the solo parts in the cantata. There are 24 voices in the chorus.

Several articles of interest pertaining to prohibition were read at the meeting of Women's Christian Temperance Union Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Graef, 504 W. Atlantic-st. Discussion took place on the work of the organization. The next meeting will be in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Emma Hubbard, Franklin-st.

Mrs. Louis Sassman, W. Commercial-st., entertained the Ladies Aid society of First Reformed church Thursday afternoon at her home. Nineteen members were present. Routine business was transacted and the devotional service was led by the Rev. E. E. Franz. A social hour followed. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. Louis Stolt, W. Brewster-st.

The Altar Guild of All Saints Episcopal church will sponsor a flower sale Saturday morning at Galpin's hardware store. Mrs. C. E. Burgess, Mrs. L. D. Utis, Mrs. H. F. Henke, Miss Maude Harwood, and Mrs. C. B. Turney will act on the committee in charge.

A Lenten food sale, the last of a series, will be given by St. Agnes Guild of All Saints Episcopal church Saturday morning at Langstadt Electric company. Mrs. Thomas W. Evans and Mrs. E. L. Bolton will be in charge.

A meeting of the Mission Band of First Reformed church will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the church. The group will continue reading the study book under the direction of Miss Eva Engel.

DAUGHTER OF CONSUL TO GO ON DANCE STAGE

Paris—(P)—To the click of castanets the 20-year-old daughter of the American consul-general in Paris will whirl onto the dancing floor of the Lido April 17 to make her professional debut as a Spanish dancer.

She is Joan Keena (Maria del Pilar for professional purposes), and she has studied Spanish dancing for the last 15 years in Latin-American countries where her father was stationed at consul.

When she begins the Jarabe Tapatio, danced with staccato taps on the wide brim of a Mexican sombrero, she whirls into a dance she learned in Chihuahua, Mexico, where she was born.

She never has stage fright. At the age of five she made her first public appearance in a fairy ballet at a Valparaiso theater, and liked it so well she repeated her dance four times.

Later she began her professional study with the premiere danseuse of the Buenos Aires opera company. Then came a season with the Denishawn Dancers in New York and later a year's study with the Nemchinova Ballet in Paris.

Recently Miss Keena danced at private receptions in Paris, where she attracted the attention of Gilbert White, American painter. He arranged an audition with the director of the Lido, and her engagement at the amusement place was the result.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mullenix motored to Chicago Thursday. They will return on Monday.

CAPITAL SAYS SHORT SLEEVES FOR SUMMER

WASHINGTON—(P)—Short sleeves are being prominently featured in spring style shows here.

Mindful of last summer's heat, wives of cabinet members and other officials who will be late getting away to the mountains and seashore are planning wardrobes with an eye to comfort. Realizing this, the style show stressed the short sleeve.

It is revealed even in the omnipresent jacket suit. The one-piece dress or blouse worn beneath the jacket invariably has a short sleeve ending midway between the shoulder and elbow. The suits are made of such material as marcella, spongy crepe, unpressed tweed and imported crepe veil.

Colors range from porcelain blue to coral. Checks are in high favor and red hats and matching bags to accompany almost any shade of dress are a smart spring fashion note.

Jackets in shades contrasting with the skirts are shown. One model shown by a leading store had a sleeveless dress of yellow crepe with a jacket of green and yellow. The sheer wools for spring decreed by Paris apparently meet the approval of Washington women preparing for the sudden warmth of April and May.

Some of the silk and wool knitted suits subtly emphasize the figure's curves and are designed for slender youth rather than maturer years.

JURY RETURNS VERDICT IN DEFENDANT'S FAVOR

A jury in municipal court yesterday afternoon returned a verdict for the defendant in the suit brought by the Northern Boiler and Structural Iron Works of Appleton against the Shady Side Cheese factory, town of Center. The Appleton firm asked $555, which it claimed was the contract price for a boiler sold to the cheese factory in 1927. The cheese factory claimed the contract price was $335.50 and offered that amount in settlement of the claim. The jury held that the contract price was that which the cheese factory set forth. The case opened Wednesday before Judge Theodore Berg and went to the jury at 11:45 yesterday morning. A verdict was reached about 4:15 yesterday afternoon.

Help Needed By Children To Get Start

BY ANGELO PATRI
"Play nicely, Jimmie," said mother from the back window. "Play nicely with Gusie and Fritz."
Jimmie, busy with the wagon he was pulling toward him with both hands, looked up toward the voice, and immediately back to the wagon again.
"That's my wagon," said Fritz, tentatively.
Jimmie said nothing but, pushing the wagon behind him, reached for a shovel and a ball, captured both, pushed them behind him and made for a tin pail that was lying a few feet away. Fritz took a sudden determination. He raced for the pail too. Both clutched the rim of the pail at the same instant.
"Let go."
"You let go."
"It's mine."
"It's mine."
"Gimme."
"Won't."
"Ouch. Ow-w-w. Let go."
"Ooo-ooo-oo. You kicked me. I'm going to tell your mother."
"Mama, Fritzie kicked me."
"Mother-er, Jimmie hit me. He did."
The noise rose in volume and pierced the walls. A head appeared at the back window of two adjoining houses. Two voices called in unison, "What's the matter?" Why don't you play nicely? Then the sound of two windows closing, and a muttering in the distance.
The belligerents stood glaring, each with a hand on the edge of the pail. It was just a matter of seconds when Gusie thought it time to speak. "I'm going to have some fun, I am. I'm going to dig a well and fill it with water and then make pies. Who wants to come? They can pump the water and carry it and help stir the pies."
Both hands let go simultaneously and the pail fell with a clatter. Both heads bent to pick up the pail and bumped gently. Two giggles and gurgles, and the pail came up, held between two smiling little boys who followed a chubby little girl off to the faucet in the play corner. Things had started and business was booming in the playground because a little girl had offered a definite job to two eager little boys.

Go with them into the play yard. Listen for suggestions of schemes. If none is forthcoming, start one, and let them do as they will with it. Leave them as soon as they indicate that the germ of an idea is at work. They do not need grownups to play with them. All they need is the first impulse of an idea.

LA CROSSE BUSINESS $24,000,000 IN 1930

WASHINGTON—(P)—La Crosse, Wis., has 719 retail stores which do a business in excess of $24,000,000, the U. S. Department of Commerce has reported today on the basis of 1930 census returns.

The population of the city is 39,614. The retail stores give full-time employment to 1,918 men and women and have a yearly pay roll of $2,611,717, the department said. The total retail business is $24,541,054.

Of the 719 retail stores, 635 are single-store independents which do a business of $18,263,091, or 74 per cent of the total. There are 16 units of two-stores and three-stores multiples as well as six units of local chains, 28 units of sectional chains and 25 units of national chains. The chain stores do $4,253,834 worth of business, or 17 per cent of the total.

Food stores are in the lead in La Crosse with the automotive group ranking second and the general merchandise group third in order of sales.

Shot by Suitor

Anna Grace Gilliland, above, prominent in east Tennessee society, was shot and seriously wounded at Harriman, Tenn., by Roy Chitwood, said to be a rejected suitor. Miss Gilliland had been attending a party with another youth, and was leaving for home when Chitwood fired. Police say. The latter was arrested.

CLAIM APPLETON MAN NEGLECTED CHILDREN

John Bruce, Appleton, was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg yesterday afternoon on a charge of non-support. He waived preliminary hearing and was bound over for trial on April 6. Bruce was unable to furnish bonds of $500 and is being held in the county jail. He was arrested by Sheriff Lappen on a charge of failing to support his two minor children.

Beef Cutlets And New Potatoes For Sunday

Shrimp Cocktail
Chicken Broth
Beef Cutlets
New Potatoes, Parsley Butter.
Stuffed Baked Tomatoes
Waldorf Salad
Apricot Pudding
Coffee

Beef Cutlets
Trim all fat and skin from some slices of beef and shape them like cutlets, then salt and pepper them. Place a small lump of butter in a saute pan, and when melted fry the cutlets on both sides till done. Sprinkle over them a little chopped parsley, place on a dish, and pour over them a thick brown gravy.

Apricot Pudding
Take the desired quantity of apricots, divide them and remove the stones. Place the halves in a stew pan over a stove with a little sugar. Pour over a little water and shake well, and when about half-cooked, pour them into a pudding basin which has been previously buttered and lined with a good suet paste. Cover the top with some of the paste, tie over with a pudding-cloth, plunge into boiling water, and boil for two hours. Remove from the sauce pan, untie the cloth, turn out on a dish, and serve.

ANNOUNCE NEWSPAPER DEALS AT EL PASO, TEX.

El Paso—(P)—The El Paso Evening Post, a Scripps-Howard newspaper today, announced the purchase of its evening competitor, the El Paso Herald, from the Lindsay-Nunn company. Beginning today the merged papers will be published as the El Paso Herald-Post.

Simultaneously, Dorrance D. Rodenick, who has held the title of resident publisher, bought the Morning and Sunday Times from his associates.

The negotiations were opened six months ago by Gene Howe, famous editor of the Amarillo, Texas, Globe-News, on behalf of the Lindsay-Nunn company, at a conference in New York with W. W. Hawkins, general manager of the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Purchase of the Herald involves none of its physical plant, which goes to the Times. Like Scripps-Howard's recent purchase of the New York World newspapers, the El Paso deal involves only the name, the good will, circulation lists and the Associated Press membership of the paper purchased.

Both the Herald-Post and the Times will use leased wire reports of both the Associated Press and the United Press.

The Story of Sue

© 1929 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"MUST I answer?" Sue asked the question of Judge Thornton as he put his question to her, seeking the reason why the girl whose taxicab Sue had been driving didn't want to be recognized.

"You must," Judge Thornton said and the words were clipped and precise. He was a lawyer with a wit to cross examine now, not the father of the man whom the witness was going to marry.

"I was driving for.....for....." She hesitated. She knew that her parents, Ted, everyone in the courtroom except Corinne and Jack and Sarah, were puzzled by the change that the case had taken.

"I think I can produce a witness who will answer the question for the prosecution, Your Honor," Jack addressed the bench in the restless silence. "If this witness can be removed for a few minutes, I believe we can clear up the tangle."

"Very well. You may retire temporarily, Miss Merryman," Judge Thornton told Sue.

Sue sank down in her chair, grateful to be away from the witness stand. She watched Corinne as she walked to it. There was something of gallantry about her sister, something brave and proud. She might have an unpleasant task to perform but she would do it gallantly. Only Sue realized the extent of the confession that Corinne was going to make.

Not knowing just why she did it, not taking time to decide if it were a wise gesture or a foolish one.... Sue leaned across the empty chair and touched Harry's arm.

"Harry, Corinne loves you..... madly! Please remember that."

Harry smiled sympathetically, but he didn't answer. Sue realized that he thought she was trying to be comforting, that was all.

"Mrs. Becker, will you tell the court for whom your sister, Sue Merryman, was driving the taxicab?" Jack asked.

"Certainly." For a fraction of a second, so fleet that no one noticed it, Corinne's eyes rested on Harry. Then her low, cadent voice answered quietly. "Sue was driving for me."

"For you?" Mrs. Merryman's gasp circled around the table and Mr. Merryman leaned forward.

"You see, I had a job..... Just as a novelty, of course..... and I didn't want anyone to know about it, so I was wearing a golden wig and eye-lashes. When I couldn't go, Sue took my place and used the same disguise."

"That's all, Corinne," Jack answered, forgetting the courtroom etiquette.

"May I cross-examine this witness?" Jack's father was asking, and there was a cold light in his eyes.

"Mrs. Becker, were you driving this taxicab with your husband's permission?"

"I was not. That's why I had the disguise."

There was a flutter around the door and Corinne recognized the manager of the taxicab company, for whom she had asked Jack to send while Sue was testifying. She left the stand pretty soon, heard the man from the transportation company swear that she was the girl whom he had hired for the purpose of driving and realized that at least Jack and she together had upset Sybil's plea that Sue and Jack had framed her.

Suddenly Corinne was very tired. All of the wind had gone from her defiant sails. She was going to cry. "But I'll get backstage before I do it," she vowed. "I won't give the papers a sob story."

She heard the judge announcing that the court was adjourned until the next morning at 9 o'clock so several new developments could be taken under advisement.

RIGHT ROUGE MUST BE USED WITH POWDER

BY ALICIA HART

Spring being the adventurous time it is, I hope you are not going in for pastel colored evening powders, in a big way, and then stopping short of perfection by using the wrong rouge.

Do it right! Your rouge and lipstick must be changed when you change to exotic colored powders. This thing called glamor doesn't come too easily. But it's worth the effort. Anyhow, there's a certain psychological lift to trying out new face effects!

It is impossible to lay down flat rules for lipstick and rouge color, since they depend on your general coloring, and the tint of your own skin as well as on your new lavender or blue powder. Remember that cream rouge is easier to blend. Here are some suggestions and you can try out different tones right while you are buying your powder. If you are hazel eyed, with medium light hair, using lavender evening powder, use a geranium red lipstick and rouge.

If you are a very fair blonde, blue eyed, golden haired, use blue powder and tangerine lipstick and rouge.

If you are a brunette with a creamy skin, use green powder and not too much crimson rouge and lipstick.

If your hair is black, and you use green powder for evenings, go heavy on the lipstick which should be the richest crimson you can find and you may or may not want much rouge but it should be the same shade.

If you are blessed with a light skin and chestnut hair you will probably find green helps on the glamor business after the electric lights are lit, aided and abetted by ashes of roses or crushed rose leaves rouge and lipstick.

Matte powder, especially if you are already a bit ruddy, should be complemented by the use of coral

Brief Jacket.

Decidedly swagger and most practical is this little jacket dress of navy blue wool crepe. Vivid red buttons adorn the front band that merges from the applied collar. The patent leather belt chooses the vivid red shade.

The brief jacket is so winning with its rounded corners, slit pockets and rolled collar. The sleeves fasten at the wrist with a single button.

The slim skirt of the sleeveless dress assumes a tailored-air pressed into an inverted plait at the front. Style No. 3061 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36 and 38 inches bust.

Printed crepe silk dress with crepe silk jacket is very fashionable.

Sportive for resort is the dress of white silk crepe with the jacket of blue woolen.

Size 16 requires 4 1/2 yards 39-inch. Our large Fashion Book shows the latest Paris has to offer in clothes for the matron, the stout, the miss and the children.

Also a series of dressmaking articles. It is a book that will save you money.

Be sure to fill in the size of the pattern. Send stamps or coin (coin preferred.)

Price of book 10 cents.
Price of pattern 15 cents.

MY NEIGHBOR Says—

Freshness of fish can be determined by the elasticity and firmness of the flesh. The odor, of course, is a valuable aid.

When making bread never put hot water on yeast cake, as it kills the yeast plant and consequently prevents bread rising. Use lukewarm water.

If only a small amount of cake is eaten at a time cut the desired number of slices from the center of the cake. Press the two remaining pieces close together, like a whole cake. This will keep it moist and soft for several days.

A piece of adhesive tape put on the inside of a thimble will make it fit if it is too large.

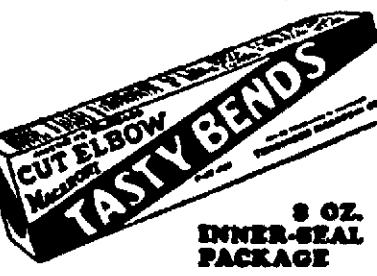

Lipstick and a little rouge of the same tone.

There is something romantic in so many roads to beauty adventure as these new make-up things bring us. Most of us get little enough adventure in our regular daily routine. Why shouldn't we take a fling at a new face and see what happens? Maybe the very decision to be more alluring at the next party will supply that extra allure so often needed. Certainly it won't hurt anybody to see what can be done about looking grand.

COIN DOTS AND PRINTS WILL BE SUMMER STYLE

BY DIANA MERWIN

Associated Press Fashion Editor
Paris—(AP)—Prints as gay as picture books color many of the frocks and ensembles which Miss 1931 will wear this spring.

The variations of the patterned mode range from coin dots and tiny checks to flowered and geometric designs flashing with color or toned to subdued shades. The evening mode is replete with sprawling flowered patterns, but daytime frocks feature microscopic designs. Many of the prints tell a story in their design.

There are red and white coin dots, brown and beige pin checks, and scores of dark blue crepes and foulards patterned with gay small figures or white flowers. Black and

WE WOMEN

By Virginia Vane

Dear Miss Vane: I am very much in love with a girl who is in every way a fine character. I am aware that I am not really worthy of her. She has a splendid position, and for one reason or another I have been out of work most of the time since I met her. But I am trying to do the best I can, have explained my position to her and she is most sympathetic. The chief trouble is white prints, designed with hip length or long tunics, are often left without a touch of color, finished simply by a patent leather belt.

Street ensembles are often designed with printed frocks and dark coats lined with the same printed pattern.

that she has a girl friend whom I know to have a very bad reputation. Her action speak for themselves. My friend whom I will call S., insists on palling around with this other girl, and there will be trouble between us if I cannot persuade S. to drop this questionable character. Please advise. R. A.

You're not really in a position to dictate as to which friends S. shall or shall not see. And besides that, it's always the most difficult and dangerous task in the world for a man to attempt to break up a friendship between two girls.

You have said yourself that S. has a fine character and presumably she is able to take care of herself. If the other girl is not the right sort S. will have the judgment and good sense to find this out for herself and break off the relationship. In the meantime your interference can only make trouble. You see, it's not as if you two were engaged. You can't afford to consider marriage. And until you do, you can't possibly dictate as to what friendships she shall or shall not have. You can state your feelings for the unsuitable chum, and let it go at that. But don't make your already difficult position more difficult by constantly nagging S. about her friend.

LONESOME LOU—You're picked out—something rather unattainable in the shape of a Romeo. The popular high school boy isn't likely to fall for your own special charms, no matter how potent they may be—not when he's surrounded with admiring maidens who are all perfectly ready to play Juliet.

An older man might ignore all the flattering attention and seek out you and you alone. But the boy of eighteen who is quite the beau ideal is usually pretty well satisfied with things as they are. He's not going to give up his adoring audience for the sake of one girl who wants him to be true to her and to her alone. Some day perhaps, when he's grown up a little, he'll begin to pick and choose. But don't hope for his special attention right now. Either you must be one of his many admirers, or you're out of the picture for the moment.

It isn't really a serious affair though. You're both too young to become involved in a heavy love tangle.

M. E. T.: Since you are really having a good influence on the boy in question, that is no reason why you shouldn't continue to see him. But don't, in the excess of your zeal for reform, allow yourself to be swept into the wrong sort of crowd.

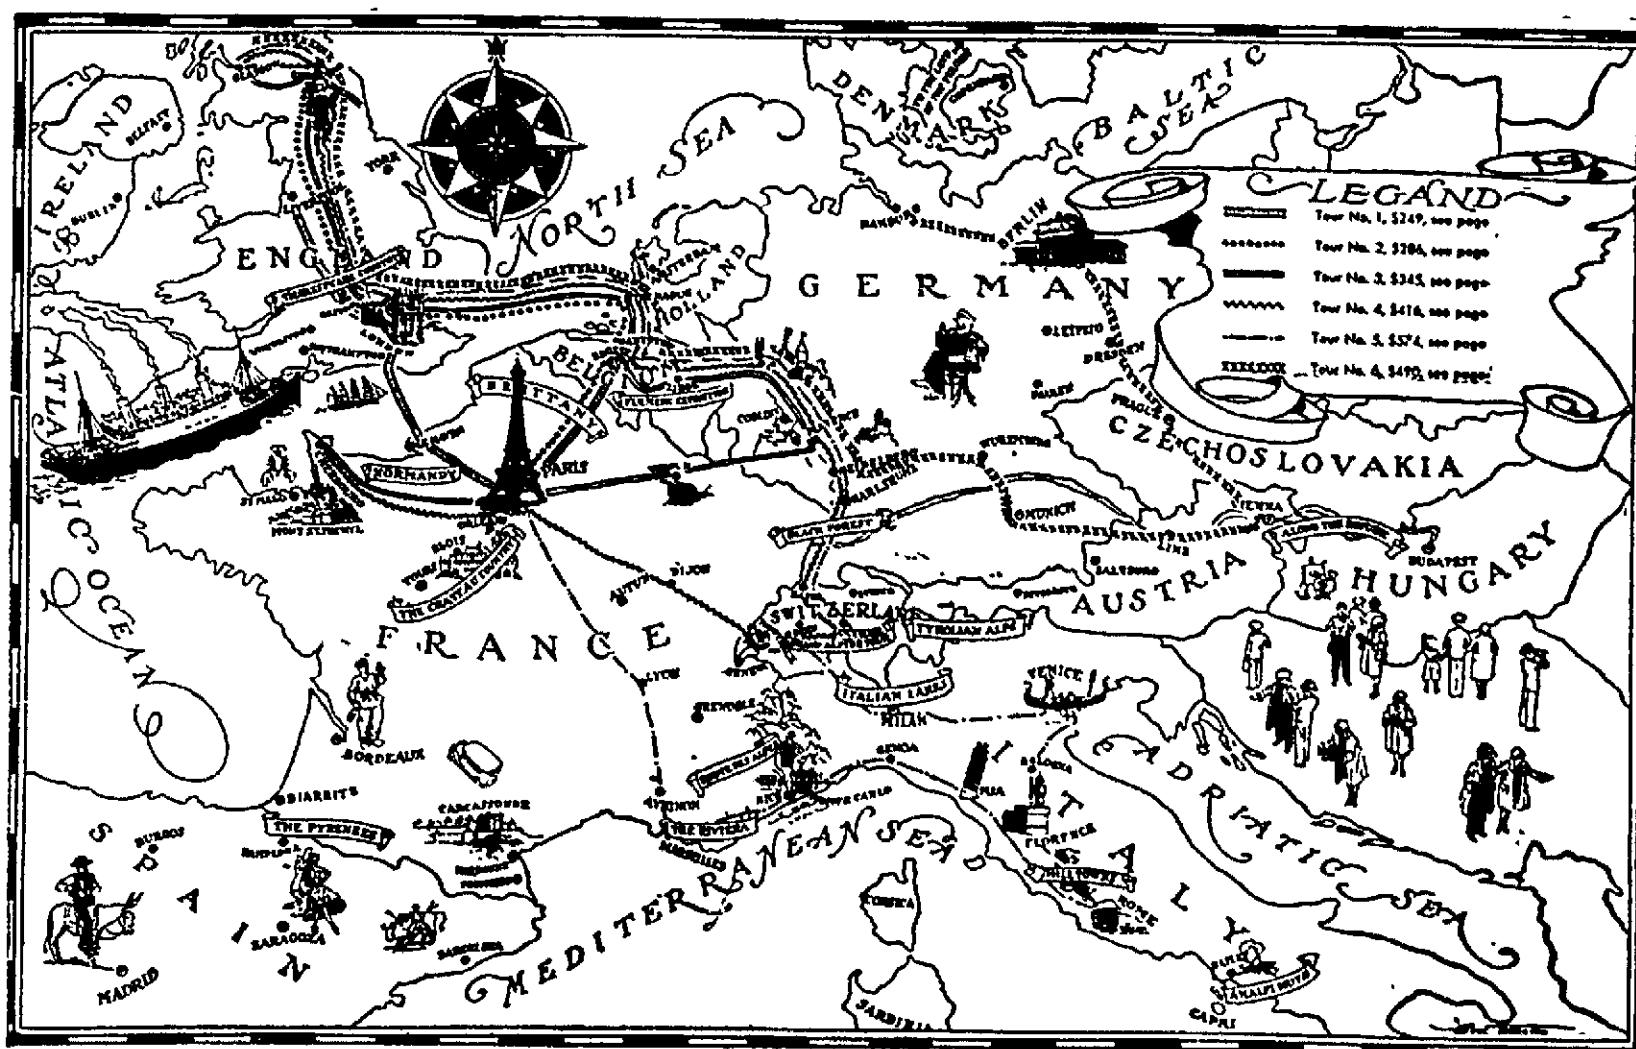

Too often, the young reformer falls herself, while attempting to save someone else from the wrong move. You're more than half attracted toward the people whose society is the worst possible influence for your friend. And you must remember that if this effort at making a better character of the boy you like, is going to cost you your reputation and your peace of mind—it simply isn't worthwhile. So don't go far with your noble ambitions. If they're interfering with your own strength of character, give them up. You won't do yourself or the boy any good, if you go the wrong way too.

Mrs. K. K.: Thank you for your kind, helpful letter. Have passed it on to the unfortunate woman who has not yet learned a real resignation. You have faced your problem in the right way, and have made a success of life. Best of luck to you.

If You are Travel-Hungry, You May Extend Your $249 Tour Even Further

For comparatively few more dollars, you can see as many as eight countries in Europe

If you should have a few extra weeks at your disposal this summer, if you want to continue your exploration of Europe, the optional tours offered in connection with the Outagamie County Educational Pilgrimage are exactly what you are looking for. They are under the supervision of the Travel Guild, Inc.

The cost for such additional travel is placed at the same moderate level as the basic tour itself. The $249 trip, you remember, includes Montreal, Quebec, the St. Lawrence Seaway, England, France and Belgium. It is the greatest value in the history of education.

BUT, many participants in the tour want to cover more territory. Arrangements for extension tours have been made. For instance, thirty seven dollars more adds Scotland to your itinerary. With an additional ninety six dollars you can visit Holland and Germany as well as Scotland and the three countries of the main tour.

Add a hundred and fifty six dollars to the main tour cost and you'll cover the main tour plus Holland, the Rhine Valley, and Switzerland. This tour takes approximately a week longer. For less than twice the cost of the main tour, you can cover the basic territory, leave the main tour and travel extensively in Germany, continue to Vienna, then to Prague (Czechoslovakia) and back through Germany including Dresden, Berlin, Potsdam and Hamburg before sailing for home.

There is the final tour which takes you to eight countries: the main tour plus Scotland, Holland, Germany, Switzerland and Italy. This gives approximately three weeks more time aboard and on shipboard. Yet the tour costs less than six hundred dollars.

Remember, these optional tours are available for this low price ONLY through the Outagamie County Educational Pilgrimage. You can learn about them through our regular booklet. If you do not really have one in your possession, fill out the coupon below and mail it at once.

TORES CLOSE TODAY FOR THREE HOURS

Menasha—A three hour suspension of business, in observance of Good Friday, was made by Menasha companies and men today. Nearly all business in the city, including the telephone and public library, were closed from 1 to 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

MANY THEORIES ARE ADVANCED FOR DEATH OF WINNEBAGO FISH

Menasha—Several theories relative to the death of thousands of minnows in Lake Winnebago this winter have been advanced by Menasha sportsmen.

The lack of cracks in the ice, usually provided by extremely cold weather, prevented access to a sufficient supply of oxygen for the smaller fish during the past mild winter was the theory advanced by two Menasha fishermen. Minnows in shallower parts of the lake, are often trapped when the water recedes beneath the ice, they added.

The drought of last summer, although possibly creating shallow water traps, could hardly be blamed for the death of the thousands of fish found on the shore of the lake this spring, they stated.

The theory that the large quantities of floating vegetation in the lake late last summer was responsible for the phenomenon, was advanced early this week, but has been discarded by a number of sportsmen. Vegetation in large quantities, noted in previous years, has had little or no effect on fish life, they explained.

KONKEL BOWLS 273 IN CITY LEAGUE

Compiles 652 Series to Help Building Supply Five Win

Menasha—Alex Konkell, bowling with the Menasha Building and Supply squad, topped 273 pins for his single game honors in city league play on Hendy alleys Thursday evening. Konkell's 652 series, helped the Building Supply five to win two out of three games with the Blue Hills.

Walter Raleigh of the Shell Oils took high series honors with a 656 total, scoring single game counts of 243, 190 and 223. The Shell Oils won two of their three games with the Wheeler transfer quint.

Four teams scored triple wins in Thursday's competition. The Anderson Cafe team won three games from the Rippl Grocers; Acker's Nite Hawks took three from Kenny's Thirti Five; Storli's Five won three tilts with the Marathon Mills team, and the Menasha Hotel won three from the Banta Publishers.

After dropping the first two games to the Clifton Shop team, Schmitz's Red tops rallied to win the final game; while the Fahrbaeh agency scored a 2:33 total to win two out of three games with the crack Hendy Recreation five. The Gilbert Paper team won two out of three games with the Schlitz Brothers aggregation.

BOY STRUCK BY AUTO BRUISED ABOUT HEAD

Menasha—Richard Huelbeck, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Huelbeck, 743 Third-st, narrowly escaped serious injury when he was struck by an automobile, driven by R. J. Schultz, route 1, Appleton, on the intersection of Racine and First-st about 2:30 Thursday afternoon, according to police reports.

Schultz immediately took the boy to a doctor's office where examination revealed that he had sustained bruises about the head. The driver was not held.

THREE PAY FINES FOR GAME LAW VIOLATIONS

Menasha—Leo Erdman, Bernard Leigh and Louis Buettner of Berlin, arrested Thursday by Game Wardens Chase and Dunham, pleaded guilty Friday morning before Justice Chris Jensen of operating dip nets on the Eureka dam. Each was fined $50 and costs. The former two paid while Buettner was given until 6 o'clock Friday evening to raise the money. In lieu of the fine he will serve 30 days at Winnebago-co jail.

REPRIMAND BOYS FOR SHOOTING AT BIRDS

Menasha—A group of boys was brought to the police station Thursday evening for a reprimand by Chief Charles Watts for shooting birds along the lakeshore south of the city. The chief pointed out that arrests will follow should the boys continue this sport.

World's Tallest Building Gets Its Easter Hat!

AWARD DIPLOMAS TO HOME NURSING CLASS

Red Cross Certificates Issued to '32 Vocational School Students

Menasha—Red Cross certificates, certifying completion of a course in home nursing, offered by the Menasha vocational school during the past season, have been issued to 82 Menasha women, according to official records. Two classes, one completed in December and the other in March, were conducted under the direction of Mrs. Sigrid Dudley, school nurse.

Discussions of all phases of home nursing, including disease prevention, cleanliness, comfort, safety, management and care of communicable diseases in the home, care of babies, care of growing children and community health, were held and the term concluded by comprehensive examinations. The class, presented for the first time this year, met with marked success and will be repeated next year, authorities stated.

Those awarded diplomas at the close of the first term are Miss Esther Anderson, Miss Viola Lewandowski, Mrs. Ruth Moran, Mrs. Marie French, Miss Eleanor Scholl, Mrs. Mary Tenneson, Miss Irma Tyrvor, Mrs. Lucile Kratoch, Miss Marie Pugs, Miss Lucille Kolakoske, Miss Lucille Dombroski, Mrs. Mathilda Picard, Mrs. Anna Reihhauser, Mrs. Agnes St. Peter, Miss Theresa Morris and Mrs. Margaret Gore.

Second term graduates are Miss Adalyn Basing, Miss Ida Gmelner, Mrs. Geselle Olson, Mrs. Anna Reiser, Miss Anna Schultz, Mrs. Lorna Schwartz, Miss Julia Sloan, Miss Isabel Wilcox, Miss Grace Baldauf, Mrs. Katherine Sund, Miss Mae Bell, Mrs. John Hess, Miss Irene Fowkes, Mrs. Mayne Altmyer, Mrs. Hazel Smith and Mrs. Eda Duemke.

OBSERVE GOOD FRIDAY AT NEENAH CHURCHES

Neenah—Good Friday was observed here with special services in all churches. In observance of the day, stores, banks and public buildings were closed between noon and 3 o'clock to enable employees to attend the services.

All churches will observe Easter Sunday with special services. At First Methodist church, six congregations will gather at 6 o'clock in the morning for a sunrise service sponsored by the Young Peoples' society. A similar service will be conducted at St. Paul English Lutheran church, followed at 10:30 with the regular morning worship. Other churches will hold their regular Sunday services.

NEENAH MAN SLIGHTLY HURT IN CAR ACCIDENT

Neenah—Ben Schneider was cut about the face and bruised Thursday night when his car and a trailer attached to a Chicago-Green Bay freight truck collided as he attempted to pass it a few miles south of Van Dyne. The Schneider car was badly damaged and was left at Van Dyne for repairs. Mr. Schneider was returning from Milwaukee. He was passing the truck, which was headed south. Mr. Schneider's injuries were caused from glass from the broken windshield.

Impressive ceremonies in all churches.

There will be practically no business transacted on these islands until next Tuesday except what is absolutely essential. Next Monday, Easter Monday, is a legal holiday, and about the only shops which will be open for a short time Saturday are those which supply provisions in residential areas.

Everybody who was able to do so got out of London by Thursday for a long weekend and these holiday-makers numbered hundreds of thousands. They left in the atmosphere of murky dampness which continued to prevail today, offering little inducement to outside activities.

English holiday-makers are courageous souls, however, and, nothing daunted, they left well-raincoated and otherwise equipped to take the worst if it comes, although hoping for the best and brightest weather.

HONOR 'SLAVE OF BELLS'

Malines, Belgium — (AP)—At Sunday's Easter service the silver music of the bells of Malines floating across town and miles of flat surrounding country will sing a song of half a century's beloved slavery.

Fifty years ago today Adolphus Dony, official bell master of Malines for 30 years, suddenly went blind. It was inconceivable that an Easter Sunday should pass in this cradle of carillon playing without music from the chimes, but there was no one in Malines considered worthy of taking the blind master's place.

But Jeff Dony, the blind man's son, was studying engineering at the university and the youth had been instructed by his father in the mysteries of the belfry bells. He was summoned and he answered the call.

He didn't go back to the university after that far Easter day. He never went back. "I am the slave of my bells," he said, but his smile revealed that such slavery was welcome, bondage.

Since that time he has been always with the bells and has developed the old-fashioned primitive methods of bell ringing into a complete and refined art. He is called the bell master and has trained all the great carilloners. Sunday he will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of bell playing and the people of Malines are preparing to testify their appreciation and admiration for what he has done.

URGES ADOPTION OF COLLECTION SYSTEM

City Physician Says Health Board Advocates Garbage Plan

Neenah—Establishment of a municipal garbage collection system has been advocated for many years by the city health board according to Dr. Orrin Thompson, president. In a statement Friday urged the citizens to vote for the system in referendum next Tuesday.

"If the voters accept this referendum, the city council will decide on the manner in which the collection shall be made," Dr. Thompson said, "but the health board will see to it that the service at all times meets the requirements of the state and local boards of health."

The city health board has written to other cities in the state for information regarding city-wide collection systems. The date will be studied carefully by the board, which will stand ready to assist the city council in establishing an efficient and sanitary garbage collection system for Neenah if the voters approve the proposal. The per capita cost for such a system is so slight that there will practically be no additional tax burden, Dr. Thompson claims.

HOLD SUNRISE SERVICE AT EVANGELICAL CHURCH

Neenah—Easter services at First Evangelical church will begin at 6 o'clock Sunday morning with a sunrise service. The Rev. Alvin Rabchik will speak. Special music will be furnished by Mrs. Whipten, Miss Grace Wau and Miss Edith Meyer.

START WORK ON CITY TO HOUSE RADIO "WORLD"

Huge Structures in New York City to Cost 250 Million

BY LEMUEL F. PARTON
Copyright, 1931, By Cons. Press
New York—(CPA)—S. F. Rothafel radio and vaudeville impresario, today becomes mayor of "Rockefeller City," the projected $250,000,000 radio and television center in New York. The old brownstone front houses, between Fifth and Sixth-avenue and north of Forty-Eighth-st. 240 of which will be torn down, are already being toppled over. Work on the huge buildings, which will employ 25,000 men, will begin about June 1 and require two years for completion. About 125 skyscrapers take flight as the picture sinks into the old walls which once sheltered New York's elite.

A mild public controversy has arisen over what some critics assail as a decided overdose of ultra-modern architecture in the three stark, white central buildings and the oval "hat box" among them, tall, slab-like structures, devoid of cornice and all ornamental detail, and crashing into the sky-line like triumphant brasses in a Wagnerian opera.

Makes Explanation
While New York has been hospitable to the modernists among the architects, the "growing public clamor," as one newspaper calls it, has brought forth an explanation, if not a defense, from Raymond Hood, one of the architects. Mr. Hood insists that the sound utility which governed the drawing of the plans will blossom into enchanting beauty, once the buildings are finished, with mass and line serving adequately all aesthetic needs. As things stand now, the "city" will be completed as designed.

Since the public display of the plaster-model several weeks ago, midtown civic associations have been at work on ambitious plans for adjustment to traffic distribution and other problems arising from the sudden concentration of additional thousands of people in three city blocks. The central building alone, of the three structures, will include 2,000,000 square feet of floor space, larger by 150,000 square feet than the space of the Empire State building. Sixty-story high, it will be the largest but not the tallest building in the world.

The Fifth-Avenue association will meet April 8 to consider plans, already drawn, for extending the underground labyrinth of Rockefeller city southward about one-fourth of a mile to the Grand Central station.

Connect 2 Cities
The plans call for shops, arcades, promenades and parking space. This underground city would connect with two other submerged cities, under the radio center. One will be at the 17-foot and the other at the 34-foot level, housing stores, arcades, garages and traffic lanes. Each new skyscraper has driven midtown nearer to a plunge underground. It is apparent that, at last, New York is to have a cave town bigger than a fair sized village and costing a lot more to build.

In the radio center, each of the 30 broadcasting and television studios will be hung by wires, like a bird cage, inside another room. Between the walls of the suspended room and the fixed walls around it will be thick layers of rubber and felt. Lead doors will be two and one-half inches thick. In the largest, central building there will be no windows in the first fifteen stories.
Workmen are leveling their crowbars at the old Kane residence, designed by Stanford White and assessed last year at $1,000,000. Over one store, which refuses to surrender lease, the central buildings will be so constructed that the encysted structure can be neatly obliterated and the scar healed by new steel and stone when its lease expires five years hence. Space has been reserved in the center for the Metropolitan opera, but whether it will accept the site has not yet been decided.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS PLANNING CAMPAIGN

Washington—(AP)—A word of counsel from the executive director of the Republican national committee will start a group of Young Republicans on their movement to organize young voters for 1932.

Robert H. Lucas will be the principal speaker at the organization meeting of the workers on April 9. He will talk on Republicanism and Party organization Among Young Men and Women.

Douglas Whitlock of Indiana, who is directing the movement for the National Capitol Republican club, in announcing Lucas as the speaker, said the national committee was strongly supporting the organization.

Key men selected from 37 states to comprise the nucleus of a nationwide organization will attend the first meeting.

Organization plans of the Young Republicans contemplate the selection of three young men and three young women from each state except the so-called solid south to comprise the foundation for soliciting young voters to the party ticket in the next campaign.

Membership will be open to all Young Republicans but active organization work will fall on the selected group of 200.

CARD REPLACES COP IN "NO SMOKING" DRIVE

New York—(AP)—The "courtesy card" has replaced the policeman as a means of enforcing the "no smoking" edict in the subway.

The practice has been to have officers stationed about. When a smoker appeared, the officer would speak harshly (perhaps) and sometimes issue a summons. The new method is to hand each smoker a card. On it is printed, "No Smoking—Please."

Jewish Leader To Return In Triumph From Palestine

BY PAUL HARRISON

New York—When Dr. Judah L. Magnes left this country eleven years ago for Palestine, there were some who said: "There goes a man whose brilliant future lies behind him."

It didn't sound paradoxical then. Magnes had been rabbi of the largest and most influential Jewish congregation in America. He had won world-wide attention as a liberal and a champion of human rights. He had proven himself the unquestioned leader of Jewish nationalism. All this he left behind to accept the chancellorship of a then non-existent university in barren Palestine. And there were many enemies who hoped that he would find there, if not actual failure, at least a harmless obscurity.

The last laugh belongs to Dr. Magnes. He is on his way back to America, more powerful, his friends say, than when he left. He will be received enthusiastically at the very temple from which, because of his strict tenets of Judaism, he once was virtually ousted. There is to be a country-wide celebration of the sixth anniversary of the Hebrew University in Palestine, which he has organized as a prime factor in the progress of Zionism.

Einstein Aided Work
His school is the only one of university rank in the Near East. About fifty scientists and scholars comprise its staff. The first chairman of its academic council was Albert Einstein, and one of those whose job it is to uphold scientific standards is Sigmund Freud.

First a graduate research institution, the university now offers courses for undergraduates. Its institutes of chemistry, natural history, mathematics, physics and microbiology are devoting themselves to problems which confront all Palestine. It already has gone far toward stamping out the diseases of desert and swamp. It is bringing modern agriculture, irrigation, electric power and reclamation to the once poor, neglected land.

There was no such thing as a Zionist crusade when Judah Magnes, originally of Oakland, Cal., entered the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati at the age of 21. He wanted only to become a Rabbi and Teacher, and received that degree in 1900. An athlete, tall, handsome and friendly, he also had distinguished himself as an orator and scholar. There was many a pulpit waiting for him then, but he chose instead to take a degree of Doctor of Philosophy at Heidelberg.

Was Nationalist
It was in Europe that his destiny was molded. There he came in contact with two distinct groups of Jewry—one frankly in favor of racial assimilation, the other militantly national. Magnes found himself believing that only by living his own cultural and religious life could the Jew hope to aid himself and world civilization. He was a Zionist without knowing it. As yet he was not concerned with the establishment of a legally guaranteed Jewish homeland in Palestine.

Back in America, he taught for a year at a rabbinical school, but found he had entirely too many original ideas for conservative instruction. Then he became the rabbi of a fashionable New York temple, where he preached the national Judaism to a congregation that didn't know what he was talking about, and wouldn't have taken him seriously if it had.

But the members did notice, with resentment, that the empty pews were being filled by Jews from the ghetto, folk of East European origin who were far below the social standards of their set. They were there to listen to the new leader of Zionism. Then, adding to the unrest of his fashionable followers, Dr. Magnes became a fighter as well as a theorist. He organized, and led a parade through New York as a demonstration against the slaughter of Jews in Russia. He raised large sums to provide the Russian Jewish defense organizations with arms and ammunition. In scores of meetings he brought the cause of Israel before the American people.

Led Largest Temple
Criticized by members of his temple, Magnes tried to resign. Instead, he was offered, and finally accepted, the pulpit of Emanuel, with the largest, wealthiest congregation in America. But he surrendered none of his interest in the Jewish masses, on whom he knew the dream of a new Zion depended. Palestine never would be re-peopled by millionaires.

A clash with the trustees of the temple finally brought his resignation, and Dr. Magnes soon declared himself through with preaching. The next few years he quietly devoted to organization and education among the Jews of New York. With the World War, he bounced again into the national spotlight, this time as a pacifist. Government agents followed him everywhere, and his arrest often was rumored. Patriotic societies denounced him as "pro-German" and "bolshewist." His own people fumed that he was casting doubt upon the loyalty of all Jews.

But the war that he opposed gave Palestine back to Israel, and Magnes was not slow to take advantage of it. He went abroad. It was significant that "a people without a land and a land without a people" for nearly 2000 years should have conceived the idea of a university as one of the first steps of Palestine's rehabilitation.

Influence For Peace
Dr. Magnes directed the organization and became the chancellor when it was dedicated by Lord Balfour in 1925. There are no limitations of sex or creed, and there are Arab students as well as Jews. The ill-feeling between these traditional enemies is declared to be lessening under Magnes' influence. More than a year ago he came in for widespread criticism because he advised making peace with the Arabs instead of depending on British force or interference by any government. But subsequent events have borne out his views.

While in America, for a stay of at least three months, Dr. Magnes plans to visit the chief colleges and universities to study their organization, particularly in the departments of sciences and oriental studies.

NEGRO SLAIN WHILE WALKING WITH WIFE

New York—(AP)—As Paul Quarles, a Negro, strolled along a Harlem street, Thursday accompanied by his wife and his dog, a mutt in a brown fedora called out, "Hey, Paul!" and shot him in the back. He died a few minutes later in Harlem hospital.

Police said Quarles used to be engaged in the Harlem policy racket, and they are investigating the possibility that he was slain by someone who feared he might be a witness in the Seabury investigation.

The killer, accompanied by a man of whom Mrs. Quarles could give no description, escaped.

WAR'S OVER BUT SHE'S READY TO SAVE FOOD

Washington—(AP)—The World War may be over, but a La Junta, Colo., woman still is willing to join the campaign to conserve food.

The agriculture department yesterday received from her a signed coupon of the type that appeared in newspapers and magazines when President Hoover was food administrator. The letter was dated March 25.

U. S. BUREAU PROBES PUFF SHEET SCHEME

Seek to Acquaint Business Men, Firms With Plans of Publishers

Business men and firms throughout the country are being cautioned about a "Puff Sheet" scheme, according to a statement issued this week by the National Better Business Bureau.

Because of high pressure methods, the bureau points out, many men who believe the "puff sheets" to be legitimate business magazines, are sold hundreds of copies before they have to investigate. Although they may later discover the true nature of the publication, they often pay up rather than become involved with the publishers, it was stated. Investigating a number of "Puff sheets," the bureau has found that they have high sounding names which often closely approach that of some well known and reputable business publication. It also is generally found that they are not sold at news stands, have no second class mailing privilege, and go to press only when a sufficient number of "puffs" have been sold to insure a profit. They often carry no advertising and have no circulation except that purchased by those "written up." The investigations show that activities of the publishers are national. Some have branch offices in as many as six cities.

THINKS NOAH'S ARK STRANDED CLOSE TO OUR EASTER SUNDAY

London—(AP)—Stranding of Noah's ark is believed by Col. C. Molesworth, who has done considerable research in Semitic sources, to have occurred on the 17th day of Nisam, very close to our own Easter Sunday.

In a recent speech before the Victoria Institute, Colonel Molesworth said he deduced, because of reference to dates appearing in the Biblical account of the flood, that Noah must have kept a log.

"The narrative of the flood throws considerable light on the calendar in use in early times," he said. "Five specific dates are mentioned, as well as five periods of time varying from seven to 150 days. Such exact dating does not again recur in the Bible for over 10,000 years, until the Exodus."

Col. Molesworth said the period of 150 days was mentioned as equivalent to five months and he assumed the month was fixed at 30 days with dead reckoning utilized on days when it stormed.

"The months had not yet been named," he said, "and the system of recognizing them by numerals was more widely used. However, if we assume, with Josephus, that the months of Noah's life coincided with those of the calendar year, the ark was stranded on the 17th of Nisam, or consequently, very close to our Easter day."

WOMEN AND CHILDREN QUIT QUAKE DISTRICT

Marines Remain in Managua Guard Against Possible Bandit Attacks

Managua (AP)—Two hundred American wives and children bade farewell today to husbands and fathers of the United States Marine Corps as airplanes began their evacuation from Managua, devastated by earthquake Tuesday.

Two American Ford planes and one Fairchild of the Pan-American Airways, with possibly a Sikorsky later, were assigned to take the American refugees to Corinto, Pacific coast port, where some will remain but most will embark for the United States.

The marines are remaining in Managua, continually reinforced by details which have been pulled in from outlying sections, and are superintending the tremendous task of relief, but in view of the lack of accommodations and possibility of an epidemic it was thought best that the American children should leave the stricken area.

Although the marine officers believe it impossible that gangs of insurgents or bandits would attack the city in its present extremity, their watchfulness was made apparent last night when a telegram was received from Concepcion, 15 miles away that a bandit force was advancing on the city.

Everybody at the marine aviation field was ordered out, and civilians sleeping in the open nearby were ordered to report for arms and ammunition so as to be able to defend themselves. A few minutes later it was ascertained that the force referred to was 50 miles away and everybody was allowed to go back to sleep.

There were constant reports yesterday from natives reaching Managua, from the outlands that bandits were approaching the city. (A Mexico City dispatch said that Dr. Pedro Jose Zepeda, foreign representative of the insurgent chief, Augustino Sandoval, had received a telegram from Sandoval stating that all hostilities against the marines were being called off during the crisis created by the earthquake). Marines last night shot two natives caught looting the ruins.

To Rebuild City

Government officials insist that Managua will be rebuilt, but today it appeared that the capital would be removed, at least temporarily to a place located about half way between Managua and Granada. It was believed that if moved to Leon, the liberal stronghold, or Granada, conservative city, it would cause discontent. It was understood that the National Bank of Nicaragua would be removed to Granada today.

The blaze in Managua, which has never been completely under control since the earthquake Tuesday forenoon, shifted by a change in the wind during the night so that the entire northwestern section of the city was threatened.

Due undoubtedly to presence of the marines here relief has proceeded probably more satisfactorily than in any similar disaster of its kind. Some difficulty is being experienced in getting sufficient water for inhabitants, such as is available being polluted, but considerable help is being dispensed by the Nicaraguan brewery, which remained intact.

Planes Carry Food

A large amount of food has been brought here by airplanes from Panama, Salvador, Guatemala, and Costa Rica, and it is believed there is sufficient here to care for immediate needs.

Vaccination and inoculation against small pox, typhus and typhoid is proceeding. Marine corps and naval medical corps officers are treating the injured. It was estimated that 150 emergency operations were carried out yesterday, the work frequently being interrupted by new quakes. Only chemical sterilization was possible.

As bodies were recovered from the ruins estimates of the death toll are being revised upward. Col. E. L. Bradman, in charge of emergency work, now reckons the number of dead at about 2,000. Other estimates on the total run as high as 5,000 dead. The bodies are being buried in some instances but in others being taken to a large fissure outside the city and burned.

OFFERS BILL RAISING AUTO TONNAGE TAX

Madison (AP)—A bill increasing the tonnage tax on automobile transportation companies from one mill to four mills on vehicles with pneumatic tires and 10 mills instead of two on cars carrying solid rubber tires was introduced in the assembly yesterday by Assemblyman John Ober, Milwaukee.

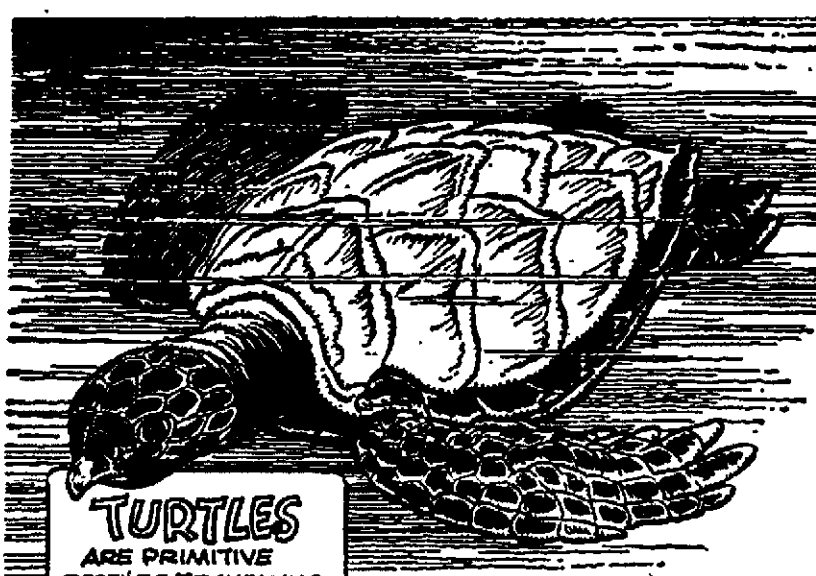

Other bills introduced include:

- By Westfall—requiring places of amusement to have one projectionist over 21 years of age in charge of every motion picture projector in use.
- By committee on insurance and banking—requiring action against bankers to be instituted within 30 days after return of the check to the depositor.
- By committee on labor—authorizing the state athletic commission to control wrestling within the state.
- By committee on commerce and manufactures—extending to June 1 without penalty, time of payment of taxes on real estate assessed in 1930.
- By committee on insurance and banking—appropriating $15,000 annually to the commissioner of aerostatics for the execution of aircraft accidents within the state.

The assembly concurred in the joint resolution originating in the senate providing that 4-H clubs be not affected by the proposed reduction in appropriation to the Board of Registration of the university for agricultural extension work.

Holy Week Meditations

(This is the fifth of six articles prepared by ministers of Appleton churches for publication during Holy Week. The sixth and last article, prepared by the Rev. R. A. Garrison, pastor of Memorial Presbyterian church, will be printed tomorrow.)

THE CRUCIFIXION, AND ITS SIGNIFICANCE IN THE MATTER OF REDEMPTION

By Rev. D. E. Rossetman
Pastor of Trinity English Lutheran Church

"And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto Me." John 12:32.

"The Lord is in His holy temple; let all the earth keep silence before Him." Let these words of the prophet, Habakkuk, be the language of our hearts as we enter the Most Holy Place of the Gospel history.

The great Day of Atonement, the high priest entered the Most Holy Place in the temple, was the most solemn of all days to the Hebrews. After the high priest had divested himself of all his costly robes and jewels, thoroughly bathed, and clothed himself in a simple white linen robe, he took the vessel containing the sacrificial blood, entered the Holy of Holies, and sprinkled this blood on the Ark of the Covenant.

He then came out to the people, and Jehovah's name, announced grace and forgiveness to every penitent soul.

When Jesus Christ was lifted up on Calvary's Cross, He offered His own blood to the Father as the perfect atoning sacrifice for the sins and misdeeds of mankind, and today, as in ages gone by, and in ages to come, He announces grace and forgiveness to every believing and penitent soul.

The fullness of the Gospel story of the crucifixion of Christ manifests the supreme importance which the apostles assigned to the death of our Lord. It is the thing about Christ which attracts and holds the profoundest interest of all classes of people. Here is a love that is greater than mother-love. To feel this wonderful revelation of the divine-human personality of Christ is of the greatest value to us. To hear those wondrous utterances, known as "the Seven Words from the Cross," should be enough to break the most impenitent heart.

"And sitting down they watched Him there," is recorded of the guard sent to supervise the crucifixion of our Lord. Since that day, all the world has been observing, with increasing tenderness, the scene of that supreme sacrifice.

The prediction of Jesus is being rapidly fulfilled, "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto Me." Instead of being degraded by the cross, He has been lifted before the eyes of all the world. Gethsemane and Golgotha are the places to which all Christians turn with reverence and faith.

The cross is the great historic symbol, and the crucifixion the great central fact, of Christianity. Everywhere humanity, longing for soul-peace, and hungering for sympathy and compassion, turns wistfully and trustfully toward Calvary, and looks upon the cross, and the smitten figure of Him, who died to atone for man's misdeeds, and prove God's love for man. When George Matheson, as a young man was losing his eyesight, and forsaken by the beautiful young woman to whom he was engaged, he turned to that scene on Calvary and poured out his soul to the Master, when he wrote:

"O Love that will not let me go. I rest my weary soul in Thee. And again, 'O Cross that lifted up my head, I dare not ask to fly from Thee; I lay in dust life's glory dead. And from the ground there blossoms red Life that shall endure be.'"

King Constantine beheld the cross in the sky, and exulted in the prospect for victory for his armies. The Crusaders saw it gleaming above their heads and were inspired to move dauntlessly onward toward the

FRUIT, VEGETABLE PRICES UNCHANGED ON PRODUCE STANDS

Large Variety of Fresh Products Available to Housewives

Prices of fresh fruits and vegetables on Appleton produce stands are the same this weekend as they have been in the past few weeks, according to dealers. A few vegetables have disappeared from the market, due to the lateness of the season. The fruit market is the same as it was a week ago.

The vegetable mart is quoted as follows: Green beans, 30 cents a pound; new carrots, three bunches for 25 cents; new beets, 10 cents a bunch; celery, 15 to 20 cents a bunch; head lettuce, 3 to 15 cents a head; radishes, 5 cents a bunch; green onions, 5 and 10 cents a bunch; spinach, two pounds for 25 cents; cucumbers, 20 to 25 cents each; new cabbage, 5 cents a pound.

Tomatoes are still selling at prices ranging from 20 to 30 cents a pound; new potatoes, three pounds for 25 cents; green peppers, 20 to 40 cents each; cauliflower, 20 to 40 cents a head; garlic, 25 cents a pound; all winter skin onions, 7 cents a pound; chives, 25 cents a pot; parsley, 10 cents a bunch; and red cabbage, 5 cents a pound.

Sweet potatoes are holding out for 12 cents a pound; alligator pears, 35 cents each; Spanish onions, two pounds for 25 cents; celery cabbage, 20 to 25 cents each; plantain, 15 to 20 cents a pound.

Rutabagas are selling at six pounds for 25 cents; parsnips, three pounds for 25 cents; vegetable okra, two bunches for 25 cents; celery root, 5 and 10 cents each; asparagus, 20 to 25 cents a bunch; fresh peas, 20 cents a pound; mushrooms, 50 cents a pound; turnips, 10 cents a bunch, and horseradish, 35 cents a pound.

The fruit market is quoted as follows: Limes, 50 cents a dozen; coconuts, 10 to 20 cents each; California oranges, 15 to 20 cents a dozen; bananas, three pounds for 25 cents; Florida oranges, 69 cents a dozen; lemons, 29 to 35 cents a dozen; pears, 5 cents each; apples, three pounds for 25 cents and down; strawberries, 25 cents a pint; cranberries, 25 cents a pound and pineapple, 35 to 45 cents each.

24,000 STAND SILENT IN CHICAGO STADIUM IN ROCKNE TRIBUTE

Chicago (AP)—A stirring tribute was paid to Knute Rockne at the Chicago stadium last night.

At the conclusion of the eighth bout between amateur boxers from New York and Chicago, the lights were turned out, with the exception of the flood lights in the organ loft. The great crowd of 24,000 stood, silent.

Then Ralph Barton Emerson, the organist, played the "Notre Dame Victory March," but it was not the defiant march that has been sung by the fighting bands of Notre Dame on many frost bitten gridirons. Emerson played the stirring air in slow tempo. Then a sextette of lads from Notre Dame sang the chorus. When they sang, in slow measured time, the words "Shake down the thunder from the sky," there was a low murmur.

At the conclusion of the song, the sextette, yelled, slowly, "Yes, Rockne."

The lights flashed on. The crowd was silent for an instant longer. Then the bouts were resumed.

HODGINS INSPECTS THIRTY-SIX SCALES

Thirty-six scales were inspected last month by Joseph Hodgins, city sealer of weights and measures. Fifteen were adjusted, six were condemned for repairs, and four were condemned. He also made 30 visits to various establishments where he found 302 weights and measures correct and 32 incorrect. He inspected 12 computing scales, three wagon scales, 35 gasoline pumps, and investigated three complaints.

HORN PROPERTY HELD AT $5,000 BY CITY

The price of the Horn property on Wisconsin-ave, owned by the city, was set at $5,000 by the board of public works at a meeting Thursday.

A prospective buyer wishes to acquire the property as the site for a public works station.

The acre of station was purchased by the city for $7,000 from Mrs. Henry Horn several years ago when the construction of the Wisconsin-ave subway necessitated a strip of land at this point.

By the Associated Press

WISN's Happy Newdays have promised a new series of music and songs during April, and present twenty minutes of harmony to prove it at 6 p. m.

One of America's youngest opera celebrities will be heard when Barro-Hill, baritone of the Chicago Civic Opera company, sings the part of Christ in the Du Bois cantata, "Seven Last Words of Christ," over WTMJ and NBC stations at 8:30 o'clock. Still in his early twenties, Barro-Hill has, during his past three years in opera, reached a position of national prominence.

Arthur Pryor and his band will bring more march music over WISN and Columbia at 10:15 which will be followed at 10:30 by Ben Bernie, the "Old Maestro" with a thirty-minute program of dance music.

Vivienne Segal, favorite of musical comedy and screen, will sing three songs as guest artist over WISN and the NBC stations at 7 p. m., accompanied by Nat Brunell's orchestra.

Three orchestral programs are offered over WISN the first from Glen Welty and his orchestra, and the second from Attebery and his chivalry at 8:30 p. m. The third broadcast will be the regular Attebery feature at 11:20.

Selections appropriate to Good Friday and the Holy Week will be presented by the concert orchestra and Cavaliers in the program at 7 o'clock over WTMJ and NBC stations. The orchestra will play "Ave Maria" and Cesar Franck's "Pavane Angelique" while Jessica Dragonette will sing "Christ Went Up into the Hills" as soprano solo.

Saturday's Features

Ben Alley, tenor, will sing over WISN and Columbia at 7:15. He will be accompanied by the colorful organist, Ann Leat.

Glen Welty and his orchestra, will be heard from the grand dining room of the Milwaukee Athletic club, at 7 and also at 8 o'clock.

INSPIRED FARMERS NEEDED, SAYS DEAN

Madison (AP)—Rural Wisconsin must be populated by "eager-minded, disciplined, and inspired farmers," if it is to get the most benefits of research and extension work in the college of agriculture, Chris L. Christensen, new dean of the college, told the student body yesterday.

"That is why it is important to insure to the students a teaching that is as good as we can make it," he said, "a teaching that is more than technical, a teaching that inspires as well as informs, a teaching that produces socially minded citizens as well as successful farmers."

Dean Christensen said the prime function of the college is to help Wisconsin achieve a successful agriculture and a satisfactory rural life by means of research, extension and resident teaching.

NO PLAN ARRANGED FOR HAVING COUNTIES SELL AUTO LICENSES

Legislature Won't Take Up Matter Until After Referendum

Although Outagamie-co and Wisconsin voters next Tuesday will express their opinion on a proposal to issue automobile licenses by counties, it is not definitely known just how the system will function if it is established, according to John Hantschel, county clerk. Although the referendum is to take place, no action has been taken by legislature providing for the new system so it is impossible to determine whether the counties will be reimbursed and to what extent for their expense in issuing licenses, Mr. Hantschel pointed out.

The Outagamie-co board at its November meeting went on record favoring the county system providing the state returns to each county at least 40 cents for each license issued. Mr. Hantschel estimates that three girls would be necessary to handle the work in Outagamie-co, where about 12,000 licenses are issued annually. Mr. Hantschel said if the state returned 40 cents for each license, the county would receive $4,500. He believed this amount would easily take care of any expense the county might incur.

Oscar J. Schmlege, assemblyman from the first Outagamie-co district, said he is certain that if the referendum carries, a bill providing for the change also would provide reimbursement of the counties.

Mike Mack, chairman of the county board, said he favors the proposed county system because he believes it would be less expensive.

It was explained by the Wisconsin Legislative librarian that a number of bills have been introduced by title providing for county issuance of licenses and one bill is practically ready for action by the legislature. It was intimated that several of the supporters of the movement to have licenses issued by counties prefer to have the work done by the county treasurer rather than the county clerk.

It Is Said--

That Sheriff John Lappen next year, will refuse to summon a panel of jurors to sit in a case which starts on April 1. Ordinarily, the sheriff said, it takes from an hour to an hour and a half to summon a jury panel for duty; but when he called the jurors who were to report for duty on April 1 he found an almost impossible task on his hands. Practically everyone of the persons he talked to accused him of being a "friend" who was trying to "pull" an April fool joke.

"Never again," said Sheriff Lappen.

To The Voters of Outagamie County

On Tuesday, April 7th, the voters will elect a Judge of the Municipal Court to serve for a term of six years. I am a candidate for that position. I am 46 years of age. My twelve years as teacher, principal and County Superintendent of Schools, my thirteen years as an attorney, my work as your assessor of incomes and for six years as your District Attorney, have given me a broad experience in dealing with the public.

During my six years as District Attorney the criminal work increased immensely. It is a trying position where the public bring their complaints, and where cases must be carefully prepared for trial and some for appeal to the Supreme Court. As an example, the Dietzler-Bedore murder trial required weeks of preparation and was one of the first where the science of ballistics was used to identify the weapon. Many new laws, new taxation problems and new highway laws increased the District Attorney's work with the committees and the sessions of the County Board.

I received during these six years, only a modest salary and asked for no increase in salary and after six years of this work, I did not again seek reelection.

I am not supported in this campaign by any group, committee or clique. I expect to get my support from the general public who know of my work and with whom I have worked in the performance of my duties.

Yours truly,

JOHN A. LONSDORF

Two Roosevelts May Seek Office On Opposing Tickets

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—This report that President Hoover wants Governor Theodore Roosevelt to run with him on the Republican ticket in the 1932 campaign takes on a quaintly cockeyed aspect the more you think of it.

But it does suggest the amusing possibility of a Governor Roosevelt on the Republican ticket and a Governor Roosevelt on the Democratic ticket.

And if a Hoover-Roosevelt ticket were elected and Mr. Hoover were to get sick and tired enough of his job to quit, there would be a Theodore Roosevelt again, president of the United States, stepping in from the vice presidency.

Third Term Issue

And then who could be sure that Theodore Roosevelt wouldn't be elected in 1936 to succeed himself and then run again in 1940 or 1944, thereby raising again the "third term" issue which was used against his father in 1912?

Incidentally, hasn't the present Theodore Roosevelt also a son named Theodore? Well, never mind that, but the original Theodore was first elected vice president and Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was Democratic candidate for the job in 1920.

It's hard to stop musing on the possibility that this T. R. might be the Republican vice presidential candidate. The Republicans have their convention first and wouldn't it seem as if the Democrats were just a bunch of copycats if they came along and nominated another Roosevelt? Anyway, one can just hear the Republicans yelling "Copycats!" all through the campaign, which would be about as good a talking point as a political party usually has. And all of us, to keep our Roosevelts straight would have to be calling them nothing but "Teddy" and "Frank" for months. Also, what a fine somersault the present political dope would take if "Teddy" got a nomination and "Frank" got none!

Puzzle Democrats

Certainly a lot of Democrats would get all mixed up and worried if they had to nominate a Roosevelt after the Republicans had nominated one; some would be bound to feel that the party was being seriously handicapped.

But there is at least one definite point that can be made from the rumor itself—a rumor current here which says Hoover went to Porto Rico partly to call national attention to Roosevelt in order to test the country's reaction to him as a vice presidential possibility.

The point is that "Young Teddy" finally and concededly has begun to amount to something. Which is more than most people ever expected, after observing his early attempts. There was a very widespread opinion that the young man would never resemble his famous father in anything but name and carefully cultivated mannerisms, that he had been unimpressive as a New York gubernatorial candidate and "lame duck" assistant secretary of the navy and that he was being unloaded on the

PLANE TRAGEDY MAY BE TRACED TO BIT OF ICE

Theory Is Ice Shattered Propeller Blade in Kansas Crash.

Washington—(AP)—A small piece of ice may have sent America's most famous coach, Knute Rockne, and seven others to death in Tuesday's airplane crash.

Findings of department of commerce investigators, made known in a statement last night, showed the death plane may have fallen with a wing section rent asunder by vibration after ice shattered a propeller blade.

The right outboard engine, on the side of the broken wing, was found with its three propeller blades and hub missing though the safety nut normally holding them in place remained on the end of the crankshaft.

"Investigators were advised," the statement said, "that ice had collected on the entering edge of the wing and it is assumed that ice had also collected around the propeller hub."

"It is possible that a substantial piece of ice may have broken loose from the hub and been struck by one of the propeller blades, resulting in its breakage."

"The resultant shock to the entire struts which extend to the fuselage, thus opening the structure and releasing the mail stored therein."

"The engineering section of the aeronautical branch has calculated that there would be a load in excess of 100,000 pounds upon the engine and the engine mount should one blade of the propeller break off at normal cruising speed."

Three Blades Not Found
"The investigation indicates that this load snapped the wing off and then almost simultaneously the propeller hub broke, releasing the other two blades. Late today, these three blades and the hub had not been found although a searching party has been searching the country for miles around the accident."

Investigators assumed that something severed the wing with little or no warning on the theory that there was no serious difficulty at the last radio report, two minutes before the time of the crash as fixed by witnesses of three of the victims, and eyewitness reports of a wing section floating away from the plane in its fatal dive near Bazaar, Kas.

In reconstructing the picture, investigators found mail and mail sacks on the ground for one-quarter of a mile from the wing section to

JUNIOR CHAMBER TO GIVE DINNER DANCE

Plans have been completed for a dinner dance to be given by the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Crystal room of Conway hotel at 7 o'clock next Monday evening. Music for dancing is to be furnished by Tom Temple's orchestra.

Guests are expected to be present from Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Oshkosh and other neighboring cities. The committee in charge is composed of John Miller, chairman, Francis Rooney, Norman Dragnet, Allen Gallagher, Robert Cox, William and Jack Coel, Harold Finger, A. P. Jensen and Wilmer Jenner-John.

Several feature events are being arranged for entertainment program, according to Mr. Miller.

the airplane, with one mail sack close to the wing.

"This indicated," the statement said, "that the fuselage must have been damaged while in the air since the mail was stored in a compartment under and behind the pilot's seat."

The statement said the findings were informal and not to be construed as official.

It was concluded that the airplane had been operated entirely in accordance with air commerce regulations; that daily inspections were satisfactorily made; that the airplane was, to the best of everyone's knowledge, thoroughly airworthy; and that no blame can be attached to the pilots.

Expect Delegates from 437
Schools at Convention at Madison

Madison—(AP)—Featured by leading state educators, the annual joint convention of the Wisconsin Association of School Boards and the Wisconsin City Superintendents will open here April 11 with an attendance expected to exceed 500 persons.

Delegates are to come from 437 schools in the state, 91 city superintendents and a group from rural school boards.

Sessions, which open Friday, April 1, will be presided over by Dr. F. T. Clark, Waupun, and persons attending the convention will hear addresses by Dr. W. A. Ganfield, president of Carroll college, Waukesha; Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of Lawrence college, Appleton, and E. G. Doudna, secretary of the state board of normal school regents.

Under the chairmanship of Sen. E. J. Roethe, Fennimore, who was chairman of the legislative interim committee on education, speakers will be Dr. Silas Evans, president of Ripon college and A. J. Glover, member of the Ft. Atkinson school board. Round table forums also are planned under leadership of G. F. Loomis, Kenosha, and B. E. McCormick, Madison, secretary of the Wisconsin Teachers' association.

"Business Depression and Economic Recovery." Members of the school board association will hear Saturday address by John Callahan, state superintendent of public instruction; Miss Stella Stillson, of the Milwaukee State Teachers college, and Dr. C. A. Harper, president of the state board of health. For the city superintendents, the Saturday session will have addresses by Mr. Callahan and Dr. Warren Weaver, of the University of Wisconsin.

Other speakers on the two-day program include Herbert H. Helble, Appleton; J. T. Giles, of the state department of public instruction; H. H. Murphy, Highland; I. A. Vannatta, Sturgeon Bay and H. H. Thelsen, Fond du Lac.

MEYER ELECTED HEAD OF VALLEY MENTORS ASSN.

Lutheran Teachers Conclude
Three Day Meeting at

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—F. W. Meyer, Fond du Lac, was elected president of the Fox River Valley Association of Lutheran School Teachers which closed its convention here yesterday. The meeting was attended by about 200 teachers. A. H. Hoffman, Shiocton, was elected vice president, and J. P. Poppy, Manitowish, was chosen secretary. The next convention will be held in Fond du Lac. Lectures, papers, practical questions pertaining to teaching and the answers to these questions occupied the time. Lectures were given by Mr. Brown on church music and by George Klecker on home study for students.

Methods and the conduct of classes was the chief subject for discussion Tuesday. Miss Augusta Koch, Oshkosh, gave a demonstration of Bible study. Mrs. Marie Sievert, also of Oshkosh, demonstrated practical lessons in arithmetic.

At Wednesday's meeting the time was taken up with the business meeting and the election of officers. Miss Letzke of Two Rivers and P. Vandenberg of Green Bay, gave lessons in hygiene and arithmetic, and at a later session papers were given by Emil Fuesterhaus of Montello and G. Wachter of Manitowish. The talks were devoted to geography and Bible history.

2 NEW LONDON HOMES CHANGE OWNERSHIP

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—Mrs. M. and Thomas Fitzgerald, who for the past two years have made their home on Cook street will move to the Wright home on Dorset. After a number of improvements in the interior have been made Mrs. and Mr. Knapstein will move to their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lehman have purchased a house from Charles Meitz, on Main street. They have already taken possession of their new home.

William Knapstein, Maple Creek farmer has purchased the interest of his brother, John Knapstein in a 120-acre farm which has been managed by the brothers. John Knapstein has moved to a farm near William Frank, Sr. and took immediate possession. The farm for several years was operated by Mrs. Lena Rhode and her son, Mrs. Rhode will make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Hanke in this city.

LEAGUE LEADERS LOSE TO HEINZ CHAMPIONS

(Special to Post-Crescent)
New London—Heinz's Champions took another game away from Bordons Thursday evening when they defeated the league leaders by a 7-6 score. Both Huntley and Wells pitched good ball with the Bordons inflicting the game for Wells. In the second game, although Bordons had 14 strikeouts, the Legion lost to the Poolchackers by a score of 6-1. Westphal for the winners had plenty of steam on his ball, getting twelve strikeouts and keeping the hits well scattered.

At present, Bordons are in first place with nine games won and four lost. Heinz are second with seven won and six lost. The cue ball boys and the veterans are tied with five won and eight lost. Next week's games will be played on Wednesday evening with Heinz and the Legion meeting in the first game while the Poolchackers and Bordons will meet in the second game.

RAILWAY FERRY
London—A train ferry across the English Channel between England and France is being considered by an English ferry company and a French railroad. In this way shipments of goods from France to England will be speeded up through the elimination of unloading material from railroad cars and putting it on board channel steamers. The ferry will operate between Kent and Calais.

TRUCK ISSUE TO BE DECIDED BY BRILLION VOTE

Proponents of Motor Service
Claim More Material Can Be Hauled

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Forest Junction—Teams of horses versus motor trucks in the distribution of road surfacing material will be one of the issues confronting town of Brillion voters at the annual town meeting next Tuesday.

Opinion is divided between proponents of the motorized service, who claim that more material can be more satisfactorily distributed thereby at a lower cost, and those who are reluctant to abandon the horse system because it gives profitable employment to draft animals on the farms when these are not needed for other activities. The motorized service was given a satisfactory trial last season in the town road districts most remote from the crushing plant.

What is believed by the town board to be the gist of the contention has been embodied in their recommendation to the annual meeting that a two-mile highway tax be levied if the old system be adhered to, or a one-mile tax plus $300 for grading if motor trucks be employed.

The town supervisors, meeting here this week as board of audit disposed of final claims and prepared the annual report. Of town expenditures amounting to $22,210.01, $18,723.01 was invested in roads and streets. Three new pieces of equipment, a tractor, a snow plow, and a steel gravel bin, and a supply of snow fence are included in the figures.

Including the purchase price of the snow plow, snow work for the year is classified at $2,650.87. Two trips of the tractor and plow were made during the season at an average operating cost of slightly less than one cent per mile. Nine cases of contagious disease in the town during a two-year period were cared for by the health department at a cost of $131.75, according to a claim submitted by Dr. F. J. Wollersheim, local health officer. Other expenses listed in the annual report included $208.83, direct "taxes," $230.00, and utility tax appropriations to school districts, $841.12.

RAILROAD MAN IS KIWANIS SPEAKER

Superintendent Tells Chilton
Men of Problem of Unfair Competition

Chilton—Edward A. Meyer, superintendent of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad talked on Unfair Competition to the Railroads at the Kiwanis meeting at Hotel Chilton Tuesday evening. The railroads, stated Mr. Meyer, are taxed on their right-of-way and other property. The taxes paid by the railroads constitute a very important source of income to the states, amounting to $400,000,000 a year. There are now 66,000 miles of paved highways in the U. S. built and paid for by the tax paying public at an average of $22,000 per mile. These public highways are being used by fleets of trucks which pay only a nominal license.

Railroad rates are fixed by state commissions and interstate commerce commissions, said the speaker. The rates of passenger and freight on busses and trucks are fixed by the owners without regard to the actual cost of service. This is possible since the taxpayers pay for the right of way for these trucks and busses when they furnish the paved roads.

Mr. Meyer stated further that some of the worst accidents to motorists on public highways have been caused by the presence of these trucks on the roads too often loaded and driven with too little care for other vehicles.

He concluded by saying that the railroads are facing an unfair competition which is not remedied in some just and fair way will put the railroad system of the country out of business.

Twin sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Schneider on Wednesday.

Vivian Pilling, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pilling submitted to an operation at St. Agnes hospital in Wood at Lac Monday for acute appendicitis.

ANNOUNCE STAND ON OLEO TAX MEASURE

Madison—(AP)—The state department of agriculture and markets explained its stand today on the bill, which now is before the governor, to levy license fees ranging from $50 to $1,000 annually of persons making, selling or publicly serving oleomargarine in Wisconsin. The faction followed protests from southern states, who threaten to carry retaliatory legislation. The states are Alabama, Oklahoma, and Tennessee.

No legislation taxing a product called cottonseed shortening is at present pending," Charles L. Hill, commissioner in the department, said. "While the protests say that South Dakota and Iowa are considering such a tax, the only bill in Wisconsin deals with the oleomargarine manufacturer and distributor."

He pointed out that the state dairy industry uses thousands of tons of cottonseed meal for feeding and therefore southern cotton growers benefit directly from any protection given the dairy interests.

Royal Neighbors met Wednesday evening in the I. O. O. F. hall. Plans were made for a public card party to be held Wednesday evening, April 15. Initiation of candidates will take place at the following meeting, May 6.

Ruth Milbauer, Helen Heuer and June Spearbraker, students at Downer college in Milwaukee, have arrived home to spend their Easter vacation with their parents.

Rudolph Schmidt returned recently from a two months trip through the south, including Texas where he stopped for a short visit with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. R. Schmidt, former residents of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spengler returned Tuesday from a seven weeks automobile trip to Florida. They also went to Havana, Cuba and on the return trip they visited relatives in Rome, Georgia and in Goshen, Indiana.

Mrs. William C. Buchholz entertained friends at her home Wednesday afternoon in honor of her mother, Mrs. Ella Bingham of Cranford who has been visiting here. The time was spent socially and a luncheon was served. The guests included Mesdames N. P. Jorgensen, Matt Dahm, Sr., W. Kahl, A. J. Swanson, Herman Dickman, Louis Jennie, Mary Danley and Miss Jennie Swanson.

A military ball will be given by the National Guards of this city at the Clintonville Armory Monday evening, April 6. An Easter dance will take place Wednesday evening, April 8, at the Odd Fellow hall in this city.

GROUPS MAY LOSE SOCIAL PRIVILEGES

Madison—(AP)—Eight University of Wisconsin social groups, seven fraternities and a sorority, face the loss of social privileges as the result of fraternal organization scholastic standings compiled last semester and released yesterday.

Should the fraternities and sorority fail to reach the average of 75 per cent, per credit, or a "C" average, this semester, they will lose their rights for the first semester of next year.

Fraternities facing the penalty are Alpha Delta Phi, Sigma Chi, Theta Xi, Phi Delta Theta, Zeta Phi, Kappa Sigma and Tau Kappa Epsilon. Phi Alpha Tau is the only sorority facing probationary measures.

The averages showed Alpha Kappa Lambda the best fraternity scholastically, while Kappa Kappa Gamma was first honors for sororities. Zeta Lambda's pledges stood first among the fraternities, while the pledges of Alpha Delta Phi led the sorority group.

The weighted averages show women's groups considerably higher than men's.

present pending," Charles L. Hill, commissioner in the department, said. "While the protests say that South Dakota and Iowa are considering such a tax, the only bill in Wisconsin deals with the oleomargarine manufacturer and distributor."

A basketball tournament will be held at the local auditorium April 5-6 and 7. Teams to take part are from Seymour, Nichols, Kaukauna, New London, Stockbridge, Clintonville, Gresham and Black Creek.

Sunny Valley school, town Cicero, will give a play, "Beds on a string," at the Seymour auditorium Saturday evening. It was postponed from last Saturday.

White Plains, N. Y.—Andy Gump wears no man's collar, but the very name gave James Edward Gump, 24-year-old insurance agent, an infectious cough. A court listened to his plea, changed the name to Gals. The former Mr. Gump cited the dictionary to show that a "gump" is a "dimpleton."

PUBLIC PROGRAM TO AND COUNTY BLIND

Lions Club Sponsoring Program Here April 17 at Lawrence Chapel

The WLS Showboat, famous for its broadcasts from radio station WLS at Chicago, will be presented in Lawrence Memorial chapel by Appleton Lions club on Friday evening April 17. Proceeds will be used by the Lions club to further its work among the blind of Outagamie county.

Aiding of blind is one of the major projects of Lions clubs all over the country, according to club officers. In an effort to aid Outagamie-co blind the Appleton club last year held a miniature golf tournament, the proceeds going to the fund.

They plan to bring about a county organization and meeting place in Appleton where blind persons may secure materials with which to make various things. The club also proposes to establish or control sale of the articles so the makers will realize the greatest amount possible and place their business on a sound foundation.

The proposed project will require about $1,000, it is said, and part of this money will be raised by the coming public concert.

Because the program will appeal to practically all types, general admission tickets will be sold. A block of 400 seats will be set aside for persons who want reserved seats. Members of the club already have seats for sale. The downtown sale will begin April 11 at Bell's drug store. Station WLS has promised to broadcast the announcement that it is sending a troupe to Appleton for a week previous to the concert here.

EASTER VISITORS TAKE WHITE HOUSE PAINT AS SOUVENIRS

Washington —(AP)— Many of the thousands of Easter visitors at the White House today will carry away an unusual souvenir—part of the white from the White House.

Before any of the regular attendants at the executive offices had arrived today painters swooped down on the place and gave the entrance a fine coat of white paint.

For the first time in the memory of the oldest employees of the White House, the south grounds were thrown open to the public on account of the large number of people here for Easter vacations.

Except for functions such as the Easter egg rolling which takes place Monday, the south grounds of the White House have heretofore been reserved entirely for the use of the president and his family.

Each day during the Easter vacation, the grounds will be open from 12:30 to 1:30 and President and Mrs. Hoover plan to be on the grounds to welcome the visitors some time during the hour.

LAWRENCE PROFESSORS GOING TO CONFERENCE

Four Lawrence professors, Dr. L. A. Boettger, Dr. M. M. Bober, Dr. W. L. Crow, and Dr. W. A. McCone, are attending the conference of social science department heads and instructors from colleges in the middle west at Evanston, Ill. The Northwestern university is host to the group.

Dr. Boettger will give an address on Advanced Courses in Sociology, and Dr. Bober will read a paper on Research in the Social Sciences. The conference will continue through Friday and Saturday.

UNEVEN SPURTS IN TRADE RECOVERY

ing uneasiness. It is estimated that since March 1 more than 100 companies, many of them of large size, have passed dividends entirely, while others have reduced their regular rates. Just a year ago 57 companies omitted their dividends. It seems that industrial and transportation corporations are the principal units which have been cutting dividend rates.

Commodity prices have been adversely affected by the fall in grains but there is a continuing tendency on the part of the majority of these commodities to move forward. European countries are showing a stable or rising price level.

Wholesale Business Gains

The last week showed an increase in wholesale business, while retail trade is active now, presumably due to Easter buying. Looking over particular groups and classifications it is notable that production and levels of a year ago, that agricultural implements are ahead of sales of a year ago and that passenger car production is showing slight increases in the eastern and mid-western industrial centers, with the general retail situation still spotty but with truck production increasing for the first time since January.

There are hopeful signs for iron and steel from the expected orders in building and highway construction. The pending awards by the Pennsylvania railroad are expected to provide a stimulus to the iron industry. The machinery business is showing a decided gain for the first quarter of this year over the last quarter of 1930, with Russia an active purchaser. The motion picture theatres report receipts holding up well. The New England shoe manufacturers were busy during the week, though in other centers production of shoes tapered off somewhat. From all districts there came reports of reduced loading of commodities as compared with the same week a year ago.

The inference may be drawn that the curve of recovery in business, while undoubtedly above the lowest point since the depression began, will continue from time to time to reveal a jagged or fluctuating course.

NEW SCHEDULE ON VALLEY AIR ROUTE

Mail Planes Are Scheduled to Arrive Two Hours Later Than Formerly

A new time schedule has been placed in effect on the Fox river valley air mail line, according to word received at the Appleton post office this morning from the federal postal department at Washington, D. C. The new schedule went into effect Wednesday, but notice of the change was not received until today. Under the new plan the daily mail plane into Appleton from the south is scheduled to arrive here at 11:05 instead of 9:40. Postal officials here said the change would make little difference, because the planes seldom reached Appleton as early as the previous schedule called for. This was caused by the fact that the plane did not leave Chicago until east and west bound connections had been made. Under the new schedule, the plane leaves Chicago at 8:15 each morning instead of 6:10. The new schedule follows: Leave Chicago 8:15; arrive Milwaukee, 9:35; leave Milwaukee, 9:35; arrive Fond du Lac, 10:15; arrive Oshkosh, 10:30; arrive Appleton, 11:05.

$619 IS ADDED TO SCHOOL THRIFT FUND

With two schools banking 100 per cent, 19 per cent of the pupils of the public schools banked during the last Thrift week. A total of $619.23 was added to the Thrift account, bringing the balance on deposit up to $41,126.37. Thirty-seven withdrawals amounted to $230.50, and interest of $34.26 was credited. The two schools with perfect averages were McKinley and the Orthopedic.

The amounts deposited at the various schools were: McKinley, $80; Orthopedic, $10.50; $2.50; Columbus, $41.03; Richmond, $4.53; Roosevelt, $121.55; Lincoln, $14, $22.66; First ward, $22, $11.09; Opportunity room, $16, $1.84; Franklin, $20, $35.19; Jefferson, $29, $40; Fourth ward, $18, $19.46; Washington, $48, $46.88; Wilson, $199, $33.49; and high school, $71, $187.65.

VOTERS MUST CHECK 3 BALLOTS ON TUESDAY

Voters on Tuesday will have three ballots to check: two white ones and a pink one. The city ballot, listing the names of the aldermanic, supervisory and school commissioner candidates, will be white, as will the judicial ballot. The referendum on the issuance of auto licenses will be pink.

2 AUTHORS DIE IN AUTOMOBILE CRASH

Fiswoode Tarleton and Horace Kephart Victims in North Carolina

Bryson City, N. C. — (AP) — An automobile accident has ended the careers of Horace Kephart of this place, and Fiswoode Tarleton, of Decatur, Ga., authors.

A car Kephart and Tarleton, his guest, had hired for a short trip in the scenic North mountain country Kephart often had written about left the highway and turned over late last night at 11:30, 5 miles from here. Both men were killed instantly.

R. B. Brown, driver of the machine, was taken to a hospital at Sylva, N. C., unconscious. Regaining consciousness for a brief period, he said the blinding lights of another automobile caused him to lose control of his car.

Kephart, 68 years of age and a native of Pennsylvania, had written many books and magazine articles on adventure and outdoor life. His book "Our Southern Highlands" attracted much attention.

"Bloody Ground," a recently published Kentucky feud novel, was Tarleton's best known work.

Leonard Wheeler Kephart, of Washington, D. C. telegraphed a request to Bryson City that his father's body be prepared for shipment.

Kephart is survived by a second son in Washington and by his widow and five other children in Norfolk, Va.

LEAVES $2,000,000 ESTATE

Chicago (AP) — After establishing five trust funds of $150,000 for distant relatives, and leaving $70,000 to charities, the late Frank K. Hoover, millionaire mining engineer who died March 6, left the rest of his $2,000,000 estate to his widow and sons, Ray Phelps Hoover and H. Earl Hoover of Glencoe.

PRINCE SERGE PLANS TO MARRY OPERA STAR

Hollywood, Calif. — (AP) — Martially free and resolved to remain that way, Pola Negri today was enroute from Paris to Hollywood to begin a new career in the talkies.

But her former husband, Prince Serge Mdivani, planned remarriage by Sunday. Receiving word from Paris that Miss Negri's divorce had been granted, Mdivani announced here he had arranged with an attorney to obtain a marriage license in another state for himself and Mary McCormick, opera star.

Miss McCormick recently motored here from Chicago and has been a guest of Mrs. Murray, in private life Mrs. David Mdivani. The Mdivanis are brothers.

Miss Negri, one of the silent screen's outstanding stars, retired about the time the talkies appeared. She applied for a divorce in Paris in 1929. A reconciliation followed, but it was of brief duration.

LOCK TENDERS AWAIT TRAFFIC ON RIVER

Although navigation on the Fox river between Lake Winnebago and Green Bay opened at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, no boats have gone through the Appleton locks, according to federal engineers. It is expected the first boats to venture onto the stream will be brought out of winter storage next week. At the present time government vessels, including tugs, barges and dredges, are receiving their annual spring inspection at the Kaukauna yards.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Jeske, E. Circle, returned Thursday from Milwaukee where they attended funeral services for Paul Dierschke, Mrs. Jeske's father. Mr. Dierschke died Sunday. The funeral was held at Milwaukee Wednesday afternoon.

START CONSTRUCTION OF RANKIN-ST HOUSE

Work on the foundation for the new house being built at 229 N. Rankin-st by Mark F. Furstenberg was started this week. The raising of the house formerly on the lot was completed the first of the week.

The new frame structure, which will cost about $5,000, will have seven rooms and a bath, with a garage in the rear. William Floto has the building contract, and Edward Boldt is doing the mason work. The Standard Manufacturing company designed the house.

CAR WASN'T STOLEN; USED BY SALESMAN

A Ford sedan, 1925 model, which was reported stolen Tuesday night from the sales lot of the Motor Sales Inc., at 215 E. Washington-st. was not stolen, it was learned. The car was taken by one of the firm's salesmen, and when other members of the company noticed it was gone they reported to police.

HUGE WHALING FLEET NOW IN ARCTIC

'London—One of the largest whaling fleets ever to assemble in the arctic is now engaged in the busiest season the industry has had for some time just north of the huge ice barrier which acts as a protective wall against the frosts of man.

Scattered over hundreds of miles of sea are 323 ships, carrying 11,000 men, which are rapidly being filled with the golden oil of the mammals of the sea.

This year the whaling fleet has been increased by 100 ships, and during the first week of the present season 100,000 barrels of oil were produced more than $250,000 worth of oil. Last year the same company produced 202,550 barrels of whale oil, valued at more than $4,000,000.

RULE
New York—Step on it, men. If you don't, women will soon dominate you completely, rob you of your virility, flood the world with trouble and destroy themselves by defying the laws of nature.

That's the cheerful future you have to look forward to according to Frederick Mitchell-Hedges, English explorer and lecturer, who has arrived here to organize an expedition into Central America. "It all began to be serious with the war," he explains. "Women got taste of power. They began to ruggle for emancipation, and unfortunately they have had considerable success.

"The high type, brainy, American woman today is chiefly concerned with the quest for power.
She is neurotic, selfish. She has too any interests to devote herself to her children, her home and cultivation of her husband's love. And the wale, poor fool, lets her. He does what she says."

The explorer contends that if this goes on much longer women of the

SERVICES IN INDIA CHANGE IRWIN'S VIEWS

Viceroy Becomes Liberal Sympathizer With Gandhi After Being Conservative

BY MILTON BRONNER

London—One of the most remarkable reversals in the history of British politics and statesmanship is the story of Lord Irwin, retiring viceroy of India.

By birth, by wealth, by training, by marriage, Lord Irwin belonged to the ruling aristocracy, which dominated England for so long.

A Tory of the Tories, he was named to the viceroyalty by the leader of the British conservatives, Stanley Baldwin, when he was premier. He was chosen because the conservatives believed he would follow extremely conservative policies in governing India.

Tories Are Furious
What has happened in a few years? The former British aristocrat has expressed his sympathy with the nationalist aspirations of India's millions and has reached an agreement on many controversial points with Mahatma Gandhi. He has proclaimed that the purpose of British rule is to give India full Dominion status.

The result is that Lord Irwin is coming home in April to be denounced by his former political friends, who call his Indian policy one of abject surrender to the Nationalists, and to be praised to the skies by his one-time political enemies, with socialist Premier MacDonald saying he will be numbered among India's greatest viceroys.

Who is this man who will be the center of Britain's next big political storm?

Served In World War
Born E. F. L. Wood, in 1881, he is the oldest living son of Viscount Halifax, now 92 and leader of the reactionary High Churchmen in the Established Church of England. Just out of Oxford, young Wood took charge of the very large landed estates which had come to him, and became noted as a landlord, who was interested in the problems of his workers.

He married, in 1909, Lady Dorothy Osborne, who was more interested in literature, history and politics than in society. He went to Parliament in 1910, and so endeared himself to his constituents that for fifteen years he had no opposition from the other political parties.

As a boy, he had lost his left arm in an accident. Yet when the war came, Wood served as an officer with the Royal Dragons, went to the front with his regiment, and was cited in dispatches.

In 1917, however, he was brought back to England to become assistant secretary of the National Service Department. In the Lloyd George coalition cabinet, in 1921, he became Under Secretary for the Colonies. When the Tories took charge of the government in 1922 he was made President of the Board of Education, serving until 1924 when the first Labor government came into power.

When the Tories returned in 1925, he was made Minister of Agriculture. The five-year term of Lord Reading as Viceroy of India was nearing its close and there were many guesses as to the probable choice of Premier Baldwin.

When he announced that he was going to name Wood there was universal astonishment. His position in his party had not made him an outstanding figure. However, the Tories, after they got over their first shock of surprise, consoled themselves by the thought that he at least would be "safe and sane."

But they overlooked one little matter. By heredity, he had in him a political connection with India and a tradition of liberalism.

His famous grandfather, Sir Charles Wood, later the first Lord Halifax, was one of the greatest reformers of Indian affairs England has ever known. He remodeled the constitution of India, and made the first openings for Indians in high office. He promoted new and sweeping schemes for education, reorganized the Indian army, and established a modern civil service system. He put Indians on the bench of the highest courts, and in the legislative councils. He developed the Indian railways.

Before the new Viceroy left to take up his post, he was enabled, taking the title of first Baron Irwin of Kirby-under-dale. Arrived in India, he did the things a new Viceroy always does—visited Indian princes, made a triumphal round of the great Indian cities, and hunted elephants and tigers. Having seen something of the great Indian sub-continent, he got down to brass tacks.

He faced a hard job. The Nationalist feeling was growing. Gandhi was busy. Civil disobedience to the laws was being preached. Passive resistance became active resistance, and there was a boycott on British goods. The Simon Commission, named by the government, came out to study the Indian problems.

Opposed Use Of Force

Hoover's Ancestors Are Swiss, Searchers Think

Basel, Switzerland—(AP)—President Hoover's ancestors originated in Switzerland, believe Prof. Hermann F. Macco of Berlin, after three months' searching of archives in this city.

Professor Macco came to Switzerland with the intention of tracing the Hoover family ancestors further than American biographers, whose researches ended with Andreas

Hoover, a lad of 15, emigrating in 1738 from the Palatinate to Pennsylvania.

"I came here to catch a little fish. I actually got a whale," the professor said.

A parchment adorned with the Huber family coat of arms—the German spelling was Huber, until the Dutch shipowners listed the departing Andreas Huber as Hoover—and dating back to the fourteenth century has been discovered by Professor Macco.

The Huber family of Ellersdorf emigrated to the Palatinate in 1665 with thousands of other Swiss after the Thirty Years War.

In 1665 John H. Huber, a linen-weaver of Oberkulin in the canton of Argovia, also left for the Palatinate. Professor Macco avers he is the direct ancestor of Herbert Hoover. The parish registers of Oberkulin show traces of the Hubers as far back as the 13th century.

The majority of them were farmers with a few also acting in the capacity of bailiffs and others as judges.

In the meantime, Gandhi had progressed in his law-breaking to such an extent that Lord Irwin had him jailed. But a short time ago, he released the famous Indian leader and the two had a series of conferences at which a peace was patched up and the civil disobedience campaign was called off. In all probability this means that when another conference is called, Gandhi and his friends will take part in it. If an agreement is then reached, it will have back of it the bulk of the public opinion of the 320,000,000 people of India.

DRAFT ARMY OF LABORERS FOR BUILDING DAM

Contractors Mobilize Forces for Six Year Job of Harnessing River

Denver, Colo. (AP)—After more than eight years of planning and agitation, the major offensive against the turbulent Colorado river has been started.

Among the first steps the Six Companies, Inc., of San Francisco, successful bidder on the general contract for Hoover dam and power plant, will take approximately 1,000 workers to Nevada's wastelands to build a railroad to carry supplies to the dam site in Black canyon.

Another railroad, built on contract for the government, is under construction now. It will extend from Las Vegas to the site of the dam.

The government already has advertised for bids on the construction of living quarters for its engineers and workers at Boulder City, Nev., where 4,000 men and their families will make their temporary or permanent homes.

Boulder City will rise from a wilderness of sagebrush. A sum of $25,000 has been provided for laying out this model city and starting the construction of a highway to the dam site.

Tunnels Divert Flow

One of the striking engineering feats facing the contractors is diversion of the flow of the great stream from its bed between the huge cliffs where the dam is to be built.

To accomplish the diversion it will be necessary to drive four tunnels 50 feet in diameter through the solid rock on both sides of the gorge—two tunnels on each side. These tunnels will be lined with concrete, and they will carry the water from the regular course of the river, while the dam itself is under construction.

The dam will be the largest in the world, and will create the world's largest artificial lake. The Colorado waters, backing up before the huge pile of masonry, will form a great reservoir 115 miles long, with a shore line of 550 miles. At high water, its surface will be 1,228 feet above sea level.

The power development will overshadow both Niagara Falls and Muscle Shoals. The former generates $50,000 horsepower for the United States. Muscle Shoals' ultimate development is put at 600,000 horsepower. The Hoover dam will generate between 1,000,000 and 1,200,000.

The materials needed for the great dam are counted in millions. There will be 3,600,000 yards of concrete masonry, requiring 5,000,000 barrels of cement and 19,000,000 pounds of reinforcing steel.

Six Year Task

The government, in accepting the bid of the Six Companies, Inc., on March 11, specified that actual work shall start within 30 days, and that the whole project shall be completed in six years.

It will take four years to complete the concrete work alone. By September, 1935, the electrical plant at the dam will be supplying current to the city of Los Angeles and the Southern California Edison Company under contract.

In about a year another government contract will be let for construction of the All-American canal which will deliver water to Southern California. This project will cost approximately $38,500,000.

Repay in 34 Years

The cost of the entire flood control, water supply and power program in the Colorado river approximate $185,000,000. The sale of power and the delivery of water for irrigation purposes is to repay the government that sum in 34 years.

Boulder City will be completed within a year. The water and power systems will be finished by June, and after that the building will go ahead.

Frank Crows of Boise, Ida., for many years, will engage the United States Reclamation Service, will act as general superintendent in charge of the entire construction. He was employed as general manager for the Six Companies, Inc., a group which pooled its resources and equipment because the job was considered too big for a single concern.

Your Home GARDEN

BY WILLIAM R. BEATTIE

Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture

"Two fresh vegetables from the garden every day in the year," is the slogan adopted by members of the year-round garden clubs of the Gulf Coast states.

I would be physically impossible to have crops growing in the northern garden the whole year through, but that does not prevent keeping the garden at work every day of the year.

The gardener who plants early, second early, medium and late is the one who usually has a good garden and plenty of vegetables all summer.

If you want your garden to pay big dividends, you must keep every foot of space occupied and producing some useful crop. If nothing better, sow it to cowpeas or rye to improve the soil.

There are two ways of getting the most out of the garden, succession cropping and companion cropping. By succession cropping is meant making several plantings and having a new crop follow immediately in the place that had already matured a crop.

Many Plantings Needed

In order to have plenty of snap beans for the table a planting should be made every two or three weeks throughout the earlier part of the season. Four or five plantings of sweet corn should be made, two or three plantings of carrots, at least two of beets, three or four of spinach, two of cabbage, and so on down the list, and all of the land occupied all of the time.

Companion cropping means planting one crop in the spaces of another. This system of cropping works fairly well in some cases, but has objectionable features. It is much better, especially where plenty of land is available, to have only one crop on a given piece of ground at a time, but keep the land occupied all of the time.

Extending the productive period of certain crops is another way of keeping the garden fully occupied all the time. By spraying, fertilizing and mulching, early tomatoes may often be kept in bearing until frost.

First of all, only those varieties that are resistant to disease should be planted wherever it is known that diseases such as the wilt disease of tomatoes are present in the soil. Mulching around the plants with manure or mulch paper will often help to keep them in a "good growing condition."

Selection of suitable varieties is one of the most important points in keeping the garden up to standard the whole season through.

Fresh Peas For Weeks

Let us start in the spring with peas and put in a planting of improved Alaska, follow with Little Marvel, Gradus, Thomas Laxton, Laxton and six-fangled Telephone in about the order named. Let the plantings extend over a period of three weeks and you should have fresh peas for your table over a period of six or seven weeks.

In the case of tomatoes start the season with Earliana and Bonny Best. Follow with Marglobe and with a later planting of Marglobe. Celery was formerly used mainly at Thanksgiving and at Christmas, but now we have celery on our markets all of the year. The gardener who cares to take the trouble to grow his own supply of celery may have early celery by midsummer and celery from his vegetable storage until March or April.

WOULD LOWER TAXES ON LODGE PROPERTY

Joint Resolution Introduced in Assembly by Committee

Madison (AP)—A joint resolution calling for the amendment of the constitution to permit property of religious and fraternal organizations to be taxed at a lower rate than that imposed on other property was introduced in the assembly yesterday by the committee on taxation.

Property under this classification includes that owned by religious, scientific, literary, educational, benevolent, historical and fraternal organizations.

The committee on agriculture introduced a bill carrying an annual appropriation of $500,000 for the discovery, propagation, and dissemination of improved varieties of fruits and ornamental plants. A bill was introduced by Assemblyman William A. Meyer, Oshkosh, providing that the owner of a tract of land may apply to the state conservation commissioner for establishing public hunting and fishing grounds thereon.

The committee on labor introduced a bill appropriating $10,000 annually for a short term course in firemanship at the University of Wisconsin.

Sen. Ben Gettelman introduced a measure to appropriate annually between July 1, 1932, for the collection of statistics on fire losses based on construction, location and use of buildings. The bill provides for the naming of additional state fire marshals to conduct the work.

A bill revising the ton mile tax on motor bus and freight trucking companies was introduced by Sen. John Cashman. It provides for a mill tax ranging from one to 10 mills on various classes of passenger buses, trucks and trailers.

Creation of a state "bureau of detection and apprehension" is proposed in a bill by Sen. Otto Mueller, Wausau. It would appropriate $85,000 on July 1, and $60,000 annually.

A bill by Sen. Walter S. Goodland, Racine, for an appropriation of $100,000 was introduced. It would make a state traffic study with view of finding the best types of roads construction.

DIVIDENDS DUE ON APRIL 1 SET AT $500,000,000

Many American Corporations Able to Show Satisfactory Profits

Copyright 1931, By Cons. Press

Although dividends on the stocks of many hundreds of American corporations have been reduced or passed in the last three months, there are enough companies showing profits in their business to be able today to participate in one of the largest disbursements of the year. Those whose job it is to compile the figures of interest and dividends payable on April 1, estimate the total amount at $500,000,000. To this will be added on April 15 an additional $200,000,000, so that if an equal distribution of the April payments were to be made it would amount to about $7.75 per capita for the American public.

The number of corporations paying dividends is between 1,700 and 2,000. The list fills eight solid columns in the New York morning newspapers. Quite a number of companies are paying dividends on several classes of stock. Among them are some of the largest of the industrial, public utility and railroad corporations. Quite a number of those that are disbursing funds are for the first time in some years doing so at a lower rate than previously.

Feel Reductions Later
The effect of the dividend reductions will be felt more in the May and June disbursements than at present. Approximately $30,000,000 has been cut from April dividends alone compared with those for the same period in 1930. Interest payments show very little change, as there have been comparatively few defaults and the amount of new financing by corporations and municipalities tends to increase rather than to decrease the aggregate disbursed in taking care of the debt service of these borrowings.

April and October, next to January and July, are the months of heaviest interest and dividend payments during the year. They represent totals ranging from between 60 and 70 per cent of those for January and July. In the months of April and October fall due the semi-annual interest payments on the U. S. Liberty fourth 4 1/2 per cent bonds, the largest of all the government loans. On April 15, $133,000,000 will be distributed to the holders of these bonds representing the six months interest due them. At the same time the Very properly it is taught that one should be wary of assisting partner's suit when holding but three small cards therein. Situations will arise, however, where it is necessary to do so and in certain cases, such as the above deal, this assistance should be given wholeheartedly.

South, who has opened the bidding with a Diamond, has such a powerful hand that he could hardly hope that North, who has made the tentative improving bid of One Spade, would be able to say any more.

In this case there can be little fear that bad results would accrue should North have but four Spades in his hand. The danger when playing with a four card suit as trumps exists in the probability of an opponent being able to establish a side suit and make the Declarer trump.

In the above deal South can see that this contingency cannot exist for he himself has the three high Clubs and a solid Diamond suit with the exception of the King.

It could readily be true that the opponent may have solid Hearts but even if they have, North would not be forced to trump it for the reason that South himself can do it with the little Spade.

Salient Points of Bidding
Contract: While South has sufficient Quick Trick value to make an opening bid of Two, the distribution does not warrant it, for his high card value is confined to Diamonds and Clubs. He accordingly opens the bidding with One Diamond, and, West passing, North bids One Spade. East passes and South, for the reasons given in the preamble, jumps the bid to Four Spades concluding the bidding. It is readily seen that North could not have made any further bid had South not bid for game.

The Play
East opens the King of Hearts which holds the trick. He can readily see that no advantage can accrue from shifting to another suit. His partner must have the Ace for otherwise North would have taken the trick since the Dummy has a singleton. The best defense seems to be to continue the Heart, leading the Three, which Dummy trumps with the Two of Spades. Declarer cannot afford to lead trumps immediately for to do so before Dummy's Diamonds are established would enable opponents to make their Hearts should the Diamond finesse prove unsuccessful. Accordingly he leads the Ace of Diamonds from Dummy followed by the Queen. West naturally suspects that North has a singleton and does not cover. Since North is willing to surrender this trick if East should happen to have the King of Diamonds, he discards a Heart. A small Diamond is then led from Dummy and trumped by North. North leads his remaining Heart and trumps it with the Six of Spades in Dummy. He then leads the remaining spade from Dummy and takes a double finesse, playing the Ten from own hand. East takes the trick with the King, but this is the last trick Declarer will lose.

MILWAUKEE PARROT FEVER VICTIM DIES

Bitten Month Ago by Love Bird Imported from South America

Milwaukee—(P)—Dr. John M. Sattler, 60 died Thursday of what his physicians diagnosed as psittacosis, commonly known as parrot fever. He was the first Milwaukee victim of the deadly tropical malady.

Throughout last night, free oxygen was administered in an effort to save Dr. Sattler's life, but he continued to sink rapidly.

Dr. Sattler was bitten on the hand about a month ago by a love bird imported from South America. The bird died shortly afterward. He performed a post-mortem examination, but found no evidence the bird was afflicted with psittacosis.

However, the doctor became ill about a week ago and entered Deaconess hospital March 29. His ailment was diagnosed as psittacosis yesterday.

Dr. John P. Koehler, health commissioner, who was watching the patient closely, said no cure for psittacosis has been discovered and 55 per cent of those badly stricken die.

A warning was issued by Dr. Koehler to all owners of parrots and love birds to exercise care in handling their pets at the first symptoms of a "cold". In humans, he said, the disease develops into a type of flu or pneumonia about 10 days after the fever has been contracted.

GETS SPIRIT MESSAGE
London—(P)—Lady Conan Doyle told the Associated Press Thursday she was in communication "recently" with Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, spiritualist leader, who died in July, 1930. "Everybody is amazed by the one hundred per cent proofs," she said, "because the evidence is very valuable. The one making the best offer buys it. Any fool can see it is genuine in light of the evidence."

of the Chase National bank is payable today to the largest body of shareholders said to be connected with any national bank in this country. Practically all of the mutual savings banks write up the interest on individual deposit account every three months. Today long lines of depositors stood before the windows of New York institutions to have their interest credited. In most cases this is allowed to remain on deposit, although with so many depositors out of employment or on reduced salaries there has been more indication recently of the withdrawal of the quarterly interest as means of balancing a reduction in payrolls.

BETTY COMPTON GETS DIVORCE; WED FEB. 16

Mexico City—(P)—A Cuernavaca divorce court has called the curtain down in short order upon the month-old romance of Betty Compton, beautiful stage star and Edward Duryea Dowling, employed as a motion picture dialogue director.

The divorce was granted March 21 by Judge Manuel Carpio of the Morelos state court, it has been revealed. The Dowlings were married in New York on Feb. 16, and became estranged within a few days of ter they left for Havana on a honeymoon trip.

Four days elapsed between filing of the application and the granting of the divorce, Miss Compton in that time complying with Morelos state laws requiring establishment of residence in the state, by remaining in Cuernavaca for a day or two. The actress charged Dowling with cruelty, personal violence and refusal to provide maintenance. The divorce was said to have been handled by mutual consent through lawyers authorized by each party.

Pay Last Tribute To "Rock Of Notre Dame" Saturday Afternoon

HIGH MASS TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK THURSDAY

Norwegian King Announces Plans to Knight Famous Grid Coach

BY PAUL MICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
SOUTH BEND, Ind. — (AP) —

Knute Rockne, that roving restlessness, will find his final resting place tomorrow afternoon in the corner of the highland cemetery just two and one-half miles from the campus of old Notre Dame.

Surrounded by thousands of his most intimate friends and personal representative of King Haakon of Norway, the land of the Vikings from which he came, all that is mortal of the "Rock of Notre Dame" will be taken to the church of Sacred Heart at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon for impressive, yet simple funeral ceremonies and then lowered forever into his grave.

Today and until the cortege takes him for his last earthly journey, his body will lie at his picturesque, but unostentatious home in Sunnyside, watched over by a firm but fearful guard of honor composed of the boys and men he trained to play, laugh and live so well. But the last hopes of the multitude of mourners, who passed his door, were denied. The casket was sealed because of the condition of his body, which was mangled in that tragic air plane crash in Kansas.

The pomp and ceremony, which were so closely associated with his glorious achievements on the football field will be missing tomorrow afternoon when Knute Rockne's body is delivered to the earth. Most of his friends, thousands of them, will crowd into the old Gothic church on the campus or stand in reverence, distances from the services. The services and burial probably will take far less time than even an average game of football. Services at the grave side will be held by Father Mulcaire.

High Mass Next Thursday
Solemn high requiem mass will be held for the departed leader at the same church at 9 o'clock next Thursday morning in the presence of students, who by that time will have returned from their Easter vacation.

Highland cemetery, where Rockne will rest, at last, is a comparatively new one. Part of it, including the Rockne grave, has been consecrated for Catholic burial; the other part is for non-Catholics.

Because of the wish for simplicity and brevity, only 1,400 of Rockne's closest friends will be admitted to the services at the church and the grave. Today the difficult task of ascertaining the most intimate was undertaken so as to give them cards of admittance. The others, thousands of them from all sections of the nation, will be asked to remain a block or so from the church and such a simplicity and brevity were the wishes of Mrs. Rockne, his grief-stricken but brave widow, and those most intimate to the Viking of play and good sportsmanship.

At 2 o'clock Saturday, the body will be removed from the brown brick and stucco home at 1417 East Wayne to the vine covered church on the campus of Notre Dame a few short blocks away. There the funeral services will be held, with Father Michael Mulcaire, vice president of the university, saying the brief services. The dean will be Father Thomas Steiner, member of the University athletic board of control, and the sub-deacon, Father Raymond Murch, prefect of discipline for the university. The funeral sermon will be delivered by Father Charles L. O'Donnell, president of the university.

Public Pays Tribute
The public was permitted to pay silent tribute to the football chieftain at the Rockne home today and until it is taken away.

The names of the pall bearers will not be announced until later. A committee worked until the early hours of morning today attempting to decide who they would be and if there would be any honorary pall bearers. It was fairly certain, however, that the ones who would carry the body to the crypt would be those "boys" who played on his great football teams.

King Haakon assured his representation at the funeral last night when he called the Norwegian council at Chicago to attend the services tomorrow, accompanied by a group of six prominent Chicago Norwegians. He conveyed his deep regret to Mrs. Rockne and Notre Dame and advised he would knight the departed Notre Dame football coach within the next six months.

Mrs. Rockne, although fatigued by her long train ride from Florida, bore up exceedingly well on her arrival in South Bend at 6:15 last night and today. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Hulda H. Jones of Kenton, Ohio. And Rockne's 72 year old mother, Mrs. Lewis Rockne of Chicago, and others. Her four children, William 14, Knute, Jr. 11, Jean 10, and Jackie 6, still didn't seem to realize the other thousands of Rockne's friends that their father had departed from life.

South Bend was filled with mourners today and they included almost everyone of importance in America's college athletic world. A call was sent out today to all classmates of Rockne's 1914 graduation class at Notre Dame to attend the funeral.

FONDY DOUBLES TEAM SEVENTH IN ELKS' MEET

E. Sanders and H. Flanagan of Fond du Lac rolled into seventh place in state Elks' doubles last night with a count of 1145. Sanders rolled 173, 190, 193 and his partner rolled 212, 211, 156. The men also rolled in singles, Sanders getting 532 and Flanagan 630. They were the only two men to roll in the state last night.

Rockne Started College Career With Lone Collar Button, Roommate Relates

Gus Dorias, Now Coach at Detroit, Tells of Knute as Student

BY CHARLES E. DORAIS
Athletic Director University of Detroit

(Written for the Associated Press)

DETROIT—I want to say a word about my Rock, my friend, my roommate, in the hope that I may in a way give thousands as good a picture as I can of Rock as I knew him intimately. I would like to show the humanness, the kindness, the sympathy, the loveableness that was his. To me he was not the great international figure that thousands mourn today, but my best remembrance is as an ambitious poor boy who dreamed dreams and made them come true.

It was in 1910 that I came to Notre Dame from Chippewa Falls, Wis. I registered and was assigned a room and I found it in Sorin hall a little later and found another already there, making himself at home a chunky towheaded fellow with keen blue eyes and a ready smile. He looked me over, and I looked him over. He said, "My name is K. K. Rockne, Chicago." I told him mine. We shook hands, and that was the beginning of one of the finest friendships of my life. We roomed together during the rest of our school careers and spent the summers together working at Cedar Point.

When we were getting located, Rock said, "Where will we put our trunk?" I replied, "Never mind about that, I don't bring one." "Shake on that," said Rock, "I guess we're about even on this world's goods."

Walked to Save Nickels
We played around together a good deal, and many was the time we walked the two miles to South Bend and back to save the precious nickels that were so scarce for him and for me.

Those walks were always interesting, because Rock was one of the most entertaining talkers I ever have listened to. I can recall a remark of his that shows well his thirst for knowledge even back in those days.

"Rock was always doting out new ways to fatten our slim treasury. Every once in a while he would sneak away from the campus and take a trip to the club smokers in the neighborhood, Rock as the fighter or I as his second. It is good to remember that on no occasion of this kind was he ever returned anything but winner of both the meagre purse and the bout."

Another time during our first year Rock heard that the players in the band and the orchestra received a small stipend for their services, so he sent home for his flute. And for a while after the arrival of the famous instrument the days and evenings were made hideous in our room by a serious Norwegian preparing to make the orchestra and the band.

Soon thereafter his efforts were rewarded and he was accepted by both the band and the orchestra. At times, in desperation, I used to take that terrible flute apart and hide the various pieces, but his ingenuity was enough for the test, and the dulcet notes of the flute went on and on.

Our condition was well expressed by Rock one day when we met after we had both gone our way. "Assembling Wardrobe"
"Gus," said he, "I came to Notre Dame with a collar button. I built around it and I can see the time coming when I'll have the whole wardrobe assembled."

As his close friend of college days I listened often to Rock's ambitions and hopes. First I remember vividly his oft-expressed idea that at the end of his pharmacy course he would get a good break so that some day he would be a druggist with a nice little drug store of his own.

Evidently he developed a fondness for chemistry during his first year in pharmacy, because after that his horizon broadened a bit. He now wanted to be a professor of chemistry. He therefore changed his course to pharmaceutical chemistry and achieved this ambition before graduation, for due to his excellence in chemistry he was engaged as an instructor. He continued teaching chemistry for several years after taking the job as football coach.

His objective again changed during his student days and his latest ambition was to be a chemist. In my later conversations with him after he had achieved fame as a football coach I formed the idea that he still had a secret hope that some day he might yet go back to that which was at one time his greatest interest—chemistry.

At no time did I ever hear old Rock voice a desire to be an athletic instructor. Fate sort of threw him into the work, for the summer after his graduation he met and married Bonnie Skiles, from Tiffin, O. He then had to have something to make ends meet right away and the assistant coach job offered by Jess Harper was the solution.

Leader On Campus
Rock as a student was the same forceful character that he was later in life. He went into campus activities with a vim and was a campus leader. He was a good singer, played in the band, the orchestra, on the track, the football field, leader in dramatics. In dramatics, his role was that of a Negro mammy in one of the plays which was the hit of the year.

What Rock was not good at he worked at until he won. He had a wonderful persistence. I remember one time he talked in public, when he was head coach, and I his assistant. He was bad. He didn't know what to do with his hands. He was nervous and his words were halting and anything but fluent. Now thousands can testify to the fact that Rock overcame that difficulty as he had many others. In the last few years I have heard him at several important functions and he certainly was a fluent and convincing speaker.

As a fellow football player, the thing that impressed me early about Rock was the fact that he refused to accept traditional methods in playing the position. The method that he invented to use on both offense and defense was the beginning, so far as I know, of the intelligent end play of today. In the early days of the pass, at which we later were to excel, Rock used to say to me, "Gus, I'm supposed to get away from those defensive backs by speed. But some of them are faster than me. I'm going to fake in, break and break out. I'll take them by surprise, or I'll take them out and cut in fast, or I'll loaf down and break fast. I'll tip you off what I'll do and you whip it to me when I break loose."

Made Passing Game
That, to my knowledge, was the beginning of smart maneuvering by the receivers and the results of his ideas were shown in our record. We didn't lose a game during the three years we played together and the pass to him played an important role in all these victories. His ideas on the other phases of end play were equally radical, and the fact that he started as a mediocre performer and finished his career by being selected as all-Western end justified his ideas.

The thing that was indicative of the Rockne that I knew was well exemplified in his latest gesture of defiance to death. When he was told that he had three years to live, did he think of himself or the pleasure he might grasp during this time? Not Rock. He said, in effect, "Well, I'll have to hustle to get to get all the money I can gather together for the family. My time is short, so here goes."

Rock is not dead to me, any more than any great man really dies. The imprint of his charming, wonderful personality that he planted in the hearts of his boys will carry his gospel of clean living and fair play on and on after we are all gone.

Albie Booth, captain of the Yale football team, set a record for the school during his freshman year when he was elected leader of the yearling grid, basketball and baseball teams.

The old reliable pitcher of the Braves is Tom Zachary. He is getting along in years but he knows how to pitch. The Yankees passed him on after Washington had let him go, but Zachary's cunning mind not completely deserted him and he will do some good work for Boston this year. Every time he is in top form his team will go with him, because it is evident enough that the players have confidence in him.

Manager McKechnie has Sherdell and Frankhouse, two litagity pitchers whom he obtained from St. Louis. Sherdell can throw the slowest ball that can accumulate enough energy to get to home plate and Frankhouse telegraphs his delivery to the batsman; yet both of them have pitched good games and are likely to pitch them again. Seibold is another pitcher of the Zachary standard. When Seibold is good he is strong enough to beat anybody. Haid may pitch some good ball for this team. McKechnie likes him. Brown and Cantwell will have their good days.

Give the Braves three winners in the pitching line and they would knock the spots off some of the teams that will battle their way in to the first division, and by doing so would confound a race which is already outlined as remarkably close.

Bit Better Hurling Staff Would Give Braves Winner

BY JOHN E. FOSTER

BADEN, ILL., (CPA)—

Engaging a series of practice games here this week, the Boston Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals are demonstrating again what usually happens when a good little man meets a good big man, as they say in the prize ring.

The Braves are just as valiantly aggressive and generally troublesome as they have been in recent seasons, but they have weak spots in the outfield and on the pitching staff that handicap them in combat with a snappy, well-balanced outfit like the Cardinals. The Cards are convinced that they are on their way to another National league pennant this year and their performance on the field reflects confidence in their prowess.

The Braves' pitching corps does not measure up to its strength in other years. The team misss Bob Smith, who should pitch good ball for the Chicago Cubs this season. At the same time, the Braves have fortified themselves behind the bat. Al Spohrer has learned much about catching, and Boston seems to have done fairly well by picking up Rock, who was with Pittsburgh. Cronin is another catcher for the Braves who is better than some they have had in the past.

Training Camp Notes

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — The Boston Red Sox today awaited reports from an X-ray examination of the injury to infielder Hal Rhyme when he was hit by a batted ball in practice yesterday. His physician said his jawbone probably was fractured.

Manager Shano Collins said Rhyme was in good spirits at the hospital last night, but was ill as an after-effect of the blow. Dr. Paul Zoll said Rhyme's skull was not fractured, as at first believed.

The Red Sox played their second exhibition game today with the Louisville Colonels, American association champions, and attempted to even the score for a 10-inning 5 to 4 defeat at the hands of the Colonels yesterday.

Los Angeles, Calif. — (AP) — Somewhat alarmed at Hack Wilson's inability to hit the ball as often as usual and a resulting effect on his spirits, manager Rogers Hornsby of the Cubs, has ordered the pudgy home run champion to rest for a few days.

Wilson did not appear in the lineup against Los Angeles yesterday, after he was discovered he was so depressed by his failure to hit that he no longer smiled at the umpires. Moore took his place in center and got a homer and a single.

Little Rock, Ark. — (AP) — The Chicago White Sox built up an impressive record against the New York Giants during the spring training season a year ago and finished well down in the American league championship race.

This season they have been pushed about by the Giants and are hopeful they will reverse their form again and get somewhere in their own league.

Philadelphia — (AP) — Chilly blasts greeted the Philadelphia Athletics as they arrived home from the southland today to open their annual spring series with the Phillies at Shibe park.

The Phillies arrived yesterday in time to take a brief workout. Four stars of the rival clubs will not be in the city series opener.

Chuck Klein, slugging Phillies outfielder and Phil Collins, their star pitcher, are holdouts, while George Earnshaw, Athletics pitcher and Al Simmons, hard-hitting outfielder of the A's, plan to remain in Hot Springs, Ark., until next week.

Walberg, for the Athletics and Ace Elliot, for the Phillies, were the pitching selections for the opening contest.

Bradenton, Fla. — (AP) — Manager Gabby Street of the St. Louis Cardinals today selected the "big five" of his pitching staff for the 1931 campaign. They are the five veterans of last year's staff, Burleigh Grimes, Jess Haines, Bill Hallahan, Flint Rhem and Syl Johnson. Jim Lindsey and Tony Kauffmann appear near the veterans in ability.

Street said he would not use his starting pitchers for relief duty unless "absolutely necessary." The Cardinals will carry nine or ten pitchers during the season, which means one or two now on the staff will find employment elsewhere.

San Francisco — (AP) — Now Jewel Ens will have a chance to see just how good a utility man Bill Regan is. Bill was bought by the Pittsburgh Pirates from the Boston Red Sox during the winter. A few days after he reported at the Paso Robles camp, Bill sprained an ankle. He has been on the bench most of the time since. Yesterday Regan bled Grantham at second and did some snappy work.

Franz Duellberg, German racing cyclist, is training in the United States for the cycle races this summer.

DAVID E. BENDER LITTLE FOX PREXY

Named to Succeed Cecil Furringer at Meeting Held Last Night

David E. Bender, Appleton, was elected president of the Little Fox Baseball league for the 1931 season at a meeting of representatives of the loop Thursday evening at the Y. M. C. A. Bender succeeds Cecil Furringer, president for the last two years who resigned to devote all his time to playing with the Appleton entry in the league John Cliske, Neenah manager, was chosen secretary and treasurer.

Teams represented at last night's meeting were Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, Little Chute and Sherwood, the latter a new member. It was decided to ask Wrightstown which withdrew to enter another league to enter as a sixth team in the league. The Eastern Wisconsin league in which Wrightstown has entered now has seven clubs. Kaukauna may take the berth if Wrightstown refuses. The Kave disbanded after last season but have reorganized under a new management.

Reports last night showed all teams in the league have added new talent and will be greatly strengthened over last year. This is especially true of Neenah, Menasha and Little Chute. The Palls have withdrawn from the Fox River Valley league and several of last year's members have joined the Neenah and Menasha teams. Many Little Chute players also are to throw their support to the Little Fox team because of a difference with the Valley team.

Last night's meeting closed with a discussion of the 1931 by-laws. The next league meeting will be held Thursday, April 9.

Mission Indians Rally in Second Half to Win by One Point

Forest Junction—By a margin of one point, the Forest Junction Specials took their second defeat from the Oneida Mission Indians in a basketball game here Wednesday evening. Leading their opponents in scoring up to the last five minutes of the game, the locals weakened during the final spurt and saw a 21 to 14 score in their favor change into a 22 to 21 defeat.

The locals had nine field goals and three free throws; their opponents, eight field goals and six free throws. The Oneida players as listed in the official record of the game, were Chief, Cornelius, Skendore, Summers, and Hill. In the local lineup were Stanelle, Broehm, Thomas, Kolgen and Mumm.

EXTRA: WOMAN HURLER FANS BABE AND GEHRIG

Chattanooga, Tenn. — (AP) — Virginia Beatrice Mitchell-Jackie when she's on the diamond, has made a debut in organized baseball that many masculine hurlers might envy. The only woman pitcher in organized baseball struck out Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig in succession when the Chattanooga Lookouts met the New York Yankees, and then walked Tony Lazzeri to complete her mound duty. But a "catch" was seen in the act when the Babe politely tipped his hat when he came to bat, swung wildly at a couple of pitches that fans thought he might have hit easily, and let the time go past for a called strike. And Lynn Terry, on first base, did not try to steal while Jackie took a long windup.

Chaff'n Chatter

By Gordon R. Sclafano

KNUTE ROCKNE, "the bald eagle" of Notre Dame today lies mourned by his family, his intimate friends, the hundreds of young men he coached to grid fame and by all who knew him intimately.

But unnoticed in various places throughout these United States school boys who probably never saw more of Rockne than a picture, never heard him say a word unless they happened to hear a news talkie, have anxiously been scanning the newspapers reading and absorbing every account, every story about "Rock."

And if "Old Rock" is watching from behind the curtain and has seen those thousands he no doubt is smiling in satisfaction for that's just the way he would have wanted it, we think. Other football coaches will come and go, they'll produce all-American football teams, they'll win fame but it will be a long, long while before another man will come who will impress young America, as Rockne did.

Sports is a queer game. One year you are a hero, the next year a memory and in two more years you are forgotten. So with many of the coaches who have helped build up the game, Rockne never will go that way for he takes his place with Walter Camp as one of football's immortals, but on the present generation of boys and youths he has made a great impression, more so in death probably than in life, for he continued to live on perhaps the many wonderful and admirable qualities of the man would have passed unnoticed by the boys who now are feeding on every word about him and who were as shocked as his friends when his death was announced.

Some writers have, within the last few days, pointed out that Rockne's success in football was not because of organized alumni who went out and recruited boys, who offered them jobs and who entertained, but that his success was due entirely to the personal magnetism, ability and personality of the man Knute Rockne.

He was known to everyone of the Notre Dame campus. If the boys wanted help, wanted advice, Rockne was there to give it to them in a quick, positive manner that denoted both sincerity and confidence. In football he attracted athletes because they knew if there was a bit of ability in their make-up Rockne would bring it out.

They went to Rockne, not to Notre Dame, but "Old Rock" could handle them just so well that he made them absorb an education without any of the grind and work that so many young, restless, American youths detest. Rockne was one man who could "expose" a youth to education and make it take, a little characteristic that is woefully lacking in many educators who have no more knowledge of boy psychology than a mule deep in the depths of a coal mine has of flying.

It seems to this writer that educators would do well to take a lesson from the life and the passing of Knute Rockne. He had all the faith in the world in boys—college boys with their whims, fancies, faculty for getting into trouble, for neglecting to study and all other weaknesses that youths are heirs to—and they made him a figure known throughout the world, a man whose accomplishments and whose name will last much longer than reserved, narrow professors whose passing never will be termed by a president of the United States a "national loss."

Wisconsin will send its crew to Foughekeeps this year—if someone comes through with the money to finance the trip. The Badger treasury, it seems, is more or less depleted because of the "depression." And while the Badger crew, on the water one month early than any year in U. W. history, finds it may not be a chance to race because of finances. There just isn't any justice where the Badger rowers and Mike Murphy are concerned.

Harry Stuhlreher who played quarterback for Notre Dame back in the days of the "Four Horsemen" and who now is coach at Villanova, an eastern college, has served notice on grid rules officials that he's going to spring a new method of advancing the ball next season and that they may have plenty of food for thought.

All of which is very interesting. If Harry can produce some new fangled plays it may put a kick into the old grid game. No one has as much as hinted what Harry plans to do but fans probably will keep their ears close to the ground during the next few months and watch developments.

Lawrence college indoor track season has closed—unless there is a lot of cold weather when the "boys" return to school after Easter and they are forced to again crawl indoors. Records have been broken right and left and if the indoor accomplishments mean anything Coach Arthur C. Denney is going to have a flock of talent for the spring grid which begins the last week in the month.

True, some of the records busted in the indoor meets were busted by freshmen. However, the varsity track stars have been showing very well and they'll look much better out in the great open spaces. Denney would like to annex the Big Four track title for the fourth consecutive time this year and if some of the boys come through he probably will.

Fourteen polo teams will participate in the southern circuit and army corps tournament at Fort McPherson, Ga., May 24-31.

EXPECT ACTION AT COLUMBUS CLUB'S AMATEUR MITT CARD

Harold Cotter, Kaukauna, and Adolph Ebel Feature in Windup Bout

GREEN BAY — If action is what amateur fight fans crave, then they are sure to get their money worth out of the card scheduled for Monday evening at the Columbus club for the six bouts lined up by Matchmaker Pad dy McDonough give every indication of being crammed full of flying gloves and what ever else goes to make up action in the ring. The card although it contains only a few familiar faces looks like the best of the many fine cards which have been offered this season by the Columbus club.

In the wind-up Harold Cotter of Kaukauna, a boy with as staunch a fighting heart as ever climbed into a local ring meets Ad. Ebel of Two Rivers. The work of Cotter, a local favorite for several years needs no explanation to fans. Ebel, who fought on the last card with Billy Hundermark, is a fighter of the same type as Cotter, a man whose solo motto in the ring appears to be the word "fight." Based on their showing with Hundermark these two boys appear about as evenly matched as it is possible to be.

Leo Champagnon of Greco, an aggressive fighter from the opening gong takes on Augie Samowski of Kaukauna in the semi windup. The latter has been the sensation of the last two amateur cards at Appleton and this bout is also indicative of a lot of fast milling.

Benny Baker, formerly an amateur from Chicago but now employed in this city will make his debut in the local ring with Eddie Knox of Kaukauna. Knox has been fighting for several years at Appleton. Oshkosh and Fondy and in his first local appearance wants to make a good impression. Baker is a smooth performer in his training work and if his ring actions are the same as his training work he should be one of the standouts on the card.

Other bouts include Casper Hasen of Denmark versus Eddie Bodart of Green Bay, Leo Hirschman of Denmark against Artie West of Appleton and Bob Billington of Neenah against Frank Weyenberg of Little Chute.

MENASHA TEAMS ROLL SATURDAY IN ELK MEET

Bowling in the state Elks' tournament will be resumed Saturday evening when 10 five man teams from Menasha take the alleys. They will start at 6:30 and roll doubles and singles after the team events have been cleaned up. The teams are the Fishermen, Gear's Dairy, Schlegel's Clippers, Hendy Recreations, Menasha Elks, Storli's Five, Blue Bills, Elks 676, Antlers and Oberweiser Specials.

KAYE DON TRAVELS 103.49 MILES PER HOUR IN SPEEDBOAT

Englishman Breaks Record Set Few Days Ago by Veteran Gar Wood

BUENOS AIRES—(AP)—A new world's speed boat record was hailed here today—103.49 statute miles per hour, made by Kaye Don, British racer, in Miss England II on the surface of the muddy, swollen Parana river yesterday afternoon.

The mark, which will be certified to the International Racing Association at Brussels by the Argentine Yacht club, which supervised the timing, beats the record of 102.56 miles per hour set recently by the American, Gar Wood, at Miami Beach.

Don, happy at success in the venture which already has been attended by failure in two attempts due to motor troubles, packed up his boat and took the Andalusia Star at mid night for England. He did not await a banquet which was planned for him here.

Don proceeded to the course, a lonely stretch of the Parana near its confluence with the La Plata, early yesterday and once yesterday morning touched 100 miles an hour, he said. In the afternoon he proceeded back up the river and turning suddenly, darted off down the course.

He steered according to two Argentine gunboats which were stationed at either end of the route, and was timed by automatic electric chronometer devices with three members of the Yacht club at either end of the course as officials. The course previously had been cleaned somewhat by racing boats, but was far from being as clean as might have been wished.

Don's efforts were made in connection with the British trade exposition, which is in progress here. The Miss England II is the same boat in which Major H. O. D. Segrave met his death.

Old Gold bowlers took two games from the Chesterfields in a Junior Chamber of Commerce league match last night on Elk alleys. Below rolled a 132 in the first game and Le Roux a 139 to give the Old Golds a win. The second game went to the Chesterfields when Connell busted out a 214 and the third game went back to the Old Golds with Below's 184.

The Lucky Strike five took three from the lowly Camels last night. In the first game Finger had only 98 for the Camels and the team lost. In the second game Babcock took a 100 to give the Luckies their win. The third game also went to the Luckies with Babcock's 135.

Sports Question Box

Question—Was Stanley Ketchell champion when he died? Who followed him as middleweight champion?

Answer—Yes. The title was open and many claimed it. George Chip wound up by being generally recognized and the title has been handed down on this claim.

Question—Two are out with runners on third base, the runner attempts to steal home, the batter hits a fly that is caught. The runner was over the plate before the fly was caught. Does the run count?

Answer—The run does not count. The batter was the third man out before reaching first base and no run can score when a batter is out before getting to first after two are out.

Question—How should I train for distance runs and the broad jump? I am sixteen.

Answer—You should be very careful about running distances; have your physician decide about that and do what he says. You cannot broad jump and run distances unless you are an all-around athlete. Stick to one specialty or another.

Rockne And Gipp United In Football's Valhalla

BY JOHN McMAHON
Copyright 1931

NEW YORK — (CPA)—Some where in the far Valhallas, where great players go when their games are done, Knute K. Rockne may be greeted today by his greatest player—Gipp. Gipp, at eleven years ago; Gipper's teammate Bernie Kirk, Max Hauser and Johnny Wiebel, one of the seven mules who screened the horsemen of '24—these were apt pupils of Rockne who may greet him today on another field.

Meanwhile, Notre Dame men the country over turned their thoughts and many of them their steps toward the prairie campus beneath the golden dome. Those who are planning to return to the launds of happy youth, planning a farewell pilgrimage to bid good-bye to Rock, will find the dome gleaming less brightly in the early April sun.

Memories of Rock, as he was known to the student body, and the "old man" by all who ever had him for coach, make one wonder how there ever could be a Notre Dame football team that was coached by someone else.

Colorful, dramatic and unexpected, his untimely death was somehow characteristic of the man. One could scarcely visualize the energetic

ELK BOWLERS FINISH LEAGUE PLAY TONIGHT

Elk bowlers will wind up the 1931 season tonight on Elk alleys when the last three games of the league season are rolled by the American and National league teams. The National leaguers will roll on the first shift with the American leaguers at 8 o'clock.

Tonight's games will settle the championship of the National league where the Colonels and Brewers are tied with 47 games won and 31 lost. The American league race also may change for the Tigers have only a two game lead on the White Sox, 43 to 43, and three games for the Sox and a whitewash for the Tigers may give the Sox the top championship.

With the completion of league play, the respective teams in each league will roll for the championship of the club. They roll three series of three games each.

VITENSE PLANS FOR GOLF CLUB OPENING

George K. Vitense, professional at Butte des Morts golf club arrived in Appleton Thursday and planned to spend a day or two preparing for opening of the season at the local club. Vitense has been spending the winter at Madison where he conducts a golf school patronized largely by University of Wisconsin students. He will be in Appleton only a few days each week until the university closes.

If warm weather remains play at Butte des Morts may be started on the first nine holes with temporary greens in ten days or two weeks. Play on the second nine holes will not be started until late in the season because of new greens.

BEDFORD TO MANAGE MERCHANTS THIS YEAR

Ralph Bedford was named manager of the Appleton Merchant baseball team of the Central Wisconsin league at a meeting of team members last night. Peter King was named treasurer. The boys also decided to ask C. O. Baetz, veteran baseball player and manager and president of the Fox River Valley league to coach them. Team representatives were selected to go to the league meeting at New London Monday night.

CLEVELAND TO GET HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT

Arrangements for Staging
Big Fight May Be Completed Today

Cleveland—(AP)—The heavyweight championship bout between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling looked in the bag for Cleveland today.

Emil Wetten, legal representative of the Madison Square Garden corporation of Illinois, and Joe Jacobs, manager of the German titleholder, were in Chicago today with the announced intention of obtaining the corporation's signature to a Cleveland contract. William E. Carey of the Madison Square Garden was in New York after declaring Cleveland was virtually assured of the match.

The three said formal announcement of Cleveland's selection would be made as soon as minor differences over the rental of the municipal stadium and other terms could be straightened out.

The bout, 15 rounds, will be held the night of July 3. The stadium, being erected at a cost of $3,000,000, has a capacity of 100,000 which can be increased to 120,000.

$2,000 VIOLIN STOLEN

San Francisco—(AP)—Theft of a 200-year-old Italian violin, assertedly valued at $2,000, has been reported by Miss Clementine Chappel, 18, scholarship student at the San Francisco Conservatory of Music. Her father, Louis Chappel, said neighbors had complained about the girl's practice hours.

Boys Visited Home

The Rockne residence, a comfortable but modest white bungalow just a few blocks down Notre Dame-ave from the campus gates, was frequently visited by the boys. "I like to have them come here," he used to say. "I get to see a different side of them down here."

Rockne had but one master from whom he took orders of the most exacting kind; that was Knute, Jr., a twelve-year-old miniature of the old man. Young Knute was the one individual in the world who could scamper out on the practice field and interrupt a football drill at will.

"Rock, do you mind if I chew tobacco," he called out to his father on one occasion. If early training will make a boy a great performer on the chalk-barred field, then the house of Rockne is destined to go on.

Much has been said about the man's power and influence over his men and his ability to mould youth toward clean living and fine ideals. The reason he could do this lay in the fact that he was held in such high esteem by the youngsters whom he coached.

But the intimate little qualities and characteristics which combined to make the man everything he was are far too numerous and perhaps too elusive to enumerate. They included something, however, that made Rockne the coach and Notre Dame the alma mater of thousands who never saw a college campus.

27 BADGER RESIDENTS ELECTROCUTED IN YEAR

Madison—(AP)—Although natural causes and a group of violent causes—automobile accidents, murders, suicides and drownings—claim the largest toll of lives in Wisconsin each year, the state board of health announced today there are a series of little considered things that add to the toll.

For last year, the bureau of vital statistics of the board, reported: Twenty-seven persons were electrocuted last year.

Although the lumber industry is only incidental now, 11 persons were killed by falling trees.

Cyclones killed 10 persons. Seventeen persons were frozen to death, and the same number were killed by animals.

Airplane fatalities brought death to 15 persons, while railroads killed 82; street cars, 13; elevators, nine, and machinery, 45.

Firearms continue to cause a high amount of deaths, the bureau reported, in listing 66 persons killed by accidental discharge of guns, and added that 13 died from dynamite explosions.

Burns and scalds cost 73 lives, lightning, six, and conflagrations killed 22 persons.

The largest total of deaths from unexpected accidents went to persons dying from injuries received in falls. "The death list resulting from accidental falls reached the amazing total of 411 during the last year," the board's statement said.

LIBRARY GETS NEW BOOKS FOR CITY READERS

Popular Fiction and Non-fiction Numbers Available at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—Several popular non-fiction books and a number of juvenile and junior-adult books have been placed in circulation at the library, according to Miss Bernice M. Harper, librarian.

Non-fiction books are: "A Tourist in Epilepsy of Himself," by Newton. Mr. Newton is a well known book collector who travels with a great deal of skepticism and a fund of humor. He tells how he and his wife set forth to see the world and what they saw of it.

"Education of a Princess," by Marie, grand duchess of Russia. This is the life story of a daughter of the Romanovs, who was a cousin of the czar and an intimate of the royal family. She tells of her childhood, education and of the artificial life at the court of Russia and Sweden.

"Drifting Sands of Party Politics," by Underwood. The reader is taken behind the scenes of the government of the United States and given an intimate view of the important legislation of Congress between the administrations of Cleveland and Coolidge.

"Games for Two," by Warren. The most amusing and the liveliest of games are the ones that two can play and the newest are described in this book. There are also the old favorites like pinocle, dominoes, anagrams and four kinds of honey-moon bridge.

"Backgammon," by Nicholas. This book includes the modern developments of this game as it is played in New York, Paris and on the trans-Atlantic liners.

"John Marsh, Pioneer," by Lyman. John Marsh was a Harvard graduate who taught school, married an Indian half-breed, and wrote a dictionary in the Sioux language.

Later he moved westward becoming California's first doctor and in time a wealthy cattle baron. Few novels possess the color, variety, action and mystery of John Marsh's story.

Juvenile and junior-adult books include: "Boy Scout with Byrd," by Siple; "Boys' Book of Model Boats," by Yates; "Dog Puncher on the Yukon," by Walden; "Forward Pass," by Barbour; "Hillsdale High," by L. E. Nelson; "Lost Mine," by Wallace; "Miss Billy Marvick," by Fortner; "Mystery Tales for Boys and Girls," by Smith; "On Your Mark," by Barbour; "Rusty of the Mountain Peaks," by Sterrett; "Sapphire Signet," by Seaman; "Slipper Point Mystery," by Seaman; and "Touch-down," by Sherman.

Social Items

Kaukauna—A chicken supper will be served next Wednesday under auspices of the men of Brokaw Memorial Methodist Episcopal church at Epworth Home from 5 o'clock in the afternoon until 8 o'clock in the evening.

The Kaukauna Woman's club will meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Dogot, 417 Crooks-ave. The program will include, besides music, a book review, "The Life of Beuveunto Cellini," by Mrs. L. E. Nelson, and a reading by Miss C. Calver, dramatic teacher of the high school. Hostesses will be Mesdames Richardson, O'Connell, McCain, Dogot, Hammond, Miss Lillian Bell. Members who wish to contribute toward the box to be sent by the club to the Wisconsin Veterans' Home at Mendota should bring the articles to this meeting. Jams and jellies, books, phonograph records and games are solicited.

SOFT DRINK PARLOR THREATENED BY FIRE
Kaukauna—The fire department was called out at 11 o'clock Thursday morning to the J. Miller soft drink parlor on Third-st to extinguish a roof fire which started from sparks from the chimney. There was a damage of about $150. The fire truck was called to the same place a short time later when fire broke out in a different spot from chimney sparks.

KAUKAUNA COUNCIL MEETS NEXT TUESDAY
Kaukauna—The city council will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building. Because of election it is expected that the meeting will be adjourned. Bills may be allowed, Louis Wolf, city clerk, said.

PLAN STORY HOUR AT LIBRARY ON SATURDAY
Kaukauna—The story hour, postponed from last Saturday, will be held at 10:30 next Saturday morning at the public library. It will be for children from the first to the third grades and will be conducted by Miss Bernice M. Harper, librarian.

CONSTRUCT RUNWAY OVER RELIEF CREEK
Kaukauna—Workmen of the C. R. Mayer Construction company are constructing a runway over the relief creek in the rear of the municipal building. It will be used to take away the old Lawest bridge. The foundation will be torn out and the stone used for the municipal wall to be built about the municipal building.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Lloyd Derrus. His telephone number is 184-W. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Derrus.

USE CLEAN SOD RANGE IN BROODING CHICKS

If Plot Has Been Used as Range Before, It Shouldn't Be Used Again

When selecting a piece of ground on which to brood chicks this spring, poultrymen can choose none better than one covered with a good sod which has not been used for poultry range for two years.

The use of such sod, the county agent states, gives assurance that such ground is relatively free from poultry diseases. At the same time, the sod keeps the chicks off from dirty or wet ground. New alfalfa or clover sods are quite ideal for this purpose.

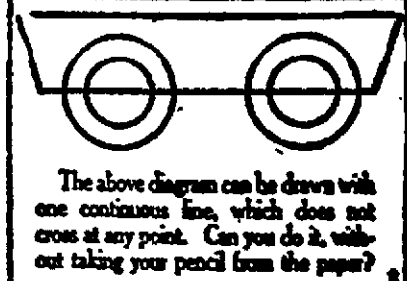

Even a good sod, however, will wear down with constant use. For that reason, the feed hoppers should be frequently moved from place to place around the brooder, so that they may always be on clean, fresh sod. Chicks should never be allowed to range over the same ground day after day, the county agent cautions. When the feeding ground around the brooder house shows evidence of being generally worn down, the brooder house should be moved a short distance to another clean sod plot and the process repeated.

The lack of sanitary system of brooding chicks, according to J. B. Hayes, of the Wisconsin college of agriculture, is one of the weakest parts of the poultry program. Nearly 90 per cent of the young chick specimens received at the veterinary laboratories at the Experiment Station are affected with intestinal parasites,—the result of contaminated range and insanitary brooding conditions.

Three common poultry troubles which are the result of faulty sanitation are coccidiosis, round worms, and tape worms. All these can be largely avoided by brooding on clean range. Ground that has been fertilized with poultry manure should not be used for range for this is almost sure to carry contamination to the young flock.

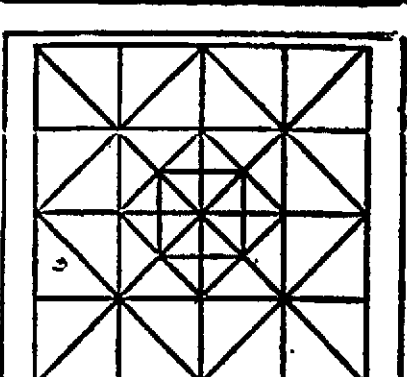

A frequent cleaning of the poultry house, making sure that the floor is kept dry and covered with fresh, clean litter, is also a very necessary part of a sanitary chick-brooding program, the county agent declares.

STICKERS

(The correct answer will be printed in tomorrow's paper.)

Yesterday's Stickler Solved

The above diagram shows one way how lines may be filled in to form 45 perfect squares. Taking the horizontal and vertical lines first, there are 16 single section squares, 9 double section squares, 4 triple section squares, 1 square in the center and 4 squares inside the center square. Adding these to the main big square, they total 35. With the diagonal lines there is the main big square, 4 corner squares inside of it, 1 square in the center and 4 squares within the center square. These total 10 and, added to the horizontal and vertical 35, make 45 squares in all.

CO-OP MOVEMENT INCREASES MILK FIRM'S BUSINESS

Bonduel Company Receiving 35,000 Pounds of Milk Per Day

BY W. F. WINSEY

Bonduel—Ten milk trucks and over 60 cars of individual farmers are now being used daily in hauling milk to the plant of Bonduel Creamery company. A total of 35,000 pounds of milk is delivered every forenoon despite the fact that none of the farmers who signed the contract of the Badger Consolidated cooperative have as yet been invited to begin delivering milk to the plant. The interest of local farmers in the cooperative has increased the milk deliveries 30,000 pounds daily although the plant will not be put in shape for handling large quantities of milk by the new cooperative before April 15.

Sixteen thousand pounds of milk is used daily by the plant in the manufacture of American cheese and the balance in the manufacture of butter. All of the butter is sold in one pound prints in Green Bay and Sturgeon Bay and other nearby cities. The cheese is sold to a Green Bay dealer.

A large number of farmers that are signed up with the cooperative have not been called in," said L. M. Kohl, manager of the plant, "and they will not be until the plant is taken over and managed by the cooperative."

Although the plant is new and

GOES TO BED WITH WILDCAT, THEN PAYS VISIT TO PHYSICIAN

Waterloo, N. Y.—(AP)—It will probably be a long time before Byron Smith will retire in a dark room without looking carefully under the bed, and more particularly—in it.

Smith was exhibiting a face and hands swathed in bandages today as proof of the unwelcome bedtime he found after he had undressed in the kitchen of his home at Dublin, near here, and clambered into bed with a sigh after a hard day's work.

It was probably the shortest sleep on record, for it had hardly begun when twenty pounds of animal dynamite in the form of a wildcat went into action with all four claws and a good set of teeth.

The melee was fast and soon over. Smith reaching the kitchen just a little ahead of the wildcat, which escaped where it had entered through a hole in the kitchen door Smith had cut out for his house cat to enter when he was at work.

The doctor who dressed Smith's scratches and bites said they ought to heal in two weeks.

"In two weeks," said Smith.

Large and of modern design it will need additional equipment in order to handle all the milk produced in the vicinity of this village. It is said that more milk produced in a radius of 12 miles centering in Bonduel than in any other equal area in Wisconsin.

The farmers are looking forward to the time when they can manufacture and market their own dairy products, only two or three weeks distant.

London—With the increasing popularity of airway freight lines, all sorts of queer cargoes are being carried by English planes. Recently on account of the fact that Brussels sprouts are not normally available in Egypt in winter, some of the big hotels in Alexandria and Cairo conceived the idea of having some sent specially by the Indian mail plane to give an extra attraction to the bill of fare.

NOPE TO BEAT ZEPPELIN TIME IN WORLD HOP

Wealthy New York Theatre
Magnet Is Sponsor of New Attempt

BY PHILIP J. SINNOTT
Burbank, Calif. — John Henry Mears, wealthy New York theatre producer and sportsman, just can't stand to have anybody travel faster than he does.

And Vance Breese, one of the West's greatest pilots and aeronautical designers, happens to have a two weeks' vacation in May.

The result is a combination of the pair for Mears' third drive for a round-the-world speed record; a

FASTEST TRIPS AROUND WORLD

1519-1522 — Magellan's ships, 1083 days.
1889 — Nelly Bly, 72 days.
1901 — Police Chief Charles Fitzmorris of Chicago, 60 days.
1911 — Andree Jaeger Schmidt, 89 days.
1913 — John H. Mears, 35 days.
1924 — U. S. Army airplanes, 175 days (14 days, 15 hours of actual flying time).
1926 — Edward S. Evans and Linton Wells, 28 days.
1928 — John H. Mears and Captain C. B. D. Collyer, 23 days.
1929 — Raffaele Maiullari, 24 days; Charles Olsen, 39 days.
1929 — Graf Zeppelin, 21 days.

mark that Mears avers will "stay put" for some time if all works out as planned.

Back in 1913, Mears heard that a French globe trotter held the record for the shortest trip around the world.

"That ought to be an American record," said Mears. And he forthwith started out. By steamer and train, he girdled the globe in 35 days. That held until airplanes came into more general use.

In 1923, Mears decided again that an American ought to set the record for a trip around the world. With the late Captain Charles B. D. Collyer as his pilot, Mears used fast liners across oceans, and his plane across continents. They made it in 23 days.

Beaten By Graf Zepp.
Then, a year later, along came the dirigible Graf Zeppelin, to make the trip in 21 days. Again Mears was bothered, and wanted to Americanize the mark once more.

A year ago he talked to Breese, then chief test pilot for the Lockheed plant here. Breese already had won fame as a pilot, and as a constructor of successful trans-Pacific airplanes. He was busied with some design problems and couldn't get away.

Recently Breese became assistant to the president of the Lockheed Aircraft Co. He has been busied in making some changes in the Lockheed Vega, the firm's standard commercial plane—adding 40 miles an hour to its speed.

Plan 1931 Trip.
Again Mears bet Breese. The latter mentioned the redesigning results he had attained; also his May vacation.

"Let's give your new design a thorough test," said Mears. "I'll buy one, and you spend your vacation with me, going around the world faster than anybody ever went before."

That caught Breese's fancy. The two are working out all the plans and supervising construction, arranging fuel supplies, etc. And in May they plan to hop from New York, cross the Atlantic, and return to New York via Siberia and Alaska in less than three weeks.

It's a 19,000 mile flight they plan. Of this, 5500 will be over water. All the way around the world, they will be hugging pretty closely the 33rd meridian.

Here Is Their Route

Leaving New York, the first stop will be Harbor Grace, N. F., then across the North Atlantic to Dublin. From Dublin, they fly to Berlin to arrange for passports. Moscow will be next, then 8000 miles across Siberia, along the Trans-Siberian Railway, to Khabarovsk, on the Manchurian border. Wheels will be there exchanged for pontoons, for the 600-mile jump across the Sea of Okhotsk to Petropavlovsk, the jump across the North Pacific via the Aleutians to Chignik, Alaska, and down the Pacific and Puget Sound to Seattle. Wash. Wheels will be replaced at Seattle for the transcontinental home stretch dash to New York.

"We plan no night flying," Mears explains. "Our redesigned ship, with special streamlining and cowling, plus a powerful motor, will average 220 miles an hour. Our equipment will include a new type compass and radio, of course. For the trans-Atlantic hop, we are allotting 10 hours' time."

Breese was not a competitor in the ill-fated Dole race from San Francisco to Honolulu in 1927. But a ship built and designed by him carried Martin Jensen across to Hawaii to win second prize. His flying is marked by skill rather than daring; witness the occasion two or three years ago when the engine dropped clear out of the plane he was piloting over San Francisco. There were seven passengers in the plane. Breese coolly directed them to move for better balance, and he landed the motorless plane and all his passengers without a bump or a scratch.

Mears a Born Rover.
Mears is a born rover. As a mere boy he devoured everything he could find on Drake and Magellan. Jules Verne's "Around the World in 80 Days" was a favorite, and he early decided to eclipse Verne's hero, Phineas Fogg.

In 1900, at 20, he was sputtering about the streets of Chicago in one of the first "gas buggies" seen there. In 1913 he decided to try for the round-the-world record, then held by Andree Jaeger-Schmidt, a French newspaperman. Mears planned to cover 21,066 miles in 25 days, 21 hours and 35 minutes. And he arrived within four-fifths of a second of the allotted time. Then in 1923 he and Collyer, again broke the world-doling record, cutting the record to 23 days.

The comparatively de luxe aspect of this journey was in marked contrast with his first trip, when he actually made one leg of the trip clinging to the wing of a "Jenny" plane which he had to use to save time, and which had only a single seat for the pilot. His new plane will, of course, be the last word for long-distance aerial travel.

So it looks as though Breese's vacation limits and Mears' record-making avidity may be setting some real aviation marks a few weeks hence.

DEADLOCK ON BUDGET MEASURE REACHES END

Madison—(AP)—The deadlock between the assembly and senate over the executive budget bill was broken Thursday when a joint conference committee agreed on the disposition of the amendment.

Both houses accepted the conference committee's recommendations and the bill, carrying appropriations of $42,462,000 for the biennium, was approved and sent to the governor. Disagreement arose over a senate amendment appropriating $550,000 for additional employees in the state penal and charitable institutions and for buildings in which to house them. The assembly rejected the amendment and the senate refused to recede. The joint conference committee voted, with one dissenting vote, to reject the amendment.

Your Birthday

"ARIES"

If April 4th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a. m. to 11:50 a. m., from 2:15 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 8:50 p. m. to 10 p. m. The danger hours are from noon to 2 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:50 p. m.

The astrological signs of April 4th denote uncertainty and perplexity. Routine duties should alone be carried out whilst an effort should be made to maintain an optimistic outlook, in order to avoid depression. Evening conditions will be ideal for lovers and sweethearts.

Children born on this April 4th will be light-hearted and happy-go-lucky, going through life with little sense of responsibility, and trusting to others to pull them out of any ditch into which they may fall. Their natures will be affectionate, but their emotions will never be deep.

Yours is a lovable nature, if you were born on April 4th. You think too little of your own interests, and too deeply of those of others, to ever achieve any outstanding material success. Judged, however, from the point of view radiating happiness, your life will be a pronounced spiritual success. You are sincere, and have strong convictions, although you never voice them in a manner that will cause annoyance to others. The stars say that you could achieve much in the world, if your disposition were not so compassionate. You have read a great deal. You are endowed with much natural ability. You are both intelligent and intellectual, and you have strong will power. All these gifts you freely employ for the benefit of those around you, and you are possibly happier in seeing them reap the rewards than if you harvested them yourself.

You are always willing to fight against injustice, but do so with the greatest vim when you are fighting for another's cause. You are modest and retiring, but the unselfishness that comes from you, attracts one and all, and in any social gathering, you are the centre of attraction. Your married life will be rather one-

WOMEN'S SWIMMING CLASSES POPULAR

Women swimmers at the Appleton Woman's club classes at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday showed an increase of 25 over last week. There were 79 swimmers yesterday, and only 54 last Wednesday. The matrons class in the morning took the honors for the largest attendance, 22, and the business girls' class at 7:30 came second with 17. There were 12 youngsters at the 3:30 class in the afternoon.
